In Memoriam

In loving memory of John & Mary Herman:

Beyond the gates of life so fleeting,
There is for us a better home.
A place where peace shall reign forever,
And sighs & tears shall never come.
Beyond the gates of all sad partings,
Where grief & pain our hearts make sore,
We'll meet again our own dear loved ones,
And see their welcome smiles once more.
And in the many memories of things they did & said,
We'll keep them always close to us
Through all the days ahead.

Fact: home fires started by electrical malfunctions cause about 700 deaths and 10,000 injuries every year in the U.S. Two basic causes are overloaded wires and deteriorated insulation.

Check your fuse box. Don't install over-large fuses. Once a year, flip circuit breakers on and off to make sure they can move freely.

Beware of warm switch or receptacle, a light that goes on and off intermittently, or wires that buzz. Call in an electrician to check switches and boxes, especially in an old house.

Don't use a 100 watt bulb in a 60-watt lamp, or a standard extension cord for a heavy-duty appliance such as an iron, air conditioner, or refrigerator. Overheating may result.

Unplug old wires and extension cords to determine whether insulation has cracked. In many cases, it's smart to replace them. Check light sockets, too, for charred or dried-out insulation.

Protect your home from fire. But, if fire occurs, be sure you're protected with adequate insurance. Talk to the insurance experts at

COMING ATTRACTIONS

Ronn is no dummy when it comes to his career

By Marc Minnelli

Some people think Ronn Lucas is a dummy. He lets his partner get all the laughs, but he does all the work. At every show, the audience wonders why Lucas doesn't say something about this one-sided relationship. They desperately try to elicit a response from Lucas — they even try reading his lips. But it never works. How can you read the lips of a master of double talk, one of the world's foremost ventriloquists?

The antics of Lucas and his menagerie of puppet pals will be on view for "The Kraft All-Star Salute to Ford's Theatre," airing Wednesday, June 12 on CBS. The musical extravaganza, which will be hosted by "Dynasty" stars Linda Evans and John Forsythe, was taped June 2, and was followed by an intimate fete at 1600 Pennsylvania Ave.

Lucas, 31, has spent 11 years attempting to erase the stereotypical notions that people have about ventriloquists. It seems to be working. His act is not filled with stale jokes and wooden dummies, but with sharp, stinging and sometimes off-color jokes that come pouring out of the mouths of his chatty crew. They include Buffalo Billy, "the precocious child in all of us," Scorch, "a teenage dragon going through puberty," Crystal, "a singer who's always one note behind" and Chuck Roast, "a punker who gives you his hand — literally." It's enough to send Charlie McCarthy to the funeral pyre.

"I don't think of myself as a ventriloquist," explains Lucas. "I'm more of a comic who uses ventriloquism as part of his act. I think that's why I'm successful."

Indeed, Lucas co-starred in the Broadway smash "Sugar Babies" for three years, won Showtime's National Laff-Off, opened for Diahann Carroll and Linda Ronstadt and was the first ventriloquist since Edgar Bergen to appear on "The Tonight Show."

Lucas, who says he decided to appear on the Ford's Theatre special because "I need the exposure," may not have to worry about his visibility much longer. This week, he's taping "Circus of the Stars," a special which will air on CBS in the fall. He's also working on a Broadway show, "Watch My Lips" and revamping his club act that keeps him touring close to 50 weeks a year.

"I want to make sure I never get cocky," says Lucas. "It's something I can't afford to do. If I did, I'd really end up a dummy."

Miss Helmond is the 'Boss' of her career

By Gillian George

Katherine Helmond

After watching Katherine Helmond's portrayal of the irrepressibly odd Jessica Tate in "Soap" and, this season, the carefree Mona Robinson in "Who's the Boss?," it's no surprise that viewers have one question: What's the actress really like?

The petite, 50-ish former Texan has an anecdote that answers the query. A few months ago, Miss Helmond decided she didn't have enough energy. So she visited a nutritionist, who asked the actress to describe her regular weekly activities. Miss Helmond told him everything: her schedule of working seven days a week acting, reading scripts, writing scripts, directing occasional TV shows, developing films for her production company and answering fan mail. The nutritionist shook his head. "No wonder you're tired," he said, "your schedule would wear anybody out."

He then prescribed a sensible diet for Miss Helmond, adding a strict stipulation that he made her promise to obey: She must set aside at least one hour per week for herself. "And I did exactly what he asked," she recalls. "I signed up for tap dancing lessons with several other 'Who's the Boss?' cast members. We go during our lunch hour!"

Miss Helmond, who says she's enjoying "Boss" so much that she would be glad if its run equalled the four-year span of "Soap," attributes her continuing popularity to her role as Jessica. "'Soap' was an extraordinary experience," the actress explains. "Barely a day goes by without someone recognizing me and telling me how many laughs I gave them."

According to Miss Helmond, "I got tired or bored playing Jessica; it was like going to a party. I also enjoy Mona, especially since she's a relatively normal human being who enjoys life to the fullest.

"I really enjoy doing sitcoms," she adds. "The nice thing about them is that you only work six months a year, know how much money you're going to make and how much time you'll have for doing other things. Now, I'm especially interested in directing. I did two episodes of 'Benson' in 1983, and I'll be doing two more this fall. And I'll definitely make more movies. All in all," she adds, "I guess I'm more like Mona than Jessica — I'm enjoying life to the fullest."

Commissioners Meet With State Health Officials

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners met Tuesday in Hagerstown with heads of the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene to discuss problems the county has been facing for months regarding permits from the State Health Department. Also attending the meeting were County Clerk Robert Fousek, Development Corporation Administrator Tom Jones and Sanitary Commission Administrator Wendell Beitzell.

Delays in obtaining permits from the State Health Department for projects to be completed at the Southern Industrial Park, the Trout Run Project and the Bausch and Lomb pre-packaging plant have caused much frustration for the commissioners and have "held up progress in the development of Garrett County," according to Commissioner Elwood Groves.

Commissioner Ernest Gregg Jr. said the meeting with Assistant Secretary of Environmental Programs William Eichbaum and Chief of Grants and Aides Earl Quance "began to unravel the ball of string" especially concerning the completion of the water and sewer lines at the Southern Industrial Park.

Eichbaum told the commissioners that he was certain provisions could be made to go ahead with the road construction along with the water and sewer lines. He promised the county officials he would contact them no later than Monday with his final decision. He assured the board that accommodations could be made for one small business to begin operations at the Southern Industrial Park this year, with more businesses added next year.

According to Tom Jones, the Bausch and Lomb sewage treatment plant has never operated satisfactorily to meet discharge requirements and the new sewer lines for the Trout Run Project will alleviate the problem for Bausch and Lomb as well as the entire Shady Acres area.

Commissioner Gregg said, "We are very pleased with the meeting with Eichbaum and Quance. It is a positive step in the right direction to have gotten a tentative commitment which we hope will be a solid commitment by Monday. We have been willing to meet all the state's health requirements thus far, and we will continue to do so."

TRACTOR TRAILER MISHAP — A Rosemont, W. Va., man was listed in fair condition this morning at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, two days after the coal-loaded tractor trailer he was driving upset along Rt. 50, pinning him for about one half an hour. Police report Wilfong was driving the truck eastbound along Rt. 50 at a speed apparently too great for conditions when the accident occurred Tuesday at about 4:15 p.m. near the Ben DeWitt Road. The truck struck an embankment and overturned on its side, spilling a portion of the load it was carrying.

Another Rabid Raccoon Found; Clinics Slated

Another rabies case has been confirmed by the Garrett County Health Department. According to Rodney Glotfelty of the health department, park personnel at Swallow Falls State Park observed a raccoon wandering in and out of the woods at the picnic area at approximately 2 p.m. Believing this to be abnormal behavior, park rangers killed the raccoon, which was picked up by the health department, delivered to the lab, and confirmed to be rabid on Friday.

Glotfelty explains that this is the third case of rabies in Garrett County this year, but the first in the Swallow Falls area. He feels that this shows that rabies is spreading quickly to other areas of the county.

He stressed that people camping or visiting state parks should avoid any animals that come into camp or are acting unusual, and to contact park personnel.

Because of the spread of the rabies epidemic in Garrett County, the health department has seheduled additional rabies clinics for dogs and cats three months old and over, at a cost of $3 per animal.

Separate Tractor Trailer Accidents Claim One Life, Hospitalize One

A Monday night tractor trailer accident claimed the life of a Kentucky man and a West Virginia man remains hospitalized following a Tuesday tractor trailer accident.

Robert Ernest Michael, 43, Williamsburg, Ky., was pronounced dead at the scene of an accident by Garrett County Medical Examiner Dr. James H. Feaster, on Upper New Germany Road following an 11 p.m. mishap, according to reports filed by the Maryland State Police.

Tfc. R.M. Hershberger investigated the mishap and said Michael was northbound on the Upper New Germany Road, north of the Fairview Road intersection apparently traveling at a high rate of speed when he failed to negotiate a left turn. The rig ran off the road, causing the trailer loaded with charcoal to overturn and the tractor to strike an embankment.

Garrett County Emergency Management dispatched the Northern Rescue Squad and the Grantsville Fire Department to the scene. The body was taken to the Newman Funeral Home in Grantsville.

The driver of another tractor trailer was listed in "serious, but stable" condition yesterday following a Tuesday accident on Route 50, three miles from Red House and 100 yards inside the state line.

David L. Wilfong, 26, Rosemont, W. Va., was transported to Garrett Memorial Hospital following the accident at 4:15 p.m. near the Ben DeWitt Road.

The coal truck Wilfong was operating upset, dumping a portion of the load it was carrying, said Tfc. Cindy R. Smith, investigating officer.

Smith said the accident occurred as the truck was traveling eastbound from West Virginia at a speed apparently too great for conditions. The truck stood up on two wheels, striking an embankment, and overturned on its side. It was reported that the driver was pinned for some time.

Garrett County Emergency Management sent the Southern Rescue Squad and the Oakland Fire Department to the scene. The Medevac helicopter was alerted, but was unable to respond due to bad weather. Aurora firemen were also on the scene.

Thomas Modispaw, 26, Oliver, Pa., was treated at Memorial Hospital in Cumberland and released following a farm tractor mishap at Deep Creek Lake on Tuesday. The accident occurred at 12:45 p.m. and Modispaw was transported to the hospital by the Medevac helicopter.

Tfc. G.R. Chaney who investigated the mishap said Modispaw was operating a farm tractor with a street sweeping brush doing construction work for H.J. Snyder Construction, Pittsburgh, Pa. He parked the tractor along the edge of White Oak Road, off Beckman's Peninsula Road, when the tractor began to drift. Modispaw attempted to jump onto the tractor to control it and was thrown off. The tractor continued on, striking a tree.

Post Offices Now Open 24 Hours

The lobbies of the Oakland Post Office and the Mountain Lake Park branch are now open 24 hours a day, seven days a week, according to Paul H. Bauer, postmaster.

Customers may not only pick up mail at any time, but also purchase stamps via the new postage machines which were recently installed.

Sodium Chloride Found In Finzel Water Systems

Residents along Route 546 in Finzel have been experiencing elevated chloride levels in their water this spring. Elevated chloride levels mean high sodium and iron content. The iron is generally due to corrosion in the pipes from the salt action. Water hardness is also higher where sodium chloride content is high, meaning that the water leaves a soap film and that more soap must be used for routine cleaning.

The biggest problem for people in this area, though, is the salty taste of their water. Natural water contains about 100 parts of sodium chloride per million parts water (ppm), and the Environmental Protection Agency suggests drinking water not exceed 250 ppm.

Garrett County Health Department officials have been taking water samples from the homes and businesses affected. At this time, 10 or 12 of those samples are still at the lab, 35 have been tested and the results returned, with 12 being over the 250 ppm count. According to Edgar Harman, director of the environmental health division of the health department, the highest of those water samples tested was at the Gary Fike residence and had a 1,145 ppm count.

State Highway Administration District Engineer Wallace Beaulieu reported that the SHA is doing everything within its power to take care of the problem. "Our first effort is to find out where the problems are. Wherever we've found a 250 ppm or greater count, we begin to haul drinking water and will haul drinking water as long as it is needed," said Beaulieu.

"Our next step is to try to solve the problem," he said. "We've drilled some wells and done some drainage that has been very successful. This is an ongoing problem and we've developed a track record with our past actions."

In the past, explained Beaulieu, the SHA has drilled 21 wells in Garrett County, most in the Grantsville and Keysers

Eighteen Adults, Juvenile Arrested For CDS Violations; More Pending

A total of 18 adults and one juvenile were arrested recently on drug charges following an intensive, six-month undercover investigation conducted by the Maryland State Police. Three of the arrests were made several months ago, while the remainder were made this past Friday. Assisting in the investigations and arrests were investigators from the State's Attorney's office, under the direction of James L. Sherbin, the Garrett County Sheriff's Department and the Oakland City Police.

The investigation resulted in the recovery of a quantity of cocaine, marijuana, amphetamines, drug paraphernalia and illegal weapons. Four automobiles have also been seized for the illegal use of transporting drugs and are subject to confiscation by the state.

The following individuals have been taken into custody to date:

Craig Lislie Weaver, 27, Duncansville, Pa., on two counts of distribution of cocaine, one count of possession of cocaine with intent to distribute, one count of conspiracy to distribute cocaine, one count of possession of marijuana and one count of possession of drug paraphernalia. He was also charged with transporting 28 grams or more of cocaine into the state of Maryland. He was arrested on February 23 and released on $25,000 bond on March 1.

Kenneth Frederick Carney, 25, Lilly, Pa., on two counts of distribution of cocaine, one count of possession of cocaine with intent to distribute, one count of conspiracy to distribute cocaine, one count of possession of marijuana and one count of possession of drug paraphernalia. He was also charged with transporting 28 grams or more of cocaine into the state of Maryland. He was arrested on February 23 and released on $15,000 bond on March 1.

Oakland Man Incarcerated On Assault Charge

An 18-year-old Oakland man has been arrested and charged in connection with the assault early last week of a 57-year-old woman.

Albert Neal DeWitt remains incarcerated in the Garrett County jail in lieu of $200,000 bond.

DeWitt has been charged in connection with the assault that occurred sometime between midnight on May 26 and the early morning hours of May 27.

Chief Deputy M. Van Evans filed eight charges against DeWitt. Evans said the woman, Margie M. Bell, sustained lacerations of the head when she was assaulted with a garden hoe. Her house, located in Rosedale, was broken into and when she walked in and confronted the suspect, she was assaulted. A small amount of money was taken following the assault, Evans said.

According to police reports, the woman was found after a coworker called the woman and found her phone continued to ring for a prolonged period of time. The Southern Rescue Squad transported the woman to West Virginia University Medical Center in Morgantown, W.Va., where she remained a patient until last Wednesday.

The suspect has been charged with breaking and entering with intent to murder, burglary with intent to steal at night, assault with intent to murder, assault with intent to rob, battery, theft, attempted murder and destruction of property.

At a bond hearing last week, DeWitt's bail had been set at $50,000 and was raised to $200,000 at a bond hearing Monday before Garrett County District Court Judge Jack Turney.

Mrs. Wolfe was previously employed as supervisor of the Youghiogheny Overlook Information Center on Route 48, east of Friendsville, since its opening in June 1982. This Center is managed by the Promotion Council.

During 1984 the Center was visited by over 65,000 travelers and during Mrs. Wolfe's tenure, the Center's operation has been expanded to include 24-hour rest area facilities. Under Mrs. Wolfe's supervision, this Center had the distinction of being named the 1984 Maryland Tourist Information Center of the Year by the Maryland State Office of Tourist Development for the State Information Center for contributing "the most outstanding and creative efforts for promotion of tourism in Maryland." Mrs. Wolfe was also nominated 1984 Travel Counselor of the Year.

American Indian Pow Wow To Be Held At McHenry

The American Indian Inter-Tribal Cultural Organization is planning its third annual Pow Wow Saturday and Sunday, August 31 and September 1. This year, for the first time, the organization will hold its Pow Wow at the Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry.

A Powwow is a gathering of Indian people who enjoy singing, competitive dancing, drums, traditional Indian food, arts and crafts. According to Indian spokesman, Joe Strickel, the Pow Wow will be open to the public and spectators are invited to bring their cameras and lawn chairs and plan to spend some time immerged in Indian culture.

Strickel and his wife Carolyn explained that Garrett County was chosen as the new location for the annual Pow Wow for several reasons. First of all, the organization had grown out of its former location on property owned by the Piscataway Tribe near Brandywine. The Garrett County Fairgrounds offers a larger facility with more shelter from rain or bad weather.

Strickel went on to explain that his people were impressed with the attitude and friendliness of the people in this area when they visited last year to take part in the Friendsville Summer Festival. They liked the lay of the land and the cooler temperatures, so they looked for an acceptable site and found that the fairgrounds were available.

The organization is hoping to make this one of the major Pow Wows on the East Coast. At this time, according to Strickel, there is no major Pow Wow south of New York state.

The organization expects members of about 30 tribes to participate, coming from states as far west as Oklahoma and as far south as Florida. Many Indian dancers travel the Pow Wow Circuit, dancing and drumming for competition money. Added to those are the crafts people, who display and sell their art works and crafts. There will also be traditional food sold, such as corn soup, fried bread, and Indian tacos.

The public will be charged a small donation at the gate. This money will be used by the American Indian Inter-Tribal Cultural Organization (AIITCO) to start a scholarship for Indian children and to help the needy on some of the western reservations.

This AIITCO Pow Wow will honor Native American war veterans of all eras. In a letter AIITCO President Richard "Red Bear" Baker said, "From the beginning, the Native American People have shown their dedication and commitment to honor all those who have served in the branches of the military service. Our hope is to show our recognition of their sacrifice in all war eras."

The Veterans Associations of Garrett County are planning to take part in these ceremonies with the Color Guards honoring veterans of all wars. On display during the ceremonies will be a bronze plaque made by Western American Indians, with private funds, that names Native American veterans of the Vietnam War. This plaque was dedicated along with the Vietnam War Memorial on the Washington Mall.

More Craftsmen, Artists Sought For MLP Days

Although a number of artists and craftsmen have registered to participate in the arts and crafts fair during Mountain Lake Park Days on Saturday, July 13, Suzanne Sincell, chairman of the event, stated this week that plenty of space remains for others to attend.

The fee for renting a ten-by-ten foot space is $20, however there is no commission on sales, Mrs. Sincell stated. The fair will be held on the grounds of the Mountain Lake Park Assembly Hall, located along G Street.

A large tent will be provided for those craftsmen who desire shelter. There will be a variety of other entertainment going on throughout the day on the Assembly Hall grounds and in the auditorium.

Persons desiring to rent a space may contact Mrs. Sincell at 510 G Street, Mtn. Lake Park; telephone 334-3650. Checks may be made out to Friends of Mountain Lake Park, the non-profit organization which sponsors Mountain Lake Park Days.

C&P Telephone Files New Rates

C&P Telephone Company of Maryland filed new higher rates last week for local telephone services. The filing applies the $28.6 million in additional annual revenue authorized by the Maryland Public Service Commission on May 29.

The Commission is expected to act on the rate filing this week, and, if approved, the new rates will be effective June 1.

As a result of the Commission's decision, the cost for dial tone line will increase, but the usage portion of basic monthly telephone rates will remain unchanged. The increase for dial tone line will be 40 cents for residence and business customers in Rate Group A (more densely populated areas such as Baltimore, Silver Spring), and for residence customers in Rate Group B (all Garrett County customers). Dial tone line charges for business customers in Rate Group B will increase 80 cents per month.

Other changes to take effect as a result of the May 29 PSC decision include:

- Increase in coin telephone rates from 20 cents to 25 cents per local call.
- Increase in time and materials charges for premises work. These charges, based on 15-minute increments, cover the cost of work done inside the customer's premises.
- Increases in certain service charges.
- Increases in FX (Foreign Exchange) and channel service rates.
- Increases of 45 cents to verify a line is busy and 40 cents to verify and interrupt the conversation.
- Increase the Company's authorized rate of return from 11.91% to 11.98%.

In its decision, the PSC also authorized shifting approximately 10% of C&P's access charges from long distance carriers to end-users.

New rates will begin appearing on customer bills dated about mid-June. Bills will be accompanied by a notice explaining the changes.

A business meeting will follow the dinner. Music will be provided by the Cherry Glade Men's Quartet. Feature speaker for the evening will be Dr. George B. Stoltzfus, of Friendsville.

SHS ATHLETIC FACILITIES OPEN TO PUBLIC — As a result of joint efforts extending over several years, track and outdoor facilities including tennis courts have been opened behind Southern High School. The new facilities, developed with the assistance of the Garrett County commissioners, the Garrett County Roads Department, the Southern Garrett Athletic Association, Program Open Space, and the Garrett County Board of Education will provide added recreational activities not only to school students, but to the public at large, in that Maryland Program Open Space guidelines require that any project utilizing these funds be open for community use during non-school hours. Consequently, Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, superintendent of county schools, urges the general public to utilize the facilities during non-school hours. In the photo, left to right, are Dennis "Xie" Colaw, representing the Southern Garrett Athletic Association; County Commissioner Ernie Gregg; Paul Shockey, director of the Garrett County Roads Department; Commissioners John Braskey and Elwood Groves; Arthur Refosco, Southern High School principal, and Gene Coddington, assistant in facilities and construction.

Red Cross Seeks Donations For Tornado Victims

Persons who wish to assist Pennsylvania tornado disaster victims get back on their feet may do so by making a contribution to the Red Cross Disaster Fund Appeal, according to a spokesman for the Garrett County chapter of the American Red Cross.

According to the spokesman, the Red Cross has been working on the scene of the heavily damaged areas of the state, helping to provide food, household furnishings, clothing, and other needs, such as helping to cover medical expenses.

Local persons may send contributions to the Garrett County Red Cross Disaster Fund, 233 N. Second Street, Oakland, MD 21550. All contributions will be used for direct assistance to disaster victims, according to the spokesman, who noted that the persons in the disaster areas in northwest Pennsylvania have raised over $45,000 to help themselves.

State Educator Visits County

Martha Irvin, the state assistant superintendent for special education, visited Garrett County last week to personally observe programs for county students enrolled in special education and to talk with educators involved in the county program.

Ms. Irvin was in the county one and one-half days, reported Al Coviello, director of pupil services.

Ms. Irvin first met with Coviello, Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, county school superintendent, and Al Ringer, assistant superintendent of instruction, to discuss the county special education programs and needs as well as services provided through the state department and other ways it might assist the local school system.

Irvin visited schools throughout the county to observe programs in operation, including the newly-instituted program for students with emotional disorders.

In discussing her observations of the new program Tuesday, Irvin stated, "Garrett County is to be complimented in taking the lead in the state in developing a thorough and systematic program." She viewed the program as one that was well planned.

Another program Irvin saw was the pre-school program which is a cooperative venture between the Head Start Program and the county school system through which services are provided to county handicapped pre-school children. She also visited the Appalachian Center in Oakland.

Of interest to Irvin, Coviello indicated, was how a rural county with limited resources pools those services to benefit the county's handicapped students.

Irvin said she thought her visit was important in that it aided her in examining the special problems of providing specialized education services in a rural area, particularly in recruiting and hiring qualified personnel. She commended the local school board for its provisions for teachers to gain further training in specialized areas to address needs in the school systems.

Friendsville Town Council Holds Water, Sewer, General Meetings

The Friendsville Mayor and Town Council met Monday, June 3, for the general town meeting and Tuesday, June 4, for the water and sewer meeting.

A motion was made to permit the fire department to wash vehicles as long as the practice is not excessive, with no water meter installed. The motion was carried.

The council received a recommendation from the Garrett County Planning Commission to deny rezoning requests made by Carroll Forsyth and Dale Coddington. The council decided to uphold the planning commissions' decision.

B. Richer represented the Yough Cable TV Company at the meeting and explained that the company is working on two of the problems brought to their attention by the council. The two problems are the electrical interference and the upgrading of the system. He expects some delays, for which he apologized, but said he hopes to have the work completed by the end of the summer.

The town has decided to erect a sign at the Friendsville town limits with organization and business logos welcoming people to the town. Mayor James R. Spear presented a design for the sign which was approved by the council. It was decided to go ahead and get estimates for the cost of the sign.

Water and Sewer

Maryland Environmental Service officials Jerry Deal and Rex Bauman attended the water and sewer meeting to present a proposal to maintain and operate the water and sewer treatment plant. No decision was made at this time by the council because they are awaiting a proposal from the Garrett County Sanitary Commission.

The council approved the water and sewer budget as amended.

A meeting was scheduled for June 12 to review the smoke test results submitted by Eastern Utility Specialists. After reviewing the report, councilmen will approach citizens who appear to have their downspouts draining into the collection system or a leak in their line.

McHenry Youth Sent To Group Home In Oldtown

A 16-year-old McHenry youth has been placed in New Dominion, a group home for juvenile delinquents in Oldtown, after Garrett County Chief Judge Fred A. Thayer on June 5 found him to be delinquent.

The boy was charged with smelling or inhaling a dangerous substance, gasoline, on April 22. The youth was committed to the custody of the Juvenile Services Administration and JSA authorities placed him in the group home.

In other juvenile court cases, Judge Thayer sentenced a 14 year-old McHenry boy to probation with the Juvenile Services Administration. The youth had been found to be delinquent on May 15 for the March 21 theft of a three-wheeler belonging to Paul Thomas.

The judge found a 14-year-old Grantsville youth to be a child in need of assistance because his parents were either unable or unwilling to provide proper attention for the child.

The child has been residing in the Thomas B. Finan Center, Cumberland, which has agreed to re-commit the youth. The judge granted the Garrett County Department of Social Services temporary custody of the youth.

Charges Against Junkyard Owners Not Prosecuted

Two junkyard operators charged with violations of the county junkyard ordinance avoided prosecution of their cases at hearings before District Court Judge Jack Turney on June 5.

A charge of not screening his junkyard as ordered by the Garrett County Commissioners had been filed against Ray Kight, 80, Mountain Lake Park.

Kight operates an automotive repair business where he stores several old cars. He received a junkyard license February 29, 1984, on condition that he erect a barrier around the cars or move them.

In court on June 5, the charge was placed on the stet docket because Kight began to remove the vehicles from his lot and county authorities decided to allow him more time.

A charge of operating an unlicensed junkyard was not prosecuted against Ernest R. Martin, 43, Oakland, because of a mistake in the statement of charges.

John Nelson, county administrator, explained that the charge was filed because Martin continued to maintain a junkyard subsequent to revocation of his county junkyard license on April 16, 1985.

In court on June 5, Martin objected to an attempt to correct the date of the license revocation which was incorrectly listed as September 16, 1984, in the statement of charges. The case was not prosecuted, but the county could re-institute the charges at a later date.

Martin's license was revoked because county officials were not satisfied that Martin was attempting to provide a barrier around his junkyard located along U.S. 219 south of Gortner.

County officials are working with Martin in an attempt to bring his junkyard into compliance with the county ordinance.

Fines Levied In DWI Cases

Garrett County District Court Judge Jack Turney issued fines against five persons in traffic cases June 5 after convicting them on charges of driving while under the influence of drugs and/or alcohol.

Receiving fines were: George I. Collins, $500, but $300 was suspended; Mark John Lucas, $500; Dale Richard Reams, $500; Dorien Dee Iden, $500, but $300 was suspended; and Frederick Leland Paugh, $500.

In cases heard on May 29, Judge Turney fined Jeffrey Allan Shaulis $500 and fined David Statler Weise $500, but suspended $300 of Weise's fine. The judge ordered a pre-sentence investigation for Michael Scott Gibson after convicting him on a DWI charge.

Correction Noted

In the story, "Fines Levied In DWI Cases," in the May 30 issue of The Republican Gary Lynn Beitzel was reported as being convicted and fined on a charge of driving while under the influence of drugs and/or alcohol. Beitzel was found not guilty on the DWI charge, but was convicted of leaving the scene of an accident for which he received the $205 fine.

Costly Delays . . .

Because of outrageous, unnecessary, and unexplained delays on the part of the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, the efforts by county government to move forward with industrial expansion have been not only delayed, but damaged.

Critical decisions on various needed permits, which were promised the county by May 1, have never been made by the Department. The county commissioners received an apology from the Department for its lack of response, but apparently only after Senator John Bambacus made some inquiries.

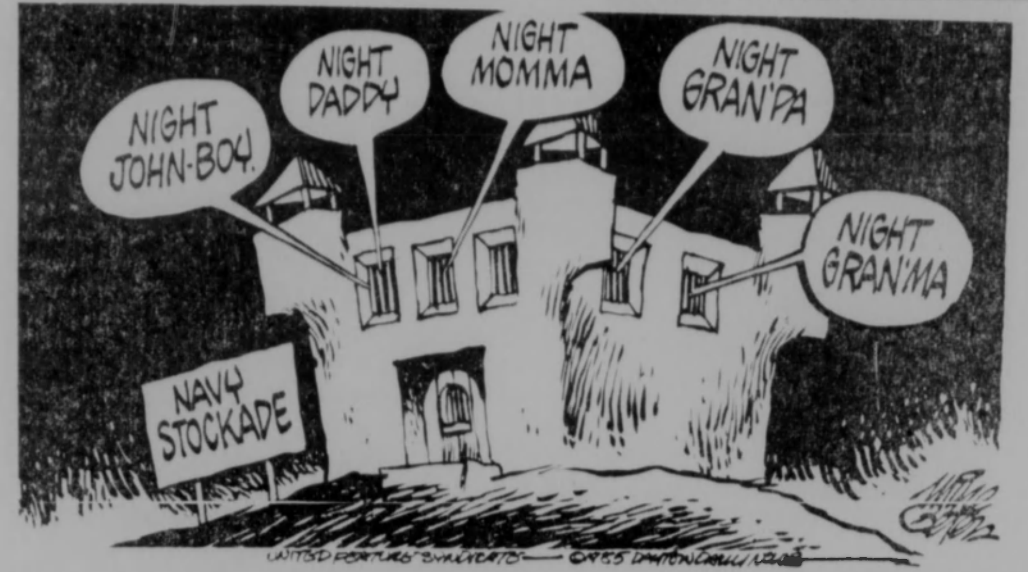
The permits, needed weeks ago, included one to allow the installation of water lines and an extension of sewer lines into the Southern Garrett County Industrial Park, just east of Mtn. Lake Park along State Rt. 135. The main reason the county commissioners want the permit to install the water lines is so that it can be done simultaneously with the road construction, which is far more cost effective than having to tear up the ground a second time along the new roadways. The county also has a $250,000 HUD grant to cover the expense of the water line installation, but that grant could be rescinded if the project is delayed too long.

Finally, after another meeting this week in Hagerstown with health officials, the Department has agreed to reconsider the proposal to allow the water line installation and make a decision by Monday. According to Commissioner Ernie Gregg this morning, the meeting was positive and the Department official seemed anxious to resolve all of the problems. We trust that they will not again go back on their word and delay the decision still further.

Already at least one potential tenant for the industrial park has backed out simply because of the delays and problems with the state health officials. We understand that two more are ready to go elsewhere.

We cannot afford to lose potential industry in Garrett County because of unnecessary delays and politics on the part of state officials. According to a story on page eight of today's issue of The Republican, the outlook for the coal industry in Maryland is rather dismal. If the bottom falls out of this industry, Garrett County will experience a new high in unemployment. The Mettiki Coal Company alone is the second largest employer in the county with over 600 workers. By adding in all other local miners, this makes the industry by far the largest employer in the county. We must move NOW to secure some other new, clean industries.

If the delays and problems continue with the state health officials, perhaps the county should consider taking legal steps against the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene to recoup some of our losses.



Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I attended the meeting on Tuesday, June 4, at Northern High School on the renovation of Northern High.

I certainly feel this next year will be a very hectic one for me. Getting in and out of our road in the winter certainly is not easy. I blow the road open to get out and open it to get in, but I am willing to sacrifice my time this next year for what will be best for my kids.

The bus stop certainly is not the safest, but I need to have faith in the driver to keep my kids safe getting on and off the buses. I have three kids attending Garrett County Schools next year, one in first grade, one in eighth grade and one in 11th grade. This will be a one-year plan and I can surely sacrifice for this one school year.

I was Band Booster president this past year and have been very involved with our band. I certainly don't want to see our band divided. The band has come too far to fall back now. As for sports, I feel the same. We need to keep unity in our school.

I would like to say thanks to Mr. Fowler and teachers at Northern Middle for letting our high school be part of their school. This is going to be a sacrifice for the middle school students as well as the teachers and principals of both schools.

Let's all work together for one school year and sacrifice on our part to make this next year a good one. Our kids will have a high school to be proud of and benefit from this.

It is time Northern is finally being put first.

Sincerely,
Northern Band
Booster President

I would like to use your newspaper to publicly thank a Good Samaritan in your community.

Early on May 27, the Memorial Holiday, my son, grandson and I were on our way home from Rowlesburg, W.Va., when we had car trouble near Deep Creek Lake. Since we weren't near stores, garages or telephones, who knows how long we might have been there had it not been for Mike Phillippi.

He saw us broken down and stopped. He took my son back to Oakland, found the parts we needed after waiting for the store to open and returned to use his tools and help fix our car.

In talking with him, we found out he is a volunteer fireman and family man who could have been spending the holiday at home, but he spent three or four hours helping us strangers get on the road again.

We think he deserves public recognition and, since he would accept no money for his time and trouble, we are sending a donation to the Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Department on his behalf.

We're grateful there's still people like Mike around and he has our sincere thanks and appreciation.

Thank you,

To the Editor:

Newspapers are a unique media. There is no doubt in my mind that, for the most part, newspapers play a more important role in the lives of the "working public" than any other media.

Television, although not without its merits, is believed by some to cause brain hemorrhage and digestive tract problems, hence all the laxative and antacid commercials. The radio, on the other hand, is a lovely commodity but, were it not for the wonderful melodical sounds it reproduces, I sincerely doubt it would have survived. Magazines are much akin to technical manuals on life, living, and the world in general. Very few transient thoughts make their way into this solemn media.

So, we're back to newspapers with their own brand of economical brain slashing. Not only are these easy on the pocket and available almost anywhere, but they offer a great variety of information. There is little they do not cover. Here there is an urgent need to print all the news that's fit to print and more.

Newspapers are indeed wonderful. They bring us inexpensive information, news and entertainment and ask for very little in return. I want to say "thanks."

To the Editor:

Several weeks ago I read in this paper that Tom Jones, county development director, had asked the county commissioners to issue over seven hundred thousand dollars in county bonds to finance a couple of private individuals in a venture to build a mini-mall at the lake. The mini-mall would house approximately 14 mercantile stores. Of course, these stores would go into business in competition with already established stores, the owners of which went into business at their own risk, and with their own money. They did not ask for help from any public officials, nor did they ask to use credit from the taxpayers.

Now this week, I notice that the same man, Tom Jones, has apparently talked our commissioners into another bond issue of nine hundred thousand dollars to finance the expansion of a mass-mailing business. We have been told that this business has been here for 17 years. Now, I can understand why they would like to expand, but I cannot understand why, after 17 years of experience and know-how, they need to come before our county commissioners and ask them to issue bonds to enable them to finance their business.

As a taxpayer I would like to know how many millions of dollars this present board of commissioners has issued since they took office, and how many millions of bonded debt is now outstanding against the county. Therefore, I am requesting our commissioners to issue a public statement detailing the outstanding bonds, and including the amount of so-called industrial bonds.

Accident

To the Editor:

On Saturday, May 25, I went to Nethken Hill Cemetery (near Elk Garden, W.Va.) and to Hamill Cemetery (outside of Kitzmiller). Although both of these cemeteries depend upon voluntary monetary contributions and mostly donated labor for their upkeep, they were both nicely mowed and the stone had been trimmed around them.

Next, I went to the cemetery in the town of Oakland, and was appalled at its unmowed and terrible condition. Weeds and vines of various kinds have all but choked out the grass. This cemetery's maintenance has been "going down hill" for the past several years, but this was the worst condition in which I have ever seen it.

By contrast to the two cemeteries mentioned in paragraph one, this cemetery in Oakland has been paid for the perpetual care of my family lot (Perpetual Care Trust Fund Certificate #127, covering Lot #529).

Since statistics show Garrett County has one of the highest unemployment rates in Maryland, lack of available labor force cannot be the answer for the deplorable condition of the Oakland Cemetery.

Sincerely,
Eleanor A. Pritts

To the Editor:

I was privileged to have the chapel service for the Christian school picnic at Herrington Manor this year. I was so impressed with these students' good behavior, respect for authority and courtesy.

The group was in the heat of a game when I arrived. When the teacher gave the signal all was dropped and the assembly was quietly formed. All through the service attention was fine. These children had several prayer requests, some for a parent, relative and friends.

These students were from the Full Gospel Christian Academy and the Swallow Falls Christian Academy. The teachers were Pat Justus, Carolyn Harsh, Louise Sines and Carolyn Mellott.

Let us remember what makes people good Christians makes them good citizens. I am very sorry our public schools do not practice that philosophy.

For better education,
Homer Mellott

A spokesman from the State Police said he felt the TIPS hotline was instrumental in many of the drug investigations and that citizens are "getting fed up with people who sell drugs, so they are giving us the vital leads we need to solve these CDS cases."

State's Attorney James Sherbin said, "I'm very pleased with the investigation thus far, but we're not finished yet. There is a drug problem in Garrett County and we're going to deal with it."

When asked if the drug problem in the county is getting worse, Sherbin stated, "I wouldn't say it's getting worse. There is more money available now from state and federal agencies to support the needed manpower in these cases. There is definitely more emphasis on narcotics investigations now than in the past."

State Police said the drug investigations are continuing and that more arrests are pending.

Ridge area. "These wells have been very successful for the most part," he said. Other steps taken have been to change the drainage system at the Keysers Ridge site, building a new salt dome, reshaping the land so that drainage is confined to SHA property, and the use of spreader areas where salt won't saturate the ground or run into a stream.

Currently in Finzel, the SHA is cleaning up the residue of salt on the ground which may be getting into the drainage systems, they have stopped mixing salt outside during the winter, and have attempted to reduce salt usage on the highways.

Beaulieu said that only one-third of the salt used in years before was used this winter, however, this winter was mild with less precipitation than some past winters have been. "Winters are different," he said, "there were some 30 storms this winter, but there could have been twice as many."

"I feel very good about altering our salt usage program, the reduction is big, and should help avoid future problems," Beaulieu said.

He explained that the SHA will continue to monitor the sodium chloride problem in Finzel and determine what can be done to correct the problem as soon as possible.

Management also dispatched the Southern Rescue Squad to the scene.

In other accidents this past week, Richard Lee Sharpless, 38, Oakland, was taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by private vehicle where he was treated and released for injuries received in a Saturday evening mishap.

According to Tfc. D. G. Riggleman, Sharpless was operating a 1985 Ford Ranger northbound on Rt. 560 when an unidentified vehicle pulled from a private driveway into the path of Sharpless. He applied his brakes, causing the vehicle to skid and turn around in the road. The pickup came to rest on an embankment.

A Friday evening mishap sent two persons to Sacred Heart Hospital in Cumberland where they were treated and released.

Transported to the hospital by the Northern Rescue Squad were Bradley C. Otto, 53, Springs, Pa., the operator of a 1981 Chevrolet Impala, and his wife Dorthea.

The Otto vehicle was reportedly northbound on Rt. 669 near the Grantsville Stockyard, just west of the Peavine Road, when it was struck by the 1976 Chevrolet Nova, operated by Christy Lynne Kinsinger, 19, Grantsville.

Cpl. John Ralston investigated and charged Kinsinger with failure to stop for a stop sign.

My Dad's better than your Dad. . .
Remember those good old days?
When every Dad on the block
Was the object of his kid's praise.

My Dad's better than your Dad
No matter what the test.
My Dad outdid any other Dad.
He was far above the rest.

My Dad's better than your Dad.
He bounced me on his lap.
My Dad read me stories
And tucked me in to nap.

My Dad's better than your Dad.
He let me drive his car.
My Dad always loved me.
In my eyes, he'll always be a star.

So, my Dad's better than your Dad. . .
And now that I'm grown and gone
I've discovered my Dad is the best.
Funny, I've known that all along!

Deep Creek Lake Residents Sewer Connection Problems Resolved

Lake residents waiting to connect to the extended sewer system at Deep Creek Lake have experienced some delays, which are now hopefully resolved by the joint efforts of the Garrett County Sanitary Commission and Potomac Edison Electric Company.

According to Sanitary District Administrator Wendell Beitzel, after paying Potomac Edison an up-front cost of $38,000 in December, the sanitary commission hoped to have all connections made in March or April, before the start of the summer tourist season. Delays resulted when Potomac Edison attempted to procure easements and rights-of-way to cross property owned by Pennelec and the Department of Natural Resources.

Richard A. Roschli, Potomac Edison Western Maryland manager, explained that there have been some regrettable delays in getting paper work back from Pennelec and DNR so that the electric company could proceed with the work. He went on to say that, as of Monday, all jobs are cleared, materials are ordered, and work has begun.

The work required consists of service connections to three pump stations which are a part of the expanded Deep Creek Sewer System. Potomac Edison Area Line Superintendent Gerald Kremer reported on Tuesday that one pump station (11-1) has been connected. Potomac Edison must wait for C & P Telephone Co. to finish replacing some poles at pump station 11-2 in order to complete connections there. Potomac Edison expects to be able to begin that work the week of June 17, and have that pump station connected and ready to begin service by the end of the month.

Both Beitzel and Kremer agree that the big job is the main pump station (11-3) on Beckman's Peninsula. According to Kremer, over 700 man hours of work is involved. That does not include three or four days of tree trimming and removal which is contracted out to Asplundh Tree Service. C & P Telephone Co. is now at work installing new telephone poles which will also be used for the electric lines. They will, therefore, not hold up the job in any way.

There will be some right-of-way permissions needed from homeowners in the area to enable the telephone company and tree-removal crews to complete their work. Kremer said that they are not required to get this permission, but they feel it is common courtesy to do so. This may take some time because summer residents are difficult to get in touch with, explained Kremer. They do think that they will be able to meet the July 19 date for completion given to the sanitary commission.

Roschli stated that Potomac Edison "promised the sewage people to do the best we can, and work some overtime if necessary to get the job done." "It's highly likely that overtime will be involved for the crews," added Kremer.

Beitzel and the sanitary commission feel that the delays have caused an unnecessary burden on residents and businesses who had counted on being connected to the sewer system by now, and have decided not to wait until July 19 to begin service. They have rented a stand-by generator and will put the system into operation after a final inspection on Friday, if everything is in order. Notices will be sent to all customers at that time.

"This is just a temporary fix, but we are working on a long-term solution," said Beitzel.

Coal Production Figures Down; Appalachian Coal Outlook Dim

Maryland State Bureau of Mines statistics show that during the first three months of 1985, coal production figures were down, partly due to utility stockpiles and foreign competition during the first quarter of the year.

Mining in Maryland is done only in Allegany and Garrett Counties, with no deep mining in Allegany County. For the first quarter of 1985, statistics show that 123,724.85 tons of bituminous coal were surface mined in Allegany County. Another 201,268.37 tons were mined from Garrett County strip mines, and 656,229.66 tons were deep mined in Garrett County.

Compared to figures for the first quarter last year, totals are down about 66,544 tons in Allegany County and about 37,570 tons in Garrett County. The deep mine production in Garrett County was also off about 20,831 this year.

Maryland Coal Association President John Carey said, "Last fall the utilities geared-up for the United Mine Workers strike which didn't occur and the stockpiles are still large." Carey blames these stockpiles and foreign competition for the depressed condition of the coal industry in Maryland.

Carey feels the industry may see small gains this summer but added "we probably won't be back to normal until this time next year."

This depressed market has caused layoffs and threatened the stability of some coal companies which can't adjust to the financial stress, explained Carey. He feels, though, that most Maryland companies appear strong enough to survive.

"A few years go the industry sold a lot of coal overseas but South Africa, Poland, Australia and others have flooded the market. It's much tougher to get overseas orders than it was in 1980 or 1981."

Ironically, Carey said, the United States has helped to develop overseas mining technology which is now creating competition for U.S. coal in foreign markets.

This was also determined by a study produced by the University of Kentucky Center for Business and Economic Research. The study projected a demand for U.S. coal in the neighborhood of 950 to 1 billion tons by 1990, or a 2.9 percent increase over the 1983 production level.

According to Curtis E. Harvey, a University of Kentucky economics professor, the projected future holds only moderate growth for the coal industry.

Harvey's upcoming book, "The Economics of Appalachian Coal in the 1980s", states that "The desire for greater output (of coal) is moderated by the continuing worldwide effects of the crushing recession in the industrial world in the first part of the 1980s, continuing grievous levels of unemployment, and unacceptable levels of inflation in some countries."

"All this has had a significant effect on the demand for coal, leaving it stagnant," he said.

Harvey predicts that coal from western states will become increasingly more popular among utilities, which makes up 62 percent of the demand for Appalachian coal, than coal from the traditional Appalachian suppliers of Kentucky, Pennsylvania, Western Maryland, and West Viginia.

The study revealed that since 1970, the relative output of coal from the Appalachian region has declined steadily, with actual 1983 production 9.5 percent below the 1970 level. At the same time, overall actual production of coal from the western coal states was more than 500 percent greater in 1983 than in 1970.

"The explanation for the phenomenal growth in western coal output lies in two main factors: the low mining costs in the west due to very large and wide seams located close to the surface, and secondly, the low sulfur content," Harvey said.

Harvey predicts that the advantage of western coal will increase in the future.

"As minable reserves decrease, the costs of underground mining are likely to increase, placing Appalachian coal in a less advantageous position related to western coal," he said.

Harvey said policies and economic trends beyond the coal industry, such as environmental policy and the strong dollar abroad, also would have an effect on the long-run growth of the industry.

"The short and long-term prospects for the coal industry, and especially of Appalachian coal, will be determined to a large extent by governmental policy in the United States and abroad," he said.

Although Western Maryland produces a small amount of the total amount of Appalachian coal, the coal industry makes up a large portion of the economy in Western Maryland.

The recently-issued first quarter 1985 report shows that 37,130.08 tons were mined in Allegany County in January followed by 31,235.64 in February and 55,359.13 tons in March.

Garrett surface miners extracted 79,748.35 tons during the first month of the year, 56,538.42 in February and 64,981.90 in March. Deep miners, meanwhile, took 190,343.82 tons in January, 247,665.36 tons in February and 218,220.48 tons during March.

All of the deep mining occurred at three premits operated by Mettiki Coal Corp. and single permits operated by Masteller Coal Company and Mountain Top Coal Company.

Roxie DeWitt Wins Cheerleading Contest

Roxie DeWitt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack DeWitt of Sang Run, was the fourth grade winner of a cheerleading contest on Wednesday, May 29. The contest, which was held on the Northern High football field, was part of the annual cheerleading clinic held by the N.H.S. cheerleading squads.

Girls in grades K-8 from Accident, Grantsville, and Friendsville participated, and a winner was chosen from each grade level.

Cumberland Tops Accident Post

Accident Post 209 took a two-run lead with a four-run eighth inning, but Fort Cumberland Post 13 came back with four runs of its own in the top of the ninth to win the Mountain District Junior American Legion game Tuesday afternoon at Garrett Community College, 8-6.

An RBI single by Fort Cumberland's Eric Stekem tied the game in the ninth and Myrle Grose, who walked, raced home on a sacrifice fly by Keith Cain for what proved to be the winning score.

Don Umstot, who relieved Brad Cundiff after five innings, was credited with the win over Bubba Hedrick.

Cain also had two singles in the contest while Terry Bittinger contributed a double and a single for the winners.

Pacing Accident's hitting attack were Southern High School standouts Jon Reneslacis, Dave McLaughlin, and Jim Holler. Reneslacis doubled and singled, McLaughlin hit a double and Holler added two singles.

Accident is slated to play Victory Post 155 this evening in Westernport.

Hunting Season Dates And Bag Limits Announced

The Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service announced this week the 1985-86 hunting and trapping season dates and bag limits for Forest Game, Upland Wildlife and Furbearers. Public hearings were held in March on season proposals, and a number of changes to the preliminary proposals were made as a result of public comment.

Notable changes include:

Rabbits: Rabbit season will open November 1, 1985 in Garrett County. The season will open November 15, 1985 in all other counties.

Pheasant: The pheasant season will close two weeks earlier than last year, on January 15, 1986.

Quail: (Western Zone only) The quail season will close two weeks earlier than last year, on January 15, 1986.

Wild Turkey: The bag limit will remain one fall turkey and one bearded spring turkey, or two bearded spring turkeys if no turkey was taken during the fall season.

Ruffed Grouse: The season will close January 31, 1986 instead of February 28, 1986.

Beaver: The beaver season in Garrett County will open, and close, two weeks earlier than in past years. The season will run from December 15, 1985 through March 1, 1986, and the bag limit will be 10 per season. In Montgomery, Prince George's, Calvert, Charles and St. Mary's counties the bag limit has been increased to 10 per season. The 1986 through March 15, 1986. In Allegany, Washington (Potomac River only), Frederick, Carroll, Baltimore, Frederick, Carroll, Baltimore, Harford, Cecil, Kent, Caroline and Anne Arundel counties the season will be January 1, 1986 through March 15, 1986 with a bag limit of five per season.

Muskrat & Mink: In Garrett, Allegany, Washington, Frederick, Carroll and Howard counties the season will run from November 15, 1985 through February 15, 1986. In Dorchester, Talbot, Wicomico and Caroline counties the season will be open from January 1, 1986 through March 15, 1986. Muskrat and Mink will be legal game in all other counties from December 15, 1985 through March 15, 1986. There is no bag limit for muskrat or mink.

Deer seasons and bag limits remain largely unchanged from last year. The bow season bag limit is identical to last year, one white-tailed deer statewide except in Dorchester, Wicomico, Somerset and Worcester counties where two white-tailed deer may be taken. Firearms season will remain one week long, from the Saturday after Thanksgiving through the following Saturday. The two-day antlerless season in Garrett, Allegany, Washington, Frederick and Carroll counties will be December 13 and 14, 1985. The muzzleloader season is scheduled for December 16 through December 23, 1985. The bag limit is one white-tailed deer if no white-tailed deer was taken during the firearms season, except in Dorchester County where two white-tailed deer may be taken.

The Forest, Park and Wildlife Service is planning to propose additional options for the 1985 deer seasons, including a two day Flintlock Only deer hunt.

Moonshine 10-K Run Scheduled

A record setting field of over 300 runners is expected for the sixth running of the Stroh Light Moonshine Classic scheduled for Saturday, June 22, near Bloomington. The race will follow a course along Savage River Road. Race Director Charles Laffey has announced that over 2,000 race applications have been mailed in the past weeks and other applications will be available at area races.

Two time winner Jeff "Special Delivery" Smith of Cumberland has already indicated his intention to seek a third title. Last year Smith was edged out at the finish line by Jeff DeLauter of Hagerstown. Other past overall winners include Hagerstowns Terry Baker and Rich Hoffman, formerly of Frostburg State College.

In the women's division, Ruth Riemenschneider, the women's record holder and 1983 winner, is expected to return to challenge Amy Gamber, winner in 1984.

The race will begin at 9:00 a.m. with a two-mile fun run beginning at the same time. The race is sponsored by Stroh Brewing Company and Mattingly and Stotler Distributers and hosted by the Upper Potomac Jaycees. Anyone wishing more information or an application for the race should contact race director Charles Laffey at (301) 359-0476 or by writing him at 229 Walnut Street, Westernport, Md. 21562.

Southern Hoopsters Stand Out In Western Maryland All-Star Contest

Five of Southern High School's most outstanding varsity basketball players, two boys and three girls, played key roles in the fifth annual Western Maryland Basketball Classic, held Saturday evening at Bruce High School.

Scot Stem, 6-4 senior, who has filled a trophy case this past season with a variety of school, regional, and even national recognition, netted 16 points and pulled down 14 rebounds for the Maryland All-Stars, who defeated the West Virginia All-Stars, 9-83. He hit only four field goals, but connected on eight of nine free throws to lead the team in scoring.

Stem, who plans to play for Longwood College in Virginia this fall, was named the 1985 Pepsi Cola Player of the Year, was an All-Area selection, and received honorable mention as an All-American by USA Today.

Also playing for the Maryland boys team from Southern was senior Steve Bennett, who finished with two points.

After assuming a 53-38 lead in the second half of the game, the West Virginia All-Stars, paced by Keyser's Andy Smith, came flying back to take a 69-68 lead. The scored changed hands several times and then Maryland went back on top 86-75 with 1:25 remaining. Again the Mountain State team rallied and cut the score to 87-83 at the 21-second mark.

Two free throws each by Mike Rayner and Stem secured the victory for Maryland, its fourth in five years.

Smith led the West Virginians with a game-high 26 points.

The girls' All-Star contest was a different story, as Southern's Jenny Hillen and Kelly Bittinger and Bruce's Margie Morris led the Maryland team to a 109-42 rout over the West Virginia All Stars. Also playing for the winners from Southern was Jane Bell.

Hillen, who was named Most Valuable Player for the Maryland team and is headed for West Virginia University on a full scholarship, finished with 16 points and grabbed seven rebounds, while Morris also recorded 16 points. Bittinger, who pulled ten rebounds, added 12 points as did Bill Stratton.

The head coach for the Maryland team was Southern's Don Stemple, who has guided the Lady Rams to the state Class C playoffs the past two seasons.

The Maryland team was never threatened in contest, holding quarter leads of 34-6, 58-19, and 79-28. Hampshire's Jessica Smith, who netted eight points, was named MVP of the West Virginia team.

West Virginia won last year's game, 67-40.

Pearle Vision Center Opens At Thayer Center

Pearle Vision Center has officially opened a new franchise this week at 7000 Thayer Center in Oakland. The facility, which was formerly the Optical Boutique of Dr. J.V. Jones, Optometrist, has been in the process of conversion to a Pearle Vision Center since January of this year.

Tracy Jones, manager of the new optical center, says that many reasons prompted the switch to Pearle. "The biggest factor in our decision to make Pearle a part of our office was that their products and services are geared toward quality," she reports. "Being affiliated with Pearle allows us to provide many vision care services which were previously unavailable on the mountaintop."

One such service now available at the Oakland Center is same-day fabrication of many eyeglass prescriptions. This is done by the in-office optician Susie Draper, Mtn. Lake Park, who has over 17 years of experience in opticianry.

All eyeglasses available at the Oakland Pearle will be covered by their national "Great Eyeglass Guarantee." This unconditionally warrantees the frame and lenses against breakage, regardless of the cause or number of times, for a full year. The guarantee is good at any of Pearle's 1,100 locations nationwide.

Craig Iwig, regional manager for Pearle Health Services, points out the Oakland franchise completes the distribution of Pearle Vision Centers across the entire state of Maryland.

Bambacus Studies Impact Of State Aid To Volunteers

State Senator John N. Bambacus (R-Allegany, Garrett) has announced that preliminary estimates of the distribution of funds appropriated for fire protection by the State have been made. Bambacus, co-sponsor of the funding bill, indicated that the estimates, though incomplete, provide some idea of the specific local impact of the funding bill.

Garrett County's allocation of $84,000 is to be distributed by the county commissioners as they see fit.

The bill does not stipulate a guaranteed share for any one company, beyond the guaranteed minimums for qualifying municipalities. Bambacus pointed out that because there appears to be no "qualifying municipalities" in Garrett County, there is no way to determine how much the county will distribute to local volunteer companies at the present time.

"It seems to me that we coundn't have made this bill more complicated if we tried," Bambacus commented. "I have been told that it will take at least two more months to receive and compute the necessary data to actually distribute the funds to the counties and municipalities. However, it does appear now that the volunteer companies, for whom the bill was originally designed, will fare a little better than I thought earlier."

The Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services, charged with implementing and administering the program, is currently preparing regulations that will further clarify the provisions of the bill, Bambacus noted. Governor Harry R. Hughes signed the bill into law on Tuesday, May 21.

The Garrett County Board of Education central office building will be open during the same period of time from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

I Needed The Quiet

I needed the quiet so He drew me aside,
Into the shadows where we could confide.
Away from the bustle where all the day long
I hurried & worried when active & strong
I needed the quiet though at first I rebelled,
But gently, so gently, my cross He upheld,
And whispered so sweetly of spiritual things.
Tho' weakened in body, my spirit took wings;
To heights never dreamed of when active & gay.
He loved me so greatly, He drew me away.
I needed the quiet; no prison my bed.
But a beautiful valley of blessings instead.
A place to grow richer in Jesus to hide
I needed the quiet so He drew me aside.

Sadly missed by his wife,
children & grandchildren

Scott Biser, nine-year old son of former area resident, Sally Fizer Biser, and grandson of Virginia Fizer of Deer Park, is a member of the Blackwatch Aberdeen Soccer Team of Tampa, Fla. The team will be playing in the Oakville Invitational Soccer Matches in Ontario, Canada, in June. The competition will include teams representing England, Mexico, Scotland, and the United States.

Scott's team has achieved most of the honors an under-nine team can achieve, including the Region C Cup; Classic League; Coral Springs Tournament; second in the ASCOWF Division; and Tampa Team of the Month.

His brother, Eric, age 14, plays with the Blackwatch Rangers, who were the winners of the under-14 Regional C Cup.

Scott, his mother and brother, will all fly to Ontario with the team in June.

Progress Reports And Problems Fill Sanitary Commission Meetings

The May 21 and June 4 meetings of the Garrett County Sanitary Commission were filled with progress reports and problems of the area sewer and water projects.

The May 21 meeting was concerned mostly with the problem of not having electrical connections for the expanded system of the Deep Creek sewer project. This topic was carried over into the June 4 meeting with Potomac Edison expecting to have all three of the remaining pump stations connected by the end of June.

The sanitary commission has decided to rent a generator to provide electricity to continue testing the system and to provide service to the remaining customers. The sanitary commission intends to put the expanded system in operation when it is fully completed by the contractor, and not wait until service is available from Potomac Edison. The commission also intends to try to recover the cost of the generator from Potomac Edison.

New connections to the system will be made by the sanitary district after the homeowner uncovers the line where the tap is to be made. After a backhoe is purchased by the district, it will be used to make those service connections.

During the May 21 meeting, sealed bids were opened for the purchase of a backhoe and trailer to haul it on. Multi Service Equipment Company had the final low bid of $42,202.28. The sanitary commission moved to award that company the contract following the approval of the Office of Environmental Programs of the State Health Department. The EPA and the state has determined that the backhoe is a grant eligible item and they will supply the grants for its purchase.

The commission executed a couple of change orders that were previously approved for sewer contracts.

At the June 4 meeting, progress reports were given by the engineers for contracts 10, 11, and 12.

Contract 10, the pumping stations, are completed and have been placed in operation, although there are still several items that are causing difficulty. The commission strongly emphasized to the contractors to get these problems resolved.

Contract 11 is essentially completed and had a final inspection on June 3. Only a few minor discrepancies were noted.

The contract time has expired for contract 12, with numerous items needing to be completed before the project is accepted by the sanitary commission. These major items include: numerous private property clean-ups and restorations, paving, concrete pads around valve boxes, fence built around pump station, some generators and sewer line testings need to be completed.

The final inspection for contract 12 on June 3 was not conducted because the project was not completed. Because the contractor, H. J. Schneider, has not completed the project within the specific time, he is subject to liquidated damages. The sanitary commission decided to assess liquidated damages because of his failure to complete the work in the time period contracted.

The total project is 98-percent complete with the toltal expenditures to date amounting to $17,507,000.

The sanitary district is experiencing odor problems at the pump stations, and have received several complaints. They are aware of the problem and intend to resolve it as quickly as possible and correct the problem so that there is no inconvenience to neighboring property owners.

The district has asked the engineer to come up with a permament solution and they will take measures to end the condition. The odor seems to be leaking out through the access hatches instead of going through the odor control. The main reason for this, according to Wendell Beitzel, sanitary district administrator, is that during the winter months when only a few people connected to the system, there was a great distance between those connections and the treatment plant allowing the sewerage to turn septic. Beitzel explains that as more people connect to the system, odor will be less of a problem. The sanitary commission is very concerned and will take whatever action necessary to get it under full control.

Plans are complete for the relocation of the sewer line that is currently on the Route 219 bridge. The bridge is to be replaced, and to avoid any future conflict it has been decided to relocate the sewer line under water. Following review and approval by the State Health Department, the sanitary commission will call for bids so that construction of the relocation may begin in the late summer or fall months.

Kitzmiller Sewer

A public hearing was held on June 3 at the Kitzmiller Elementary School to present the design plans and to review cost estimates for the Kitzmiller sewer system and allow public comment and review.

The design plans and specifications have been completed and sent to the State Health Department for review. New cost estimates have been prepared following completion of the design. There has been a substantial increase in the project design cost over the costs presented in the facility plan.

In order to keep the user costs in line with the cost presented in the facility plan, the sanitary district has been working with the town to put together a HUD Community Development Block Grant and get it approved so as to obtain additional grant funds for the project.

A grant application has been submitted for Kitzmiller and grant applications have also requested funds to assist property owners that have financial need with assistance in making sewer connections, paying tap fees, and upgrading plumbing facilities to connect to the sewer system.

The commission hopes to have a favorable response to the application by mid June.

Revised cost estimates were presented to the commission at the hearing. The town favored proceeding if funds can be obtained. Without funds the total local share would be approximately $250,000. The total project estimated cost is $1,400,000.

It will be very difficult for the district to proceed if grant funds are not obtained for the project, because the district cannot borrow the local share because it would exceed the sanitary district's bonding capacity for the town.

Kitzmiller Water System

The distribution system contractor for the Kitzmiller Water System is 99-percent complete, with only the paving to be finished. The paving has been slightly delayed pending a resolution of what streets to pave in the town. The sanitary district and the town do not intend to pave streets that will be torn up to put in the sewer line at a future date.

Farmers Home Administration has agreed to hold the water project until the sewer lines are in and then use the money to pave the streets. At this time, the contractor will repair the damage and cuts in streets where there will be no sewer lines installed. Others will be patched and await completion of the sewer system.

Another coat of paint is needed on the water storage tank. Following that the tank will be disinfected and tested and paving to the site will be done. Several minor cracks have occurred in the impoundment. They are not serious but the commission is requiring the contractor to repair the cracks.

The contractor has exceeded his time limit on both contracts and the sanitary commission has determined that liquidated damages should be assessed from the contracted completion date until the date the system is complete.

Gorman Sewer

The engineer of the Gorman Sewer System has applied to receive a rate increase because of a change in scope of the work. The sanitary commission reviewed the request and decided that it was justifiable and approved the increase for that project.

Upper Youghiogheny

The Upper Youghiogheny sewer rehabilitation project was advertised for open bids. At the time of the bid opening, only one bid had been received. The State Health Department does not allow the commission to proceed with only one bid, so the commission moved to reject it and to rebid the project. The sanitary commission will attempt to notify more contractors to get additional bids.

The sanitary commission is distressed because the State Health Department has placed a provision in the grant for the Trout Run system rehabilitation that the Upper Yough rehabilitation must be done first, thus delaying another project.

Friendsville Sewer System Estimate

The sanitary commission directed Beitzel to prepare an estimate for the town of Friendsville for operation and maintenance of their sewer system. The sanitary commission is hopeful that as more systems come on the line, they will be able to develop a staff of competent people to be in a position to provide this service to a community or business with such a system. In the future their aim is to be better equipped and have the resources to operate systems more efficiently and economically than they are now.

TERRA ALTA NEWS

Rotary News

The Terra Alta Rotary Club members heard about "Youth Leader's Camp" during the regular meeting of the club on May 30.

Speaker was Cpt. John Pack, who was a guest of the Rev. Bruce Reed. Pack explained that this program is in its 21st year and its purpose is to provide about 125 West Virginia high school students with an opportunity to get a "taste of military life" through a character and leadership building activity. These students also are introduced to the West Virginia National Guard program and its purpose in the state and nation. Over the years, many of the youth leaders have chosen to enlist in the National Guard and about 30 percent eventually opt for a military career.

The participating youths are selected through a coordination process between the National Guard Commanders and the high school principals. The selection is made among juniors and seniors who have demonstrated leadership capabilities, scholastic achievement and physical ability. During the week program, the students learn leadership, discipline, athletics, socialism, self sufficiency, and many other endeavors that only the military training can provide.

The camp, at Camp Dawson in Preston County, will be from June 15 to 21. Captain Pack described every hour of every day's activities which culminate with the "graduation" on the last day of the camp. The program is a government project, providing facilities, shelter and board, but a fee of $55.00 is required from the civic clubs and/or individuals who sponsor a student.

Coal Production

The 47 Allegany County surface mining permits, issued to 26 companies, include a bond forfeiture by Pamela Mines, Inc. which didn't extract coal during the quarter.

Twenty other Allegany County surface mine permit sites were also idle during the quarter and one permit was categorized as inactive. That means that coal production didn't occur on the permit site but backfilling or other work was accomplished and the site wasn't abandoned.

Also during the quarter, 11 of 37 Garrett County surface mining permits were idle. Two permits were listed as inactive.

WHICH TYPE OF LISTING?

If you plan to sell your home, you must decide on which type of listing to use. Here's a quick run-down:

OPEN LISTING: The seller agrees to pay a commission if the agent finds a buyer who will meet the terms. The seller can also sell his own house or can have more than one agent sell it. Since the agent can lose the listing at the whim of the seller, don't expect as much effort on the part of the agent with this form of listing.

EXCLUSIVE LISTING: This gives only one agent the opportunity to sell the property. This arrangement encourages the agent to work dilligently because there is a full commission involved and a deadline to meet.

MULTIPLE LISTING: In this case, you contract with one agent who agrees to distribute the listing to other associates agents. Even though many agents may work to sell your house, you pay only one commission (the listing broker shares the commission if another sells the property). The advantage of the multiple listing is wider exposure and, perhaps a quicker selling time.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone one of our offices.

Pennsylvanian Receives Fine, Probation For Stealing Skis

A 19-year-old Clearfield, Pa., man convicted of the January 16 ski theft at the WISP Ski Area received a $[illegible] fine from Garrett County District Court Judge Jack Turney during a sentencing hearing held June 4.

Judge Turney sentenced Todd L. Vanderburgh to a one-year jail term, but suspended the jail sentence and placed him on 12 months of supervised probation.

Vanderburgh pled guilty in court April 16 to a misdemeanor theft charge for taking skis and bindings, valued at $40, belonging to Kurt W. Fisher.

Representing Vanderburgh was John Teston, public defender.

In cases heard by Judge Turney on May 23, Glynne M. Clark, 35, Ridgeley, W. Va., pled guilty to battery as charged by Garrett County Deputy Philip Buckel.

Buckel charged Clark with striking and kicking him as he attempted to assist Tfc. Dale Williams in arresting Clark on charges of driving while under the influence of drugs and/or alcohol. The incident occurred on April 18.

In a traffic case against him, Clark pled guilty to a charge of driving while under the influence of drugs and/or alcohol.

Judge Turney ordered a presentence investigation in both cases. Another case against Clark, filed by Tfc. Dale Williams, and involving a charge of resisting arrest was not prosecuted.

Clark was represented by Lawrence Kelly, Cumberland.

Curtis M. Pritts, 27, Deer Park, received a $50 fine after a conviction on a disorderly conduct charge. He was sentenced to 60 days in the Garrett County Jail, but Judge Turney suspended the sentence and placed Pritts on 18 months of supervised probation.

Pritts faced three charges for a February 26 incident in the hallway of the 201 Crook Street Apartments in Oakland. Oakland City Patrolman Charles Warfield charged Pritts with having an illegal prescription and two counts of disturbance of the peace. One of the counts was amended to a disorderly conduct charge.

Pritts was represented by T.R. Janes, an Oakland attorney.

The judge granted probation before judgment for James Finch, 41, Oakland, on an assault charge filed by Jerry A. Cline, Mountain Lake Park, after a March 27 incident at the American Legion, Oakland. He was found not guilty on another count of assault.

Finch received a $5 fine and 60 days of supervised probation.

Thomas Dabney, Jr., an Oakland attorney, represented Finch.

Probation before judgment was granted for Jessie R. Glotfelty, 47, Oakland, on a charge of disorderly conduct filed by Deputy Russell Drenning of the Garrett County Sheriff's Department. Glotfelty received a $5 fine and 60 days of supervised probation.

Deputy Drenning filed the charge after a May 2 incident at the Robert Cannon residence, Crellin, in which Glotfelty reportedly pounded on the Cannon's door for three hours.

Curtis E. Savage, 72, Grantsville, was found not guilty of a battery charge filed by Rodney W. Horchler, Grantsville.

In a separate case filed by Horchler against Savage, Savage was found not guilty of four charges: trespassing, littering, wanton trespassing and malicious destruction of property.

Savage's attorney was R.E. Watson, Oakland.

Cases placed on the stet docket included malicious destruction of property charges against John N. Merrbach, 25, Grantsville, and Stanley W. Merrbach, 18, Grantsville. The two were charged with destroying a section of guardrail on the Piney Run Creek Bridge on March 3.

The two were to pay $75 each to the Garrett County Roads Department.

Both were represented by Michael Morrissette, Oakland.

Also placed on the stet docket was a battery charge against Frank W. Robinette, 33, Oakland, filed by Richard W. Wildesen, Sr., Swanton. Robinette was represented by Michael Burkey, Cumberland.

In cases heard on June 4, a theft charge against Donald Wegman, 50, Crellin, and filed by Curtis A. Patton, Friendsville, was not prosecuted because the complainant failed to appear.

Two battery charges filed by Melissa A. Johnson, McHenry, against Brian A. Coker, 19, McHenry, were not prosecuted. An additional battery charge filed by Jacki L. Sarra against Coker also was not prosecuted.

A malicious destruction of property charge filed against Bud Bertholdt, 49, Baltimore, by Richard A. Wright was not prosecuted.

Assistant State's Attorney Richard Green represented the state in the court cases.

A loving tribute in memory of Donald C. Stemple on this Father's Day:

A Son's Thoughts

Where my father has gone there is no darkness,
For his light shines in my eyes as we see one another.
Though he does not speak, I hear his voice,
And I know he sees me as I see him, at any moment we choose.
And though I cannot touch him, I feel his presence. He is my teacher, my strength and my guide.
He tells me to do all things with pride.
Although he is gone, he does not leave.
He is in my body, as I in his, to be rejoined as the Lord sees fit.
His travel is done as he waits for me, and once again together we'll be.
I wish every son could have a father like mine!
This is for you, Dad and Mom!

Your son, Bill

More Slugs in Corn

There has been an unusual amount of damage on corn from slugs this year. The prolong moist conditions have been extremely favorable for slugs. If your corn leaves are being stripped and you can't find the insect, chances are you have slugs working at night. Most of the heavy slug population that I have seen this spring has occurred in fields that were in sod last year. The only effective way I know of for killing the slugs is the following bait: 1 lb. of Mesurol 50% WP, 100 lbs. of cracked corn (fine) and 1 quart of milk all mixed together. Apply 20 lbs. of this mixture per acre. Leslie and Dorsey Guard used this mixture on a 7 acre field and said it did the job. If your have any questions, give me a call at (334-2145).

Be Careful During Storms

Do you know that, of our weather hazards, lightning is the greatest killer? It kills more people in the U.S. than tornadoes, floods and hurricanes. Lightning does not make the news headlines as it affects a small area and takes its victims generally one or two at a time. The five important categories in which casualities occur are:

1.) "Under trees," the most dangerous category.
2.) "Open water," people swimming and being near or on beaches, piers, small boats, ect.
3.) "Tractors," people on farm tractors and construction equipment.
4.) "Golf."
5.) "Telephone", people killed or injured while talking on the telephone.

Preston Co. Wool Pool, Sheep Field Day Scheduled

The annual Preston County, W. Va., Wool Pool will be held Saturday, June 15, at the Preston County Educational Center in Kingwood, W. Va. The pool will begin at 8:30 a.m., followed by a field day with demonstrations and contests.

Phil Schenk, president of the wool pool, offers these suggestions to those bringing wool to the pool.

1. Fleeces don't have to be tied; but if there is less than a full bag, it is necessary to tie those fleeces. Only paper twine should be used.
2. Do not use any sisal, baler, binder, or plastic twine on wool or wool bags. Wool in plastic bags will not be accepted.
3. Keep wool clean while shearing and handling.
4. Keep black, lamb, cotted, burry fleeces and tags separate from good wool.
5. Pack good wool as tight as possible in the wool bag.
6. Bring wool to the pool early. All wool should be at the pool before 11 a.m.

According to Schenk, wool bags are available at the WVU Extension Office, 109 W. Main Street, Kingwood. They can be picked up between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

This year, a Sheep Field Day is planned, starting at 9 a.m. with discussion, slides, and "hands-on" training about lamb grades and how they are affected by management. Market lamb selection will also be discussed at this time.

Wool prices and incentive payments will be the next topic.

At 10:30 a.m. Forest Pennington will discuss and demonstrate proper foot care, deworming, and other sheep care procedures.

The next event starting about 11:15 a.m. will be a shearing contest. The contest is judged only 20 percent on speed and the rest on skill. There will be two classes, beginner and experienced. Those interested should call Thomas McConnell, extension agent, at the WVU Extension Office at 329-1391, to give an idea of how many shearers to prepare for. Contestants must bring their own equipment to Field Day.

Lamb sandwiches with all the extras will be available from 10:30 a.m. until everyone is fed.

There will be commercial exhibits pertaining to the sheep industry on exhibit.

To conclude the day, door prizes, contributed by many local businesses, will be given away at the end of Sheep Field Day.

Eastern Garrett Fire Department Members Honored During Convention

Eastern Garrett Volunteer Fire Department received top honors at the Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association Convention held on Saturday, June 1, at the Bowling Green Fire Hall.

James Raley, chief of Eastern Garrett, was selected from among 10 nominees as Fireman of the Year and was presented with an award provided by the Independent Insurance Agents of Allegany and Garrett Counties.

"Jim has demonstrated the utmost of respect and devotion to the fire service. He is filled with the spirit and enthusiasm the fire service requires," said the nomination letter written by Al Ward, president of the Eastern Garrett company. His letter continued, "The unity he has brought to our fire company as chief boosted our morale and participation in fire service activities, which ultimately has served to boost our devotion to the fire service."

Raley is a 1976 graduate of Beall High School and in 1980 received his bachelor of science degree in education from California State University. He earned his master's degrees in secondary school adminstration and supervision. Today, Raley is employed as an industrial arts teacher at Southern Middle School, Oakland. He is the 1984-85 president of the Garrett County Teachers' Association.

A member of the Eastern Garrett Fire Department since 1977, Raley has served as chief, assistant chief, fire captain, a member of the board of trustees, and Eastern Garrett's Fireman of the Year.

Ward's nomination letter noted the active role Raley has played in bringing fire prevention programs to the schools of Garrett County. Ward said that Raley has said of his concern for fire prevention, "I feel the youth in our community are a vital resource to the prevention and spreading of knowledge dealing with the prevention of fires. The youth must be educated to evacuation procedures which should enable them to escape a burning building if ever faced with the situation. We as adults and firefighters are responsible for seeing that children are fire conscious."

The 25-year-old fireman was also responsible for the initiation of a rescue evacuation sticker, and the establishment of a regular training program with his fellow firemen.

Raley, who is one of the youngest fire chiefs in the state, expressed his pleasure in receiving the award and his enjoyment in serving Allegany and Garrett counties.

Beatrice W. Opel was named Fire Lady of the Year at the convention. She is a charter member of the Eastern Garrett Auxiliary, where she has served as president, vice president, and treasurer. She also served as coordinator for the community building which is an addition to the fire hall.

Opel has been very active in community projects in conjunction with the fire hall, and this is her second award as Fire Lady of the Year.

The Eastern Garrett Ladies Auxiliary won third place Auxiliary of the Year.

Del Fike, Eastern Garrett, was one of the living firemen who were inducted into the Hall of Flame. Charles W. Haines, Deer Park, was one of the deceased firemen who was inducted.

Terri Kitis, Eastern Garrett Auxiliary member and officer of the Allegany-Garrett County Volunteer Firemen's Association Auxiliary, took third place in fire prevention.

FRATERNAL WEEK, FLAG DAY PROCLAIMED — The Garrett County Commissioners issued a proclamation last week designating June 8-14 as Fraternal Week. In part the proclamation stated that the designation is a way of informing the American public of the efforts of fraternal societies in philanthropic, civic and patriotic activities. It also noted that during Fraternal Week the nation will recognize Flag Day on June 14 and celebrate its Centennial in an effort to "demonstrate to others that patriotism is as active now as it was when our nation was born." It was further stated that fraternalists have a "long tradition of reverence for the ideals of patriotism" and "have promoted respect and recognition of the flag of our nation." The members of the various fraternal societies are urged in the proclamation to organize, promote, encourage, and conduct flag raising observances. Present for the proclamation signing with Commissioners Ernie Gregg, Elwood Groves, and John Braskey were, standing left to right, Frank Perry, Grand Knight, Garrett Lodge No. 113, Knights of Columbus; Max White, Commander, Garrett Lodge No. 113, K of P; E. Lawrence Groves, Camp 11, Woodmen of the World; Harvey M. Riley, Garrett Lodge No. 113, K of P, and Robert F. Rodeheaver area manager, Woodmen of the World.

Museum Opened To Aid Drug Program

In order to help raise money for a drug prevention program at Bruceton, W. Va., School, two young brothers have opened a museum which features an 1880 stage coach and an 1880 surrey.

The museum, which had its grand opening June 1 and 2 and is located at Nevera's farm in Locust Grove near Hazelton, W. Va., is being operated by Joseph and Manuel Nevera, ages 11 and 10.

Also being displayed are coal mine tools, lights, script, baseball cards, police badges, old hub caps, license plates, old fruit jars, bottles, mounted animals, beer cans, old tools, steel traps, horse shoes, horse rake seats, railroad lights, marbles, Burnside stoves and other items. The boys earned the money to buy these items by selling aluminum cans and hub caps they had picked up along local roadways.

Persons wishing to make donations to the drug education program may do so by sending a check to Drug Prevention Program, Bruceton School, Bruceton Mills, W. Va. 26525.

Congratulations - May Winners!

APPROPRIATE EXPRESSION OF SYMPATHY

Flowers have been the traditional American expression of sympathy since the middle of the last century. They are lovely and have a softening, comforting effect in the otherwise stark experience of the death of a loved one.

In recent years, there has been an increasing trend for families to request donations to charities rather than luxurious floral displays. It depends on the wishes of the family. It may provide them with some solace to know that donations to a research fund in the memory of their loved one may help develop a cure for a debilitating disease; that children at a local orphanage may enjoy new playground equipment.

Many families establish scholarship funds in the name of the deceased or a trust fund for the young children of the decedent. These are only a few examples. There are many other fine, creative and helpful ways of expressing sympathy.

Bambacus Backs Enterprise Zone Act Of 1985

State Senator John N. Bambacus (R-Allegany, Garrett) today endorsed a bi-partisan plan to create jobs, to reduce unemployment and to strengthen the nation's economic activity by urging Congress to pass H.R. 38, The Enterprise Zone Employment and Development Act of 1985.

"Enactment of national Enterprise Zone legislation will create a market environment in depressed areas of the country by providing relief from taxation, regulation and government burden," Bambacus stated. "I continue to be impressed by the success of the Enterprise Zone program in Maryland, and supported its extension during the past session of the General Assembly."

Maryland was the third state to enact its own enterprise zone program in 1982. It was also one of the first states to select enterprise zones, which now number 10 across the State. They are designed to encourage economic growth by focusing State and local resources on the designated areas.

Last November, U.S. Presidential Assistant Robert R. Gleason, Jr., journeyed from Washington to Allegany and Garrett counties to get a first-hand view of how the zones are working in rural America.

At the invitation of Senator Bambacus, Gleason toured sites in Cumberland, Frostburg and Accident, concluding his visit with a luncheon and speech at Frostburg State College.

The enterprise zone concept incorporates a different approach to economic development, Bambacus explained. Rather than relying on direct government expenditures to create a favorable investment environment, it focuses on market forces and encourages a "spirit of enterprise" by removing or reducing certain government activities.

Bambacus stressed that the Enterprise Zone Employment and Development Act of 1985 will require no Federal appropriations. "This legislation will actually contribute to the reduction of the Federal deficit by reducing the number of people unemployed. It provides jobs that provide taxes for the Federal government," Bambacus concluded.

Phone Bills To Carry New Charge

A new $1-a-month telephone subscriber line charge became effective on June 1 for C&P Telephone Company of Maryland residence and single-line business customers.

This charge, ordered by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC), will pay for part of the costs for customer use of C&P's network to make and receive local and long distance calls. The charge applies to local phone company customers throughout the nation.

To help offset the new charge, the FCC also ordered a reduction in some interstate long distance rates, also effective June 1.

The subscriber line charge will appear as a separate line item on the customer bill. In Maryland the charge will appear on the Current Charges page of the bill as follows: Federal subscriber line charge $1.00.

Customers will receive notification of the $1 subscriber line charge on a separate page of their monthly bills. Notification and charges will begin to appear on bills dated June 4, which customers received June 11.

Peace of Mind

With Federally Insured Savings.

Today, most of us are more than just aware of the importance of protecting our loved ones and the material investments we've worked so hard to attain. With hardly a second thought, we insure ourselves, our families, and our possessions against hardship and loss. Equally important however, is the need to protect our personal savings—the hope of both our present and future. That means banking with confidence.

As our customer you should know that federal regulations require First Federal to maintain a certain level of cash and investments to assure availability of funds whenever you need them. As of May 31, 1985 First Federal had nearly twice this required level of liquid assets.

You should also know that First Federal is a member of the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, under which your savings are insured up to $100,000. That's vital information for the concerned saver.

So, if you're already banking with First Federal, breathe easier. If not, come on in and start saving today with security and peace of mind.

Dever, Beavers Named Employees Of The Month At GCM Hospital

Douglas R. Beavers

Joseph Dever, radiology technologist, has been selected as the May Employee of the Month at the Garrett County Memorial Hosptial, and Douglas R. Beavers, plant watchman, has been named the June Employee of the Month.

Dever was born in Cumberland, and moved to Baltimore with his family at the age of 10. After graduation from high school, he worked as a security guard until he moved to Oakland in 1973. At that time he began his employment at the hospital as a radiology technologist. He has since received additional training in ultrasound and echocardiograms.

In 1976, Dever married Gail Nogle, who was working in the emergency room at the hospital at the time as an aide. They reside in Mtn. Lake Park with their two sons, Joseph 6, and Mark, 4.

Dever says he enjoys working at Garrett Memorial and has seen many changes and technical advances. "Thank the Lord we have progressed with the times," he said. "There is more available now to help diagnose medical situations and we are equipped to render the necessary service right here."

Being rather conservative and shy about being selected the May Employee of the Month, Dever states, "It is an honor and I am proud my name was entered as a candidate. I didn't expect it at all, but am happy it happened. I try to live my life as pleasing to the Lord, so I can enjoy my relationship with others to the fullest."

Beavers has been employed in the Maintenance Department at the hospital since December of 1981 as the second shift plant watchman. He was born in Keyser, W. Va., and has resided most of his life in Westernport. He is a graduate of Bruce High School, worked as a school bus driver and has had some dietary experience. He also holds a certificate in Nursing Assistant Training from Allegany Community College.

Currently residing in Westernport with his wife, Brenda, and son, Doug Jr., 4½, Beavers is active in the community as a volunteer fireman and has 14-plus years with the National Guard.

Beavers said he is "very excited" about being chosen Employee of the Month. He also gave credit to his supervisors and fellow workers by stating that if it wasn't for their support and encouragement "I never would have gotten where I am."

He said, "From Administration on down, everyone treats you special and makes the work more enjoyable."

As far as being selected as June Employee of the Month, Doug stated, "I think it's great to be recognized for one's efforts. I enjoy working with my co-workers and they help me perform to my peak, so I can be my best. My thanks go to them for showing me the ropes."

This boot loves to work overtime.

IN MEMORIAM

A Father's Day tribute to the memory of Charles Rush. The way he talked, the smile he wore, and all the thousand things so dear, we loved about him while he lived, haven't gone with him from here. They're planted deep in memory's garden, and watered with our tears. To keep them ever fresh and vivid, through all the coming years. So dearly loved and so sadly missed by his wife, children and grandchildren.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Jerri Jo Frazee, who passed away June 6, 1977.

A Dream: I dreamed a dream and you were there, a misty form yet real, I woke to find your lips, your touch, your tenderness, the feel of arms about me strong and kind, then I drifted off into a maze of dreams to hear your voice and clasp the hand of you. And if I never hear your voice nor feel your lips on mine or know your love accepted dreams until the end of time. Then I would ask that I be led in dreams to walk with you, and waking find you waiting when my journey here is through.

Summer School To Begin Tuesday At Garrett CC

Registrations are still being accepted for the Summer Semester at Garrett Community College, scheduled to begin Tuesday, June 18. Twenty-two courses on a wide variety of subjects will be offered for credit during the seven-week summer session, including many courses designed to prepare students planning to enter college fulltime in the fall.

Classes will run from June 18 through August 2, followed by final exams on August 5 and 6.

Registrations will be accepted during regular office hours through June 17, and until 6:30 p.m. June 18 and 19. The registrar's office will also be open from 8:15 to 9 a.m. on Saturday, June 22, prior to the first meeting of Saturday's classes.

For information on registration, placement testing, financial aid, or any aspect of college admission, persons may call 387-6666, or stop by either the McHenry or Oakland campus.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION OFFICERS for the 1985-86 school year at Garrett Community College were elected by members of the student body in May, following a lively campaign period that featured the use of posters and personal campaigning by the candidates. Pictured above seated are Spencer Schlosnagle, president; and Amy Tate, vice president. Standing are Natalie Vetter, left, secretary; and Lillie Jeffries, treasurer. The GCC Student Government Association allocates, controls, and spends its budget, which consists of the students' activity fees, on a variety of extra-curricular and student life activities, including functions such as concerts, picnics, dances, and musical events. Mike Friend, director of student services at GCC said, "We were pleased with the SGA elections this year. The involvement of the whole student body and the spirited campaigning made this year's elections the best ever. If the students' enthusiasm and involvement carry over to this fall, the SGA and Garrett's student body can look forward to a very productive year."

THE BASIC SKILLS NEEDED TO CATCH FISH on Deep Creek Lake will be the subject of a course on angling offered by the Garrett Community College Outdoor Education Department this summer. The course, which begins June 21, at 4 p.m. at the gym at GCC, will be taught by William Ferry, Kitzmiller. Ferry has logged over 35 years of experience with all kinds of fishing in all areas of the country. He has had three articles, including one on fishing the Savage River watershed, published in "The Outdoorsman" magazine, and is an experienced teacher of fly fishing, fly tying, and other fishing skills. Included in the course will be instruction on equipment, fish identification, fishing techniques, the care and preparation of fish for eating, and the assessment of weather conditions. The last item, weather, is a specialty of Ferry's who is a trained meterologist. Although a fishing license is not required to enroll in the course, one will be necessary to actually participate in fishing expeditions on the lake. To enroll in the course, persons may call or visit the Registrar's Office at the McHenry Campus. Enrollment is limited.

HORSEMANSHIP COURSE OFFERED — Persons interested in learning the basic skills needed to care for and ride horses will be offered that chance this summer in Horsemanship I, offered by the Outdoor Education Department at Garrett Community College. The class meets for seven Saturdays, beginning June 22 and ending August 2. Included in the course, which is also available in the fall semester, is instruction and practice in basic horsemanship skills such as grooming, tacking up the horse, mounting and dismounting, and riding at the walk, trot, and canter. Trail riding, proper position, and the basics of jumping are also included in the course. Pictured above are a former student from the class and Joan Sussman, instructor, who commented, "This class is a great way to gain experience before owning your first horse. It is also a good way to learn the basics of English horsemanship or to polish up on those skills if you already have some experience." To enroll in the course, persons should contact the registrar at GCC by calling 387-6666. Enrollment is limited.

SHOW AND TELL

Sanderson is cautious about his TV career

By Gregory Garver

William Sanderson

HOLLYWOOD — William Sanderson, the actor who plays Larry, one-third of the "Newhart" comedy trio Darryl, Darryl and Larry, is, as Sanderson likes to describe himself when it comes to his career, a "cautiously optimistic" man.

On the show's first season, Sanderson and his two colleagues appeared in only one "Newhart" episode. Last year, they appeared on four. This year, they filmed 13 shows, and got paid for 15. If they work a full season next year, it will not only mean greater exposure, but a bigger paycheck.

Meanwhile, the 37-year-old Memphis native goes about his business. And his business is acting. In his career, he's had a lot of lean periods, so he knows better than to sit back and wait. He works whenever he can, doing whatever comes along. He recently filmed two upcoming TV movies, "Streets of Malice" and "The Defiant Ones," a remake of the 1958 film classic. Also coming up is an appearance in the big-budget film "Black Moon Rising," starring Tommy Lee Jones.

Despite the lean periods, the actor has never regretted making one major career decision — quitting his law career even before it got started. He went through law school, but never took his bar exam because, as the years in college and law school went by, Sanderson became more and more interested in acting. After he graduated from law school, he went to New York to try his luck at acting, while most of his friends went to successful professional careers.

Sanderson studied with noted acting coach Herbert Berghof, and the budding thespian supported himself by tending bar. He studied and tended for six years; during that time, Sanderson estimates he appeared in more than 30 plays, mostly off-off-off-Broadway productions.

For a long time, Sanderson was jealous of the success of his childhood friends. But his success on "Newhart" has finally changed all that.

Quips the cautiously optimistic actor, "Now, they envy me."

'Gidget' co-star stays fit by staying active

By Renee Ross

Allison Barron

Don't call Allison Barron a beach bunny, even though she's co-starring as the niece of grown-up beach-lover Gidget in the syndicated TV movie "Gidget's Summer Reunion."

"I hate surfing!" says Miss Barron, 19. "I vowed I would never set foot on a surf board. But when this role came along, there were some scenes in which I was supposed to learn to surf, so I agreed. One thing that made it bearable was that my character has a hunk of a boyfriend, played by Vince Van Patten," the actress adds with a laugh.

It's no wonder Miss Barron prefers to remain high and dry on the shore. "During filming, an unexpected wave appeared," she recalls. "It slammed into me and the board, and I wound up being thrown in the sand. It was very scary, but luckily, I ended up with only a scraped leg. And I still never learned how to properly surf!"

She may feel she's a flop when it comes to gliding on top of waves, but give her a rink of frozen water, and Miss Barron turns into a pro. "I spent nine years as a competitive ice skater," says the New York City native whose acting career has her resettled — ironically for a landlubber — near California's Malibu shore.

"I've always been active," she recalls. "In addition to skating, I was a member of my high-school ski team. I participated in gymnastics and I loved to ride horses."

Miss Barron says that staying in shape for the camera has never been a problem. "I'm lucky," says the 5-foot-4, 103-pound actress, "because I exercise so much it counterbalances my weight." The actress also believes a sound diet is crucial to good health.

"I try to pick from the major food groups and I rarely eat red meat," she says. "Chicken, salads, fruits — they're all good. Eating right also helps keep my skin stay clear."

The actress shares the same philosophy when it comes to her career and health. "It's important to do what makes you happy, no matter how stupid it seems and how hard a struggle it is. Stick to your plans and you'll eventually see results."

ASK ME ABOUT TV

By Val Carew

Every Friday night, I am glued to the TV set because of one series: "Miami Vice." What can you tell me about the show's co-star, Olivia Brown? — T.C., Jackson, N.C.

Olivia Brown

The actress, who was born in Frankfurt, Germany, is the eldest of three children of a criminal lawyer. Miss Brown spent her childhood in Sacramento, Calif., where she hoped to be an interior decorator. However, in 1975, she won a national stand-up comedy contest.

Miss Brown worked for one week in the chorus of a Broadway show, then returned West as a dresser for the musical "I Do! I Do!" While looking for an agent, the actress worked as a waitress. Her first big break was when she was cast as Eddie Murphy's girlfriend in "48 Hrs." Miss Brown has also appeared in the film "Streets of Fire" and several TV shows. She starred as a police informant in three episodes of "Hill Street Blues." She is married to actor Mykel T. Williamson and the couple live in Santa Monica, Calif.

In what other shows has "Remington Steele" star Pierce Brosnan appeared? I think I've seen him before. — G.J., Elkhart, Ind.

The Irish-born actor's first TV appearance was in the 1978 British drama "Murphy's Stroke." In 1981, he starred as Rory Manion in "The Manions of America." He also starred as Robert Gould Shaw in the British miniseries "Nancy Astor."

CINDY SAYS

It was Jack's 'Honor' to pig out on pasta

By Cindy Adams

NEW YORK — Jack Nicholson gained 31 1/2 pounds for "Prizzi's Honor," the new film in which he plays a fat, sweaty, beefy, overweight, heavily-muscled hit man.

Jack Nicholson

Jack loves pasta. He cooks it. He eats it. He's crazier for linguini than he is for girlfriend (and "Prizzi's Honor" co-star) Anjelica Huston. To gain the needed girth, Jack ate out every night for one month, stuffing his face in restaurants throughout Brooklyn, Manhattan and Greenwich Village.

To shed the flab, the actor spent three weeks crash-dieting in Aspen — where they know granola, but don't know rigatoni. It worked. Sort of. Jack's now semi-skinny.

Flying home from Europe, solo, dragging his bag behind him, unrecognized by every human on the 747, was Harrison Ford. Maybe no one recognized him because he had a crew cut. Listen, even Samson blew it a bit when he got his tresses trimmed. ... Marianna Borg, ex-wife of tennis star Bjorn Borg, has netted a good deal: Jean-Pierre Marsan. How good is he with a racquet? Who knows. What I do know is that he's from one of the richest families in Monte Carlo.

Patrick Wayne is tall, dark, gorgeous, everything you'd expect the movie-star son of John Wayne to be. He's also in love. Her name is Shari Norris, tall, blonde, gorgeous, everything you'd expect a Texas cattle broker to be. "I asked Shari to marry me," reveals Patrick. "She said, 'We'll talk.'"

Patrick Wayne

"Dad didn't leave me any big inheritance," adds Patrick, "so I have to work. I'd love to be on Broadway. Maybe then I could afford New York. It's the only town I've ever been in where a hamburger costs 12 bucks."

SOAP OPERA WEEK

Soap star tackles role after intense research

By Kimberly Redmond

Michael Catlin does a great job portraying the handicapped Dr. Thomas McCandless on "Capitol." Does the actor walk with crutches in real life? — G.H., Greenwill, Tenn.

Catlin does not use crutches in real life. The actor has done a great deal of research and observing of handicapped people, and he has learned to perfect his walk. He has become close friends with a disabled man who coached him on the use of crutches. Catlin says he hopes that "Capitol" will help people break down the barriers that exist between the non-handicapped and the handicapped.

Michael Catlin

Could you tell me how Dorian Callison and Vicky Buchanan are related to Larry Wolek on "One Life to Live"? I'm confused about this relationship. — W.C., Lineville, Ala.

Dorian Lord Callison married Vicky Buchanan's father, Victor Lord. This makes Dorian Vicky's stepmother. Larry Wolek was married to Vicky's younger sister Meredith, who died from a cerebral hemorrhage. Does this help?

Whatever happened to the blonde actress who portrayed Dee Stewart on "As The World Turns" a few years back? — R.S., Jamestown, N.Y.

Larry Bryggman

Several blonde actresses have portrayed Dee Stewart, so I'll assume you are referring to Jacqueline Schultz. Miss Schultz married her "ATWT" co-star Larry Bryggman (John Dixon) shortly after she left the soap. The actress has been doing commercials and performing in theatrical productions since her "ATWT" departure.

(Have a question about soap operas? Write Kimberly Redmond at 200 Park Ave., Room 662, New York, NY 10166. Questions cannot be answered personally but those of general interest will be answered in future columns.)

State Fire Marshal Warns Against Use Of Illegal Fireworks

Maryland State Fire Marshal Rocco J. Gabriele this week issued a warning to the citizens throughout Maryland against using or possessing illegal fireworks.

Fireworks, such as firecrackers, bottle rockets, cherry bombs, roman candles, and smoke grenades, are considered illegal to use or possess in the State of Maryland. Only gold label sparklers are legal for persons to use in Maryland.

According to Gabriele, "Of particular concern to us at the present time, is the quantity of illegal fireworks that are being bought through mail order catalogs and are being shipped and distributed in Maryland by common carriers. These 'bootlegged' fireworks may cause significant injury problems, particularly if used by persons not familiar with the proper ways to discharge and dispose of fireworks."

If a persons is found possessing or using illegal fireworks, the fireworks will be confiscated by the State Fire Marshal's Office and the violator criminally charged. The penalty for possessing or discharging fireworks is a fine of $250. The maximum penalty for anyone caught selling illegal fireworks is a fine of $1,000.

Sanudo Selected To Serve MACo

Edwin D. McGee, president of the Maryland Association of Counties, announced this week that Raquel Sanudo has been selected from among over 80 applicants as the association's new executive director, effective July 15, 1985.

McGee said, "Mrs. Sanudo comes to the association with a varied background including administrative, legislative, local government, association, and organizational experience. Most recently, her activities with Howard County government have enabled her to work closely with MACo and to assure a leadership role with the association's officers."

Sanudo, a native New Yorker, has been a resident of Maryland since 1965 and presently resides with her husband, Vince, and two children, Renee and Vince, in Howard County. A graduate cum laude of the University of Maryland, she is fluent in Spanish.

She replaces Althea "Tee" O'Connor who has been the executive director since August, 1981, and has resigned from the association for personal reasons.

Sanudo said, "I am looking forward to working with each of the county commissioners, county council persons, chief elected officials and staff of the 23 counties and the City of Baltimore, along with the MACo staff to implement the association's goals and objectives."

Italian Festival Set In Frostburg

The Vicki Via Dotson Memorial Leukemia Foundation is planning an Italian Festival in the city of Frostburg in order to raise funds for the Foundation. The festival is scheduled for July 6 from noon to 7:00 p.m. in downtown Frostburg, according to Publicity Chairman Joseph DeMarino.

The Vicki Via Dotson Foundation is the largest leukemia fund-raiser in the United Sates. In five years $181,000 has been raised by the Foundation. Seventy percent of the money raised by the Foundation goes to support research, and thirty percent is kept locally to help families of leukemia victims in the tri-state area. These funds are primarily used to assist these families with food, lodging and traveling expenses.

Delbert Payton, director of the Frostburg Parks and Recreation Department, will be in charge of building and setting up the booths for the festival which will be located in the area bordered by Broadway, Water, Ormand and Main Streets. The motto for the festival will be "City Alive in '85."

Booths will sell specialty items such as Italian food. In keeping with the Italian Festival theme, wine and cheese will be served instead of beer. Tickets can be purchased at one booth and then used at any of the other booths.

The Senior Citizens building will be used as an Italian Restaurant.

There will be prizes and games for children as well as for adults.

It has been suggested that perhaps Thrasher's Museum could provide buggy rides in the area between Main Street and the old Frost Mansion.

Some streets in the festival area will be closed to motor vehicle traffic, according to William Davis, Frostburg Mayor. However, to accommodate motorists who plan to park and attend the festival, the City of Frostburg will offer free parking on Main Street on the day of the festival.

Italian street music and other entertainment is planned.

For more information, persons may contact Jones at 222 McCulloh St., Frostburg, MD, 21532; telephone (301) 689-4195 or (301) 689-6042.

Elderly Said To Benefit From New Legislation

"Maryland's elderly population can view with pride and satisfaction the legislation recently enacted to promote their interest and well-being," said Rosalie S. Abrams, director of the State Office on Aging, as Governor Harry Hughes completed the signing of bills in Annapolis this week.

Among the most significant measures enacted are legislation that:

•Exempts Social Security; benefits (taxable under Federal law) from State income tax.

•Requires reporting and investigation by health and human service providers and law enforcement officers of cases of suspected abuse of vulnerable elderly persons.

•Authorizes the State Office on Aging to more closely monitor the financial soundness of Continuing Care facilities—an increasingly popular type of retirement community—as added consumer protection for prospective residents.

•Allows persons to formally make known in advance whether or not they wish to have extraordinary lifesustaining medical procedures applied when they reach the stage of terminal illness (sometimes referred to as a "Living Will").

•Increases funding for transportation of the elderly and handicapped.

•Provides States bond funds to increase elderly rental housing.

In addition, the Governor included in his 1986 budget additional funds to support the operation and improvement of Senior Centers and to increase the personal needs allowance of nursing home residents receiving medical assistance.

"Thanks to the commitment of Governor Hughes, the efforts of many concerned legislators, and the vigorous activities of senior citizens and their advocates," Mrs. Abrams said, "large strides have been made in improving the quality of life of our State's elderly. They are the fastest-growing segment of our population and helping them live out their lives with dignity and independence, as these measures do, is in the best interest of all of us."

Red House Staff, Students, Parents Present Circus

A Circus, starring the staff and students of Red House School, was hosted by the Red House PTA on Monday evening, May 20. The program, a culminating activity for art, music, physical education, and classroom instruction, was under the direction of Maggie Mullich, art teacher, and Sandra Nesline, Teacher Coordinator/Extended Elementary Education Program.

"We have wanted to have an activity such as the Circus for several years," said Mrs. Nesline, "as a reflection of the curriculum and an integration of all aspects of the students' elementary program."

Circus acts were performed by students from pre-kindergarten through Grade 5, and included: gymnastics, juggling, stilt walking and Double Dutch jump roping; original poetry, skits, pantomime, math facts, choral reading and vocabulary; as well as band and choral music. Physical education acts were under the direction of Oren Yoder, and musical numbers were directed by Daniel Taylor with accompaniment by Wilma Cooper, a grandparent volunteer.

The cafetorium and school hallways were decorated with children's art work, as well as murals painted by parent volunteers. All children were costumed, and face painting for clowns was done by Ms. Mullich and a group of parents.

Parent volunteers were an integral part of the Circus program, and are representative of the strong parent involvement at the Red House School, according to Mrs. Nesline. The parent program has been fostered under the guidelines of the Extended Elementary Education Program for the past three years, under the direction of Mrs. Nesline and Ms. Mullich.

Mrs. Nesline said that parents helping to make the Circus a success were: Wilma Cooper, Bunny Shank, Amy Rolf, Sherry Ware, Rosemary Alexander, Sandra Moreland, Mary Hall, Carol McRobie, Sharon Corbin, Loretta Stoner, JoDella Stahl, Alician Geroski and Jane Moreland.

HOORAY FOR DAD!

Moms get a little more overall public recognition, daughters get the oo's and ah's by being pretty and sweet, and sons get the cheers for being handsome and well mannered. But, Dad is usually just taken for granted like the Rock of Gibralter or the Bank of England. Good "old" Dad is about the best he receives.

However, when the chips are down everyone turns to father. This is especially true when there is an illness in the family. Somehow, when Dad calls or comes into our pharmacy to pick-up a prescription, we get the feeling that everything is going to turn out all right.

"A GREAT MANY PEOPLE ENTRUST US with their prescriptions, health needs and other pharmacy products. We consider this trust a privilege and a duty. May we be your personal family pharmacy?"

Father and son . . . exploring the wonders of nature . . . sharing secrets . . . discovering some of the many mysteries of life.

Dads come in mighty handy when a youngster faces a problem he can't solve or cope with.

Everyone recalls the pleasant days of childhood — how that warm, comfortable feeling enveloped you whenever Dad slipped his hand around your shoulder.

Why don't you on this Father's Day, express your love to your dad by attending a church or synagogue with him. It will surely be a memorable day for both of you.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

GETTING GOD ON YOUR SIDE
June 16, 1985

Background Scripture:
Amos 3:13-15; 5:18-20; 6:1-7; 8:7-12.

Devotional Reading:
Amos 7:1-9.

The people of Israel prayed earnestly for the "Day of the Lord," perhaps just as you and I daily pray, "Thy kingdom come."

And, like us, they thought they knew that for which they were praying. In the past, the "Day of the Lord" was a reference to those times when God had acted to save Israel from her enemies. So, the "Day of the Lord" for which they prayed was to be another time of salvation for Israel, as well as a day of judgement for her enemies.

DARKNESS, NOT LIGHT

The reason that Israel could pray so earnestly for the "Day of the Lord" and God's divine judgement was that they knew God was on their side. It was only those on the "other side" that needed to fear the judgement of God -- so they thought.

Can you imagine, therefore, how upset they were when Amos came with these startling tidings:

> Woe to you who desire the day of the Lord! Why would you have the day of the Lord? It is darkness, and not light.

Praying for the "Day of the Lord" is a mistake! It will bring terror, not justification, weeping, not laughing for the people of Israel. Although they prayed for this "Day," says Amos, they did not really understand what it is all about.

The "Day of the Lord," as Amos understands God revealing it to him, is going to be a judgement for all nations and peoples, not just the enemies of Israel. All evil, not just that of Israel's enemies, will be judged by God -- and that includes the evil which God perceived to reside in the midst of his chosen people:

> Woe to those who are at ease in Zion, and to those who feel secure on the mountain of Samaria... Therefore they shall now be the first of those to go into exile... (6:1, 7)

ON GOD'S SIDE

Actually, the people of Israel, according to Amos, have gotten it all wrong. The question is not, "Is God on our side?", but "Are we on God's side?" And when God through Amos examines the life of Israel it is obvious that he finds, despite their heritage and their pretensions, that the people are not on God's side. They are not living by his rules or by his spirit. They cheat, lie, steal, oppress the poor and the helpless -- and because they do these things and more they cannot possibly be on his side.

So, when the "Day of the Lord" comes, it will be a day of reckoning for them as well as their enemies: "I will turn your feasts into mourning, and all your songs into lamentation" (8:10). If, before that day they do not live by his commandments, then on that day they will not be able to claim him to be on their side, not even for them to be on his side.

Whose side are you on?

A reborn Dirk Benedict enjoys his star status

By Gillian George

Dirk Benedict

The most famous "mouth" on "The A-Team" is undoubtedly Mr. T. But you don't have to be around Dirk Benedict long before finding out that he's as outspoken as his burly co-star.

"There's a good reason for that," says Benedict, between puffs of a cigar. The actor plays Templeton "Face" Peck on the NBC series. "Nine years ago, I was told by three top specialists that I would die of cancer of the prostate gland unless I had surgery and chemotherapy. If you get that kind of scare when you're only 29 and you survive, you learn one thing -- time and breath are precious. You just don't waste either being mealy-mouthed."

The story of how Benedict survived his death sentence and ultimately received a clean bill of health from his doctor is as dramatic as an episode of his series. After refusing to have surgery, the actor turned to Gloria Swanson, the actress with whom he starred on Broadway in "Butterflies are Free."

"I went to a macrobiotic nutritionist Gloria recommended," Benedict recalls, "and he put me on a very strict diet of whole grains, vegetables and fruits. Just to make sure I wouldn't be tempted to disturb the pure cycle, I went into seclusion."

He takes another puff of the cigar. "I was reborn in that little cabin," he says. "I started reflecting on what Hollywood fame meant to me. I had gotten lucky at the beginning, but then I went downhill.

"I realized that if I was going to really make it, I would have to turn myself in to a marketable commodity. So I hired a backup team consisting of a publicist, a manager and an agent. It must have been the right way to go," the actor adds with a smile, "because look at me now.

"I enjoy what I'm doing on 'The A-Team' and I have a lot of fun with the character. The series has been a tremendous boost to my career," the actor says, "and being a celebrity in America means I can do virtually anything I want. If I murder somebody, Norman Mailer will write a book about me."

Dropping the temporary ferocity, Benedict admits that he's presently living an ideal life. He shares a luxurious house in Sherman Oaks with his girlfriend, Toni Hudson, and flies his own Cessna 182. "Best of all," Benedict adds, "I ain't afraid of nuthin' now that I've licked the Big C."

MISSING — Have you seen this little girl, pictured left, or the van shown above? Eight-year-old Cherrie Ann Mahan was abducted near Kittanning, Pa. February 22. The artist's sketch of the van is one described by witnesses that could be involved in the abduction. Reportedly, several Garrett County citizens have seen a van in the area over the past few months that resembles the vehicle. A $20,000 reward for the safe return or arrest and conviction of the person(s) involved in the abduction is being offered by the friends and neighbors of the girl. Cherrie is 4 feet, 2 inches tall, weighs 68 pounds, and has brown hair and hazel eyes. When abducted, she was wearing a grey coat, blue denim skirt, blue leg warmers, white leotards and ankle high boots. The van is said to be blue or green with a mountain scene on the passenger's side. There was also a small blue vehicle seen in the area. Anyone with any information should contact the Pennsylvania State Police at 412-284-8100.

Tips For Staying Alive In Summer Thunderstorms

LOUD JACK -

POSTER CONTEST WINNERS — Allegany Hearing and Speech Associates recently sponsored a poster contest as part of the observance of Better Hearing and Speech Month last month. The focus of the observance and the poster contest was on prevention of hearing loss and public awareness of hearing problems in the community. The first and second place winners of the poster contest were both students from Northern Middle School. In the photo, left to right, are Cindy Stanton, second place winner, who was presented a check for $15; Pam Martin, clinical audiologist for Allegany Hearing and Speech Associates; and Terry Broadwater, first place winner, who received a check for $35. Not present for the photo was Ralph Miller, Northern Middle School art instructor.

Thunderstorm season is upon us with loud cracks of thunder sounding and flashes of lightning splitting the night sky. Many of us become frightened during storms and hide in the cellar, stay out of open doorways, avoid taking a shower or running water, stay away from pets (animals are said to have oil in the hair which attracts lightning), or go sit in the car until the storm is over. Just how much danger are we really in during a storm, and what can we do to avoid becoming one of the 109 average lightning deaths per year?

According to the National Weather Service, a typical bolt of lightning contains 250 kilowatts of electrical power, enough to run a modern home for a week or two. However, it is often easier to avoid death from lightning than from more dramatic disasters such as earthquakes, floods or tornadoes.

A spokesman for the National Weather Service advises us to get indoors when an electric storm is brewing,"basically, people who work or recreate outdoors are the victims," he said.

An automobile is relatively safe, not because it has rubber tires, but because the current will spread all over the vehicle's steel frame, evening out the voltage. The automobile acts as a metallic cage, shielding the person inside from the voltage difference. To get a shock, there must be a difference in voltage between two points, explains Charles R. Westgate, professor of electrical engineering at the Johns Hopkins University.

The car, in effect, becomes a "Faraday cage," the Hopkins engineer said, giving it the name of the British scientist, Michael Faraday, whose experiments with electricity and magnetism brought about important advances in nineteenth century physics.

A Texas family's tragic accident demonstrated the Faraday cage principle several years ago. According to Westgate, the five family members were riding along a road in a pickup truck. Lightning struck the truck. The parents, riding up front in the steel-roofed cab, survived. Their three children, in the open bed of the pickup, were killed.

Thoughtlessness often plays a part in lightning deaths and injuries. Golfers and others caught in a storm often run under the shelter of a tree, the most dangerous place to be. Many people have been killed when lightning struck a tree.

There have been fewer deaths from lightning since 1982 than the average of 109 per year which held for two decades. Only 67 deaths were reported in 1982 and 77 were reported in 1983, the last year that records are available.

No lightning deaths were reported in Maryland in 1984, and two people in the state were killed in 1983.

The National Weather Service has some tips to help keep the death toll down this summer.

Avoid using the telephone in a thunderstorm.

Don't take a shower or use other metal plumbing fixtures that conduct electricity.

If caught in an open field, drop to your knees and bend forward, putting your hands on your knees. Do not lie flat on the ground and thereby spread the risk of being struck. Move away from tractors or other farm equipment.

If caught in a forest, seek shelter under a thick growth of small trees, not under tall trees, which can be natural lightning rods.

Stay away from clotheslines, wire fences and metal pipes.

Bankruptcies In Maryland Down

Business bankruptcies in Maryland declined by 6.5 percent in 1984 as compared with 1983, the U.S. Small Business Administration said this week.

J. Arnold Feldman, director of SBA's office in Baltimore, said the bankruptcy decline reflected the favorable economic conditions in Maryland.

Bankruptcies in Maryland totaled 446 during 1984; in 1983, the total was 477.

Feldman said, "Business bankruptcies reflect only a relatively small portion of small businesses that cease operations in any one year. Most small firms go out of business by simply closing their doors."

The SBA study showed there were 63,378 business bankruptcies in the country last year, compared with 61,612 in 1983 and a record 68,447 in 1982.

Feldman said the study showed that business bankruptcies declined in about half of the states. He said the declines were most widespread in the Northeast, the Middle Atlantic States and the Far West. On the other hand, bankruptcies rose sharply in the Farm Belt, where farmers and farm-related businesses face declining prices and sales. Bankruptcies also rose in the Pacific Northwest, where the fishing and lumber industries have not shared fully in the nation's overall economic health.

Gospelaires Among Concert Performers

Among the gospel music groups slated to perform at the Annual Gospel Spring Concert at Union Grove Campground, Mason Road, Cumberland, on Sunday, June 16, is the Mt. Top Gospelaires, of Garrett County.

Persons are invited to bring a basket supper and spend the afternoon and evening. Other groups scheduled to perform are Faith, Gospel Sounds, Lowery Family, Short Gap, and Ullery Family. There will be a free will offering collected.

Bringing 'redneck rock' to public television

By Marta Tarbell

Ricky Skaggs

When Terry Lickona moved to Texas 10 years ago, he knew he wanted to live in Austin.

"I'd been there on vacation and I'd fallen in love with the place. It's a great city," reminisces the 36-year-old producer of "Austin City Limits," the weekly music show that brings "redneck rock" to PBS stations across the country.

So Lickona quit his job at an FM radio station in Poughkeepsie, N.Y., where he had been a disc jockey for eight years, "playing rock 'n' roll, country and everything in between," and headed for the Lone Star State. "A very hot music scene was brewing," he recalls. And "Austin City Limits" got stirred up along with it.

After Willie Nelson agreed to appear on the show's pilot, "all the other elements came together," says Lickona. Soon "Austin City Limits," which is now in its 11th year of production, was alive and kicking.

The success of the show, which features the music of such artists as Neil Young, the Oak Ridge Boys and Ricky Skaggs, is due to its low-key we're-all-in-this-together appeal. "The music we showcase is uniquely American," explains Lickona. "That's why people tune us in."

Yet Lickona admits that the show's down-home demeanor can also cause an image problem. "It's no secret that most PBS broadcasting is done on either the East or West Coast," he says. "It's been hard to convince executives that a little old country music show from Austin deserves to be on PBS."

But burgeoning sales figures for the show are beginning to convince even the most dubious executives. "We've been strong in the South and West for 10 years," says Lickona. "California has always been a real strong audience, and in the last two or three years, the audience has grown significantly in the upper central and eastern United States.

"We appeal to a grass-roots kind of audience," Lickona adds. "And I think that, rather than an elitist cultural service, that's what public television ought to be."

FOUR YOUNG PEOPLE were confirmed as members of St. Mark's Lutheran Church during the regular worship service on May 28, having completed a series of catechism instruction. Pictured left to right are Rev. Ray Ursin, pastor; Steve Glotfelty, Rob Sharps, Scott Clever, and Christine Bittinger, newly confirmed members; and Dave Terlizzi, who assisted Rev. Ursin in the instruction. The service was followed by a time of fellowship and refreshments on the front lawn at the church.

HELPING GOVERNOR HUGHES make the decision to veto the steep slope mining bill last week were two former members of the Maryland House of Delegates and the president of the Maryland Coalition on Surface Mining. Pictured left to right are DeCorsey Bolden and B.O. Aiken, former delegates, who participated in the making of a film video on the dangers of steep slope mining which they presented to the governor. Also assisting in the effort was Dr. Wayne Spiggle, president of the Coalition. The background of the photo is area alongside U.S. Route 48 where dirt slides have repeatedly occurred, forcing closure of that section of the highway near Friendsville for repairs. Bolden stated that this was a good example of the potential damage that could occur from steep slope mining. He said that if state highway engineers cannot control dirt and mud slides on such slopes, then it is unlikely that surface coal miners can do so. Governor Hughes vetoed the bill last week, which had the full support of most of the western Maryland delegation.

Military Retirees Now Eligible For Tax Withholding

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein says he has entered into a tentative agreement with the U.S. Department of Defense to provide for the withholding of Maryland state income taxes from the pension checks of nearly 40,000 military retirees living in Maryland. The permanent agreement should be signed later this summer.

"This is a great convenience to those individuals receiving retirement pay from both the regular and reserve components of the 'Uniformed Services'," Goldstein said. "It means many of these individuals will no longer be required to file quarterly estimated tax returns, after the June 15, 1985 payment."

The comptroller said his office has received numerous inquiries from military retirees since Congress enacted the provision permitting the withholding earlier this year. "We moved as quickly as possible to take advantage of the opportunity to provide this service to our taxpayers," he said, "however, it is up to the individual to contact the finance center for the branch of service from which he or she retired and request the withholding of Maryland taxes. The Comptroller's Office cannot initiate the withholding."

The request sent to respective finance centers should include the retiree's full name, social security number, the fixed amount to be withheld monthly, the state for which the tax is being withheld and the current address of the retiree. The request must be signed by the retiree or, in the case of an incompetent, by a guardian or trustee. The amount to be withheld must be in even dollar amounts and cannot be less than $10 per month.

Taxpayers can approximate the amount that should be withheld monthly by converting the amount they are currently paying on a quarterly basis to a monthly payment.

The term "Uniformed Services" refers to the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, Commissioned Corps of the Public Health Service and the Commissioned Corps of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

Goldstein noted that the latest action means that military retirees living in Maryland will now have the same opportunity as federal civil service retirees, who became eligible for withholding of their state tax obligations in 1977.

"Maryland was the first state to take advantage of the opportunity for withholding from federal civil service retirement payments and we are among the first to offer this convenience to retirees from the 'Uniformed Services'," he said.

The addresses of the finance centers retirees must contact to request the new withholding is as follows:

Army: Commanding Officer, U.S. Army Finance and Accounting Center, (Department 90), Indianapolis, Indiana 46249.

Navy: Commanding Officer, Navy Finance Center (Code 301), Anthony J. Celebrezze Federal Building, Cleveland, Ohio 44199.

Air Force: Commander, Air Force Accounting and Finance Center, Attn: RP, Denver, Colorado 80279.

Marine Corps: Commanding Officer, (CPR) Marine Corps Finance Center, Kansas City, Missouri 64197.

Coast Guard: Commanding Officer (Retired), U.S. Coast Guard Pay and Personnel Center, 444 S.E. Quincy Street, Topeka, Kansas 66683.

Public Health Service: U.S. Public Health Service, Compensation Branch, 5600 Fisher Lane (Room 4-50), Rockville, Maryland 20857.

National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration: Commanding Officer, Navy Finance Center (Code 301), Anthony J. Celebreeze Federal building, Cleveland, Ohio 44199.

Goldstein Advises S&L Customers On Estimated Payments

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein says the state income taxes division and the savings and loan hotline are receiving numerous inquiries from customers of state chartered savings and loans institutions about their June 15, 1985 estimated tax payments.

"Taxpayers whose funds are tied up in these savings and loan institutions should file their 2nd quarter estimated tax form by June 15, 1985 and pay what they can," Goldstein said. "A taxpayer who cannot pay the entire amount due should note on the tax form that their's is a savings and loan case and write the name of the savings and loan on the form as well."

Goldstein advised taxpayers that they would not be penalized as long as they make up the 2nd quarter under payment on their 3rd and 4th quarterly payments, due September 15, 1985 and January 15, 1986, respectively.

Approximately 100,000 Maryland taxpayers make quarterly estimated payments of state income taxes, although it is not known how many are affected by the savings and loan situation.

Estimated tax payments are made by individuals who have income not subject to withholding.

VOLUNTEERS HONORED — A number of parent volunteers at the Friendsville Elementary School were recognized May 28 at the annual Parent Volunteer Luncheon for their having contributed 2,308 hours of assistance with a variety of school activities and projects throughout the past school year. The volunteer program is sponsored under the Extended Elementary Education Program and Chapter I, and is coordinated by Sandra Nesline, teacher/coordinator for EEEP; Barbara Flinn, Chapter I resource teacher; and Frances King, Chapter I aide. In the photo, left to right, front row are volunteers Linda Workman, Laurna Savage, Nancy Wakefield, Sharon Hoover, and Sara Sines. In the second row, same order, are Lou Ann Sines, Sandy Nedrow, Vickie Schroyer, Betty McCarty, and Phyllis Kahl. Ms. Hoover, Ms. Schroyer, and Ms. Wakefield donated 366, 271, and 248-plus hours of time, respectively. The other volunteers donated at least 50 hours. Ms. Workman, Ms. Schroyer, Ms. Hoover, and Darlene Schmidt (not pictured) were also recognized by the Maryland State Department of Education for having each donated over 400 hours of time at Friendsville School.

RECEPTION HELD — The Broad Ford Elementary School P.T.A. sponsored a reception May 28 to honor Wayne Johnson, principal, who will retire this year. Guest speakers for the occasion were Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, county school superintendent; Dr. William Buser, former county school superintendent, and Lewis Domenick, former teacher and director of personnel for the school board. Above, Dave Koon, left, P.T.A. president, presents Wayne Johnson a golf bag and golf equipment as a gift from the organization. Standing by to present another gift is Eva Clary, P.T.A. secretary. Johnson has worked in the county school system for 27 years, first as a teacher. He has served as a school principal for 12 years in the county, first serving as principal for Center Street Elementary School and Oak Street Kindergarten and then for Broad Ford when it opened. Johnson and other retiring administrators, teachers and other employees will be honored at a dinner hosted by the county Board of Education Friday evening at Silver Tree Inn.

Pest Control Group Offering Mr. Yuk Labels

June is National Pest Control Month and the Maryland Pest Control Association (MPCA) has brought back Mr. Yuk to help the celebration. Free Mr. Yuk stickers are available to persons sending a self-addressed stamped Number 10 sized envelope to MPCA, 3834 Falls Road, Baltimore, Maryland 21211.

Mr. Yuk is the little fellow sticking his tongue out and making a nasty face to warn children of a dangerous substance. The label also contains the telephone number of the Maryland Poison Control Center. Parents are urged to place the labels on all household chemicals that may be in the reach of youngsters.

Bernard Koman, president of MPCA, said, "Our members are once again making available these labels as a public service to draw attention to the need for the careful handling of substances which are helpful when used properly but can be dangerous if when misused. We believe that this is an appropriate way to bring the public's attention to national pest Control month and the members of our Association who are pledged to proper application of pesticides, and good business practices."

Koman noted that Pest Control is often taken for granted, "but that the industry has vastly improved the quality of life for our citizens and is vital to the health and welfare of our country."

. . . AND THE TOWER CAME TUMBLING DOWN — The WAIJ radio tower, located in Grantsville, fell to the ground sometime late Sunday night or early Monday morning when vandals used a hacksaw to cut through a set of guy wires attached to the 320 foot tower. WAIJ, a Christian broadcasting station which relies solely on listener contributions, is expected to be back in operation sometime today with a temporary antenna that will provide a limited transmitting power. The 10,000 watt station normally serves the tri-state area, reaching Johnstown, Pa., Pittsburgh, Pa. and Morgantown, W. Va. The owner and president of the broadcasting company, He's Alive, Inc., Rev. Dewayne Johnson, is offering a reward of $1,000 for information leading to the arrest of the vandals in the case. Crime Solvers is also offering a reward of up to $1,000 for information leading to the arrest and indictment of the criminals in this case. Cpl. M.R. Mattingly of the Maryland State Police is investigating and reported that there are no suspects in the case at this time.

WAIJ Radio Tower Downed, Vandals Sought

A 320-foot radio tower owned by the Christian broadcasting station, WAIJ, was downed by vandals late Sunday night or early Sunday morning, according to reports filed by the Maryland State Police. Cpl. M. R. Mattingly is handling the investigation and said yesterday, "We have no suspects in the case at this time."

The incident occurred when vandals used a hacksaw to cut through a set of guy wires on the east side of the tower that supported the structure. An informed source said it was apparent to him that the culprits first attempted to forceably remove the cotter pins which secure the cables to the supporting cement blocks, but the tension of the cables held the pins secure.

Rev. Ray Beahm, secretary-treasurer of the broadcasting company, He's Alive Inc., said station officials observed that the keys which hold the pins secure were gone and that the pins had been partially driven out. He estimated the culprits were at the site from one-half to two hours.

Neighbors reported they were not aware of any activity at the time of the offense. The closest house to the tower is approximately 400 yards away.

According to station secretary, Clarice Slaupaw, the $29,000 tower and transformer at the 10,000-watt FM station sustained over $60,000 worth of damages. Part of the damage occurred when the refrigerator-sized transformer, enclosed in a small building, was pulled up against the ceiling as the tower fell, due to a large, hollow cable which connected the tower and the transformer. The cable then snapped, causing the transformer to fall back to the floor of the building. She said although there was no visible damage, the device will have to be checked thoroughly for interior damage.

Reportedly, the tower hit the ground with between 2,000 and 3,000 pounds of pressure. Rev. Beahm said the tower is covered by insurance and that their insurance company is prepared to replace the original cost of the tower.

Ms. Slaupaw told reporters Wednesday that the owner of the station, Rev. Dewayne Johnson is offering a $1,000 reward for information leading to the arrest of the vandals. Rev. Johnson is also president of He's Alive, Inc. Garrett County Crime Solvers is also offering a reward of up to $1,000 for information leading to the apprehension and arrest of the criminals in this case. Rev. Johnson may be reached at 895-3292. The number for Crime Solvers is 334-3111.

"Although it will take six to eight weeks to re-erect the tower," Slaupaw said, "we are

Grantsville Man Charged In Child Abuse, Sex Case

A Grantsville man has been arrested and charged with second-degree rape, a third-degree sexual offense, child abuse, and assault and battery committed against an 11-year-old female juvenile.

John E. Wilburn, 39, Grantsville, was arrested by Deputy Richard Kutchman Tuesday following a three-month investigation in conjunction with the Garrett County Department of Social Services. The incident allegedly occurred in March of this year.

At a bond hearing before Garrett County District Court Judge Jack Turney on Tuesday afternoon, Wilburn's bail was set at $50,000. He remains incarcerated in the Garrett County Jail in lieu of property or cash bond.

Trustees Praise Administration, Discuss GCC Manpower Study

The Board of Trustees of Garrett Community College announced Wednesday, following a closed session Tuesday evening, that it continues to "place full confidence in the administration of the College."

Pat Fischetti, chairman of the Board of Trustees, appointed a committee at Tuesday's meeting which included Richard Browning, William Grant, Kathie Smith, and President Randall Harman, to consider the possibility of retaining an outside consulting firm to conduct a manpower study throughout the College, and to assist in the revision of the College's personnel manual.

Harman stated, "The time has come for the administration, the faculty, and the staff at GCC to commit themselves to a common goal - the growth and development of our college. Since this is a goal I know we all share, we can get on with the business of educating Garrett County's citizens."

GNB Bankshares, LTC Bancorp Announce Plans To Consolidate

In a joint statement released today, the Boards of Directors of GNB Bankshares, Inc., Oakland, and LTC Bancorp, Cumberland, announced that tentative approval has been granted by both Boards to pursue the formation of a multi-bank holding company, which would consolidate these two corporations.

GNB Bankshares, Inc. is a one-bank holding company and the parent company of Garrett National Bank, a national banking association with assets of $95,500,000 as of June 14, 1985. Garrett National Bank maintains its main office in Oakland and currently has seven banking offices in Garrett County and two in Allegany County. LTC Bancorp is also a one-bank holding company and parent corporation of Liberty Bank of Maryland, a state chartered bank and Community Finance, Inc., a state chartered consumer loan company with combined assets of $120,803,000 as of June 14, 1985. The Executive Offices of LTC Bancorp are located in Cumberland with eight banking offices in Allegany County and one in Garrett County.

James H. Feaster, Jr., Chairman of the Board of GNB Bankshares, Inc. and William Walsh, Chairman of the Board of LTC Bancorp, issued a statement explaining that the proposed consolidation would result in stockholders of both corporations becoming stockholders of the proposed multi-bank holding company. Garrett National Bank and Liberty Bank would both be owned by the new corporation, however, there would be no major change in structure or operation of either bank since both would continue to operate independently with their current directors and officers. The Board of Directors of the new corporation will be the existing boards of both holding companies at the time of consummation of the transaction.

It was stated that the proposed consolidation would provide numerous benefits to both organizations. "Since the financial services industry today demands increased flexibility and diversity from financial institutions in order to satisfy the needs of their customers, the increased strength and size of the proposed corporation will provide both organizations with greater financial and human resources to meet the challenges of the future," stated a Board spokesman. "As the two existing corporations are very similar in size and structure, the consolidation will provide banking customers of Western Maryland with a stronger, more diversified financial corporation with 18 banking offices, located throughout Garrett and Allegany counties."

It was further stated that the process would begin immediately to finalize the various aspects of the proposed consolidation, obtain the required approval of the appropriate regulatory agencies and the approval of the stockholders of the two organizations. While the

Second Rabid Raccoon Confronts Martin Family

For the second time in less than a year, the Martin family, south of Oakland, was confronted by a rabid raccoon.

Garrett County Health Department officials received confirmation of the rabid raccoon last Friday after lab tests were conducted in Baltimore. Clayton Martin, who resides on the Mason School Road, discovered the raccoon in his yard at 4 p.m. The raccoon fought with the family dog, and Martin shot and killed the raccoon.

The dog had been previously vaccinated for rabies, but must be watched for three months. This is the second rabid raccoon discovered on the Martin property, the other being in October of 1984.

Confirmation of another rabid raccoon was received by the health department late yesterday. The raccoon was found dead on Tuesday by Everett Weimer, in his cow pasture on the Oakland-Sang Run Road. Weimer is concerned about his cattle possibly being exposed to the raccoon, and will check with his veterinarian about vaccinations for his cows.

Pre-Exposure Shots

Sara Donley of the health department reminds that residents, such as trappers and hunters, who received human rabies pre-exposure shots two years ago, need a booster this year.

Rabies Clinics

On Monday night 41 pets were vaccinated against rabies at the Route 40 School, 103 pets were given shots Tuesday night in Crellin, and 75 were vaccinated Wednesday night in Accident.

Tonight a clinic will be held from 5 to 6 p.m. in the Bloomington Fire Hall.

School Board Backs Decision For Split Shifts

The Garrett County Board of Education announced at its June 13 meeting it will stick with its December 1984 decision to split shift middle school and high school students at Northern Middle School during the 1985-86 school year while Northern High School undergoes extensive renovation.

The plan recently stirred up controversy among parents in the northern part of the county who were concerned for the safety of their children. The greatest concern was for the middle school students who are to use the middle school in the morning and who would be on county roads at odd hours of the day; some will be out waiting for a school bus as early as 5:30 a.m.

Because of the widespread concerns, the board conducted a hearing at Northern High School on June 4, when various views were aired including a statement by student groups supporting the split-shift plan.

Some of the alternatives and ideas presented during the hearing were investigated afterwards and reported at the June 1 meeting. Dr. Jerome Ryscavage presented results of his queries into the availabilty of transportable classrooms, called relocatables, telling the board that state officials said there were none available for the county to use.

Another suggestion made by parents was to use the Accident Elementary School, currently planned for conversion into apartment units for the elderly by Garrett Community Action Agency. Dr. Ryscavage reported that after contacting Duane Yoder, executive director of the agency, he did not believe the old building was a viable possibility.

He noted Yoder said that although no formal construction contract has been signed, the agency was ready to enter into such an agreement as soon as financing for the project is complete.

Also, Yoder pointed out that the rental subsidy program which is currently available to potential renters of the quarters would be unavailable if the project were delayed for another year.

The board heard a report

State Officials Answer Charges By Sierra Club

Defendants in a lawsuit filed by the Sierra Club have responded to allegations that they failed to enforce permit and licensing requirements for a peat harvesting company in Garrett County.

Attorneys, including Maryland Attorney General Stephen Sachs, for the defendants, all state officials, filed a response June 10 in the Garrett County Circuit Court denying the officials and the Garrett County Processing and Packaging Corporation have failed to comply with state and federal regulations.

The Sierra Club in April filed charges against state officials in the Garrett County Circuit Court and filed a suit against GCPPC in a U.S. District Court in Baltimore.

The club asserted that the GCPPC has been excavating peat in The Glades, which the environmentalist group calls an "ecologically unique wetland," without obtaining permits required by Maryland's Environmental Health Code, Natural Resources Code and Surface Mining Act.

Named as defendants in the case are Torrey Brown, secretary of the Department of Natural Resources; James W. Peck, director of the Water Resources Administration; Adele Wilzack, secretary of the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, and William Eichbaum, assistant secretary for Environmental Programs.

In answering the charges, the defendants point out that the Sierra Club failed to include GCPPC in the case filed in the county circuit court. Because of the impact the case could have on GCPPC, the defendants maintain it should be included in the suit, or the case should be dismissed.

In their response, the defendants further deny the Sierra Club's claims that GCPPC has unlawfully undertaken mining activities, is discharging pollutants in state waters and is unlawfully conducting ditching and excavation in The Glades. The natural peat bog is located northeast of Deep Creek Lake State Park in the Bittinger area.

GCPPC officials note they are working with federal and state regulatory agencies to obtain any permits deemed necessary and are even working to receive some not believed to be needed.

Up until now, GCPPC officials note, their operation has not harvested a volume of peat moss high enough to fall under mining regulations.

Southern Industrial Park Gets "Go Ahead" From State Officials

At a press conference Tuesday, the Board of Garrett County Commissioners told reporters they felt there had been a "breakthrough" in recent problems with the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, especially in dealing with the Southern Garrett Industrial Park.

Commissioner Elwood Groves said, "We have finally been given the go ahead to complete the road as well as the water and sewer lines within 10 miles of the Trout Run treatment facility which will, at least, clear the way for the first business to begin construction this summer at the industrial park."

Commissioner Ernest Gregg Jr. said the meeting with Assistant Secretary William Eichbaum last week was "of a conciliatory nature" and that he expressed a wish to work with county officials in their effort to comply with Health Department regulations.

"We'll do whatever it takes to meet those regulations," said Gregg, " although many times we certainly question the reality of them in certain cases."

The commissioners meeting with Eichbaum last week came about as a result of media attention to the delays of certain development projects caused by State Health Department regulations, and in many cases, delays in receiving permits for projects. "These delays cost us money in the form of losing potential businesses and the possible retraction of state and federal funds when deadlines are not met," said Gregg.

Commissioner John Braskey said the county officials also spoke with Eichbaum about landfill regulations. "They are a big legislative issue because all counties are involved. It's not just a Garrett County issue. Many of the smaller, poorer counties simply cannot afford to comply with State Health Department regulations," he said.

When asked if they would have to keep putting pressure on the State Health Department to get answers, Commissioner Gregg stated, "There's always a chance you'll have to repeat your questions to get them answered. We did many times repeat the same questions and we were finally heard. If we have to do it again, we will."

County Clerk Robert Fousek said he did receive a phone call Monday with the news that plans for the Industrial Park could proceed. Eichbaum told the commissioners last week that he would get back to them by Monday. Fousek said he is now waiting to get the "go ahead" in writing from the

Garrett County Receives Clean Bill Of Health

After a statewide investigation into alleged road paving corruption Maryland Attorney General Stephen H. Sachs has given both Garrett and Allegany counties a clean bill of health.

The Attorney General's Antitrust Division has investigated bidding practices in Maryland's asphalt paving industry for the past three years. The United States Department of Justice also joined the investigation, which eventually convicted several downstate people.

Sachs' letter, addressed to Chairman of Commissioners Elwood L. Groves, II, read, "We have found that a substantial proportion of the bids for certain types of road paving contracts, those for the supply of liquid asphalt and performance of surface treatment-awarded by the State and most counties were the subject of collusive arrangements among the bidders. However, we are pleased to report to you that we have found no evidence to suggest that such contracts were rigged in Garrett County."

Ani-trust division Chief Michael F. Brockmeyer said Tuesday that bid-rigging had been discovered in all but three or four counties. He said that the state has recovered $2.5 million for taxpayers of involved subdivisions, and thus far the state has returned $1.7 million for liquid asphalt and about $800,000 for fraud involving blacktop contracts.

Investigators found that most of the corruption was relatively recent, although the fraud began in one county about 40 years ago.

Morris Selected As Successor To James Lupis

John T. Morris, Cumberland, assistant supervisor of personnel with the Allegany County Board of Education, has been appointed Assistant Superintendent for Administrative Services with the Garrett County Board of Education effective July 1.

Morris will succeed James Lupis who resigned the position to become superintendent of schools in Kent County. Previous to coming to Garrett County, Lupis was supervisor of personnel in the Allegany County school system.

The county school board named Morris, an Allegany County native, to the post at its meeting June 13.

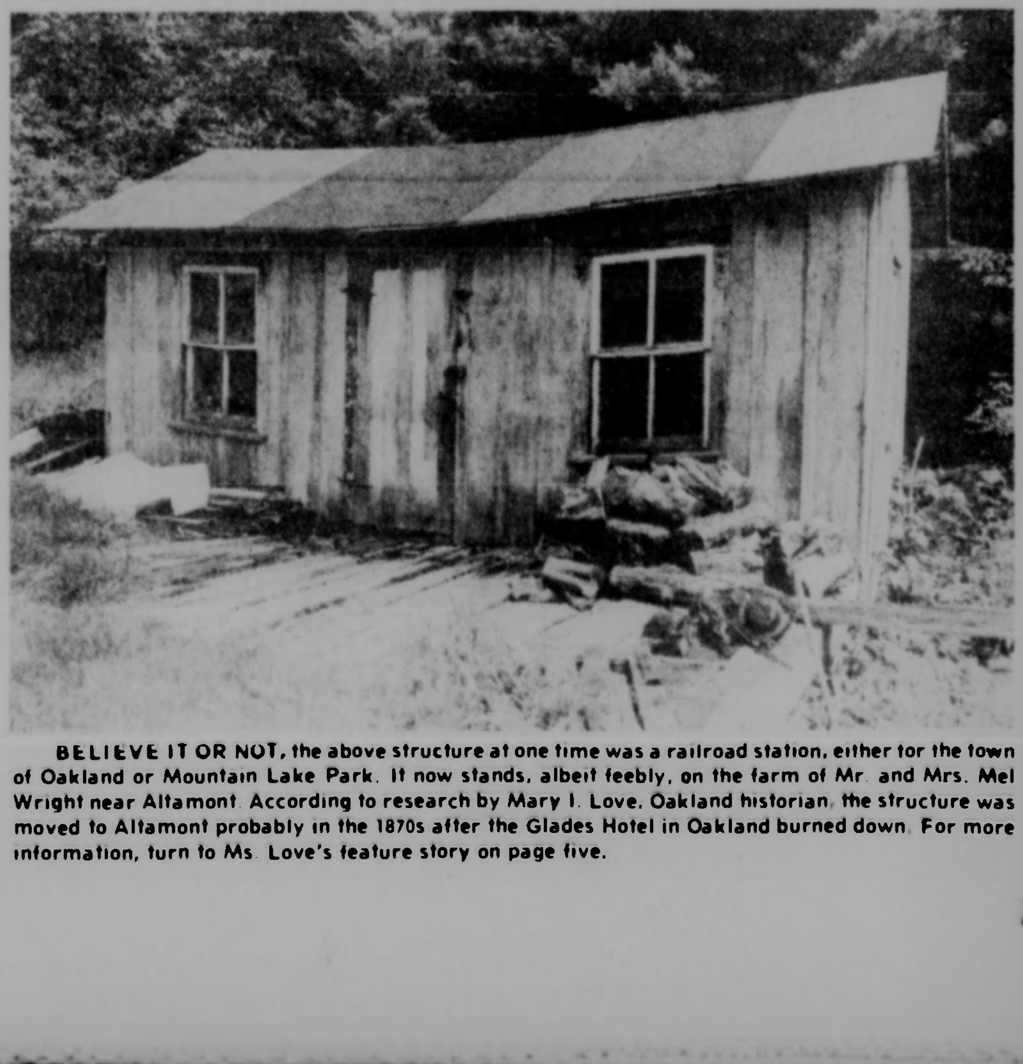
Morris is a 1957 graduate of Fort Hill High School and a 1961 graduate of Frostburg State College. He has received both his bachelor's and master's degrees in education from Frostburg and has additional graduate credit in education.

Morris began his career in education as a junior high school teacher in Prince George's County, a school system he served for 15 years. After four years as a teacher, he was a guidance counselor for five years, an assistant supervisor of staff development for five years and a junior high school vice-principal for one year.

In 1976, Morris returned to Allegany County when he was appointed as assistant supervisor of pupil transportation for that county's school system. In the past two years, Morris has served as an assistant supervisor in both pupil transportation and personnel.

As assistant supervisor of personnel, Morris has served as the board's chief negotiator in collective bargaining with the Allegany County Teachers' Association. Part of Morris' responsibilities in his new position will include serving as the chief negotiator with Garrett County school employee groups.

Morris, his wife, the former Gayle Proudfoot, and their two children will be moving to the county in the near future.



BELIEVE IT OR NOT, the above structure at one time was a railroad station, either for the town of Oakland or Mountain Lake Park. It now stands, albeit feebly, on the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Mel Wright near Altamont. According to research by Mary I. Love, Oakland historian, the structure was moved to Altamont probably in the 1870s after the Glades Hotel in Oakland burned down. For more information, turn to Ms. Love's feature story on page five.

Garrett Community College Begins Work On Accreditation Process

Members of the administration and faculty at Garrett Community College will be busy for the next eight months preparing the college's Periodic Review Report for continued accreditation by the Commission on Higher Education's Middle States Association of Colleges and Schools. The Periodic Review Report is a normal part of the cycle of accreditation performed by the Middle States Association. The upcoming report is a five-year update of GCC's original accreditation by the MSACS in 1981.

Heading the effort to develop the periodic review report is Dr. Lillian Mitchell, director of academic programs at GCC. Assisting her are five faculty committees which are gathering data and submitting reports on various components of the report, including significant developments in the past five years, institutional self-study, responses to recommendations of the accreditation team from five years ago, fiscal and enrollment data, and long-range planning for the institution. Dr. Alan Reinhart, assistant professor of English and coordinator of composition at the college, is compiling data from the various committees and drafting the report.

According to the MSACS, "Accreditation is the educational community's means of self regulation. The accrediting process is intended to strenghten and sustain the quality and integrity of higher education, making it worthy of the public's confidence, and minimizing the scope or exercise of government control. The extent to which each educational institution accepts and fulfills the responsibilities inherent in that process is a measure of its concern for freedom and quality in higher education."

Among the goals of the accreditation process is the assessment of the goals of the institution and how those goals are implemented by the administration, faculty, and staff of the college.

"We are looking forward to the accreditation review as a means of affirming the progress that GCC has made in the past five yers," said Fred Learey, dean of academic affairs at the college. "We are especially proud of our new student center, which includes a cafeteria and recreational center for the use of our students. This is an area of college operations that was recommended for improvement in the original accreditation report five years ago. Some other areas recommended for improvement that have been sucessfully addressed include the computerization of the registration process and other administrative functions.

"We have also implemented a number of innovations beyond those recommended five years ago. These include the establishment of several new degree and occupational programs to meet the changing needs of the community, new general education requirements to raise academic standards, the implementation of competency testing as part of the freshman composition program, the establishment of a peer tutoring program, and the development of a new management system with clearly defined roles for faculty, administration and staff.

"We have embarked on an institutional research project, which will compile essential data about trends in enrollment, changes in composition of the student body, and analysis of the college's graduates in terms of their satisfaction with the education they received at Garrett," Learey added.

Dr. Mitchell said, "I expect that the work of the administration, faculty and staff on the compilation of the Periodic Review Report will be a valuable learning experience for everyone at the college, and hopefully it will do what it intends to do: give us a clear idea of where we are now, and where we hope to be five years from now."

State's Serious Crime Rate Up, County's Down

Serious crime in Maryland increased overall by one percent during the first three months of 1985 when compared to the same period for 1984, according to statistics released this week by the Maryland State Police. This is the first quarter since January 1982 in which Maryland has recorded an increase in crime.

Garrett County, however, showed a 15 percent decrease in incidents of serious crime during the same three-month period. There were no murders and no robberies in the county during the first three months of both years. The only serious crime categories showing an increase were forcible rape, from no cases in 1984 to two in 1985, and in arson, from two cases in 1984 to four in 1985. Decreases were noted in aggravated assault, 61 to 48; breaking or entering, 61 to 48; larceny/theft, 78 to 75; and motor vehicle theft, five to one. The crime index total decreased from 148 cases in the first three months of 1984 to 126 in 1985.

The 15 percent decrease recorded in Garrett County, Caroline County, and Talbot County led the state, while the counties showing the largest increases in crime were Calvert and Somerset, 29 and 27 percents, respectively.

The violent crimes of murder, forcible rape, robbery, and aggravated assault, as a group, increased seven percent in the state, while property offenses of breaking or entering, larceny/theft, and motor vehicle theft decreased .5 percent.

The number of murders statewide decreased 13 percent, aggravated assaults rose 16 percent, and motor vehicle thefts decreased seven percent.

The Western Maryland region, which includes Garrett, Allegany, Washington, Frederick, and Carroll counties, showed a six percent decrease in incidents of serious crime.

Citizens are reminded by the State Police that crime prevention materials and information concerning neighborhood programs are available free of charge from local and State Police.

Friend Family Association Moves Nat. Headquarters To Friendsville

The Friend Family Association of America has announced that the relocation of its permanent national headquarters, to Friendsville from Ft. Wayne, Indiana, is underway with the remodeling and redecorating of the old municipal bank building at First and Maple Streets.

The Friend Family Association is a voluntary, non-profit organization dedicated to the collection, preservation and sharing of genealogical, historical information so that the record of their pioneer ancestor is not lost to posterity. It was founded in the bicentennial year of the United States, by Col. Lester D. Friend Sr., and a small group of family genealogists. Today it is one of the largest family groups of its kind in America.

Friendsville was selected because of the family's history there, having been founded by John Friend in 1765, and because of the availability of the needed building requirements both now and for the future. Association President Byron L. Friend reports that in the months ahead the move will also include the consolidation of all of the association's activities in Friendsville.

Certain office functions and the association's national library will be the first to occupy the new building. The library, known as the Col. Lester D. Friend Sr. Historical/Genealogical Library, is a large and diversified genealogical data bank for information pertaining to the Friend Family.

By mid-year it is contemplated the new building will provide inventory storage and shipping facilities, as well as permanent display space for Friend and Friend-related items of the Friendship Store, now located in Park Ridge, Ill. It is anticipated that the same building will house the growing activities of Friendship Publishing, now headquartered in Warren, Ohio.

With the acquisition of the Friendsville building and in celebration of their tenth anniversary, the association plans that 1985 will see the establishment of The National Heritage Museum. This museum will tell the story of all these early pioneers who successfully forged a great nation out of the wilderness. It will depict the life of the early settlers, their history, folklore, their possessions, their trades and crafts, their religions and their traditions which have been passed to succeeding generations.

According to a Friend Family spokesman, every attempt will be made to tell their story with "real things", not just words or pictures. Displays of artifacts, family heirlooms and other memorabilia will be combined to create the museum.

The official grand opening and dedication of this multi-purpose building will take place August 3 as a part of the Friendsville Summer Festival celebration.

Garrett Crossroads, Appalachian Parent Association Merge

Albert Coviello, president of the Appalachian Crossroads Council, has announced that the respective boards of Garrett Crossroads, Inc., and the Appalachian Parent Association have voted to merge into one body, effective July 1, 1985.

The two separate boards have combined to form the Appalachian Crossroads Council. Coviello said, "We feel certain this merger will enable us to better provide coordinated services to all program participants currently served by each agency." Other reasons for the merger were to avoid duplication of services and cost effectiveness.

William Aspinall will be the executive director of A.P.A., Inc., officially assuming his duties June 25. He will succeed Charlotte Griffith, executive director of the Appalachian Parent Association.

Dan Elmlinger recently resigned his position with Garrett Crossroads, Inc., and Linda Wengerd will serve as acting administrator until the merger becomes effective.

All programs presently operated by the two groups will continue to function under A.P.A., Inc. The programs (Country Oven Bakery, workshop, day program, transportation, residential program and outreach services) will operate under the title of Appalachian Crossroads.

The administrative office for the agency will be housed at 107 South Second Street, Oakland. This address should be used for all official agency correspondence.

Anyone having questions concerning A.P.A., Inc. or Appalachian Crossroads may contact Albert Coviello.

DNR Proposals For Added Off-Road Vehicle Trails Now Being Prepared

Department of Natural Resources representatives have been preparing a proposal for additional off-road vehicle trails to present to the public at a hearing in the future.

According to Paul Ruszin, DNR assistant chief of operations, extensive work on the proposal has been done over the winter months by Dave Hathway, DNR chief of operations; Joe Mechem, manager of Garrett and Potomac State Forests; and Warren Groves, manager of Savage River State Forest.

The three DNR officials met Tuesday, June 4, to go over the proposal, iron out proposed additions and deletions, and to discuss a future public hearing.

ORVs include snowmobiles, three-wheelers, four-wheelers, all terrain vehicles, four-wheel drive vehicles, and motor bikes. Not all of the present or future trails permit all types of ORVs. Some trails and some areas are suitable for only certain types of ORVs and will be posted as such.

At the present time, Savage River, Garrett and Potomac State Forests have a total of 43.8 miles of all types of ORV trails. The proposed plan is to delete 4.1 miles of trails for various reasons and add a total of 67.8 miles of additional ORV trails in the three state forests to make a total of 107 and one-half miles of trails in the county, all contained in state forests.

Groves listed the proposals intended for Savage River State Forest, which include: deleting a one-mile section of snowmobile trail next to Deep Creek Lake State Park where the trails intersect with the Glendale Road; extending the Meadow Mountain trail wherever possible; and developing trails in the Negro Mountain and Savage Mountain blocks.

According to Mechem, several changes are proposed for trails in the Garrett and Potomac State Forests. At Herrington Manor, one-half mile of snowmobile trail that is combined with the cross-country ski trail will be deleted, and a snowmobile loop will be added. On Piney Mountain, it is proposed to add .9 of a mile to make a loop. It has been agreed to leave the Hutton area trail as it is.

In the Potomac River area, back of White Church, there are 8.1 miles of trails with an intention to add 3.4 miles more. It is proposed to delete a mile and one-half, dead-end trail on Lost Land Run, and reserve it only for campers without ORVs, since there are other areas and trails available for campers with ORVs.

On Backbone Mountain, it has been decided to close off a one and one-half mile dead-end trail and add eight miles of trail to make a loop with a total of 14 miles of trail.

According to Groves, they have gone over all the roads and trails and have had input on the pros and cons of both existing and proposed trails. "We feel the ones proposed would be the least detrimental environmentally, be the least controversial, and provide the best needs of ORV owners," he said.

Mechem stated that these proposed additions are all on state land. "We haven't given up on some private land use to connect trails," he said, "but we'd like to get this much done, then work on getting private land permits over the winter."

Ruszin explained that the next step is to file the proposals with the Maryland Registry and the Legal Review Committee of the State Legislature. A public notice will then inform people of an upcoming hearing, and finally a public hearing will be held. Ruszin expects the hearing to possibly be in late September or early October.

A STEP INTO HISTORY — Ethelhurst was the original name for this country estate located near Oakland and this is what it looked like when Mountain Lake Park was one of the most popular, and populated, summer resort areas in the east. Ethelhurst is now called Cornish Manor, owned and operated as a commercial dining facility by Bob and Pat Bobo, and it will again host the annual Boarding House Dinner during Mountain Lake Park Days, July 10-13. The dinner will feature food that was commonly served on Sunday afternoon at the many boarding houses which were once operated in Mountain Lake Park, such as fried chicken, mashed potatoes and gravy, green beans, creamed corn, cole slaw, cranberry sauce, relish plates, homemade rolls with butter and apple butter, coffee and tea, and apple pie with ice cream. The meal will be served Thursday, July 11, in two settings, 5:30 and 7:30 p.m., by waitresses attired in gowns from that period in history. Persons may make reservations for the meal by contacting J.W. Dumire at 334-2216 evenings and weekends or The Republican office at 334-3963. Other events of Mountain Lake Park Days include a concert by the nationally known Appalachian musical quartet, Trapezoid, at Southern High School on July 10 and a performance by the Magical Mime Company on July 12, also at Southern High School. Tickets for these events are available at Proudfoot's Oakland Pharmacy and The Republican office. A complete schedule of events will appear in next week's issue of The Repubican.

Judge Orders Evaluation For Wilson

Garrett County Chief Judge Fred A. Thayer has ordered a psychological evaluation for a 45-year-old Oakland man charged with assaulting three people near his home on Poplar Street on September 17, 1984.

Chief Judge Thayer in Circuit Court June 13 ordered the evaluation of Karl Wilson to determine whether or not he was criminally responsible at the time of the commission of the crime and whether he is competent to stand trial.

Copies of the order were sent to the Clifton T. Perkins Hospital Center, Jessup, and to the Maryland Correctional Institution, Hagerstown, where Wilson is serving a sentence for assaulting a police officer.

Wilson faces three charges of assault and three of carrying a dangerous weapon filed against him by State's Attorney James Sherbin.

The charges were filed against Wilson after he allegedly pointed a 12-gauge shotgun at two 14-year-old girls and Roy Sweitzer outside his home. According to court documents, police who were called to the scene did not find the weapon on Wilson, but upon further investigation found the weapon in Wilson's home.

A pyschological test of Wilson had been ordered by the judge November 8, 1984, but reportedly all state evaluation centers were filled and were unable to schedule time for Wilson. Because the time limit on the original order ended, the judge issued another order.

Entering the request for the evaluation on behalf of Wilson was his attorney John Toston, public defender.

Service Offers Tips On Gypsy Moth Control

Although the gypsy moth population in the Finzel area of Garrett County has suffered approximately 80 percent egg mortality, the remaining 20 percent may become a nuisance to homeowners in that area.

For this reason, the Cooperative Extension Service of the University of Maryland has released information describing what, if anything, the homeowner can do to eradicate the gypsy moth.

John A. Davidson, an extension entomologist at the University of Maryland, comments that basically there is little a homeowner can do to eradicate gypsy moth caterpillars from large trees. There are, however, some control measures which may help to keep defoliation below the critical 50 percent level.

Homeowners may protect small trees and shrubs with a chemical insecticide spray such as Orthene or Sevin, Davidson says. It may be too late, however, to use the bacterial insecticide, Bt (Dipel or Thuricide). Extension agricultural or horticultural agents or Robert Dekker, forest entomolgist with the Maryland Department of Agriculture, should be contacted to make sure.

For valuable, large trees, homeowners could hire a professional arborist who has equipment to spray treetops thoroughly. They should check, however, to make sure the arborist is licensed to do this work in Maryland. He will probably spray with Orthene, Sevin, Turcam or Imidan.

Instead of hiring an arborist, a homeowner can hold down gypsy moth caterpiller damage with a technique called banding.

This process takes advantage of the fact that, in most gypsy moth populations, fourth-state caterpillars spend each night feeding in the tops of trees. They crawl down the trees to hide on the ground or in bark crevices during the day.

Tying strips of burlap around tree trunks provides a shelter for the migrating caterpillars. The simplest band consists of a burlap strip 12 to 20 inches wide which is tied around the middle. This allow a flap to hang down and provide a place for the caterpillars to hide.

The creepy crawlers must be removed and destroyed daily in late afternoon. They can be squashed or they can be drowned in a strong water/detergent solution. One tablespoon of liquid dishwashing detergent should be added to each pint to a gallon of water. Gloves should be worn when handling the caterpillars to avoid irritation from their hairs.

Another banding technique involves using a strip of tar paper attached in the same way the burlap was. Several brands of sticky bands for capturing gypsy moth caterpillars are on the market, said Davidson. But they must be serviced regularly so they remain sticky.

The Maryland Extension Service warns homeowners never to paint tree trunks with motor oil or other toxic materials which can penetrate the bark and cause death or severe stress to a tree.

Davidson notes most gypsy moth damage for this year should end by early July when the caterpillars enter the pupa or cocoon stage prior to becoming adult moths.

Persons seeking more information may obtain a number of free brochures by calling 334-2145 in Garrett County. The mailing address to obtain free gypsy moth publications is Garrett County Extension Office, P.O. Box 445, Oakland. Dekker may be reached by calling 777-2134.

School Registration Reminder Issued By Board Of Education

The Garrett County Board of Education reminds parents that their children who will be entering school for the first time this fall should be registered soon.

Parents who did not register their kindergarten or new first grade student during the recently held pre-registration program may do so by contacting the principal of the local school to arrange an appointment. This should be done as soon as possible, according to a Board spokesman.

Parents must take the child's birth certificate and immunization records with them at the time of registration.

Any child who will be six years of age on or before December 31 of this year must be enrolled in school; and any child who will be five years of age on or before December 31 may be enrolled in kindergarten.

Families who are planning to move during the summer should check with the local school or Pupil Services office to see whether or not the children will be attending the same school this fall. If the new residence places the child in a new school district, it would be better to make the transfer during the summer rather than after school begins, the spokesman said.

Judge Acquits Swanton Men Of Theft Charges

Two Swanton men were acquitted of theft charges by Garrett County Chief Judge Fred A. Thayer during a trial in Circuit Court June 13.

The trial began as a jury trial, but Richard L. Craver, 32, and Brian K. Craver, 19, were acquitted of the charges by the judge after State's Attorney James Sherbin completed his presentation of the state's case.

The judge granted a motion for acquittal made by John Toston, public defender, who represented the Cravers.

The two men were charged with theft after they were apprehended September 25, 1984 by Maryland State Police for allegedly stealing wood from James W. Sweitzer. Allegedly the two men had taken three pickup truckloads of wood having a value of $120.

Richard Craver also was charged with a handgun violation, but the state chose not to prosecute the charge.

Toston's motion for acquittal was based on a legal issue in which Toston maintained there was a flaw in the state's case concerning the ownership of the items taken.

Toston explained after the trial, that in presenting the state's case, Sherbin alleged one owner of the wood, but then went on to prove there were two owners of the wood. The judge determined the defect in the state's case was enough to kill the case.

State's Attorney James Sherbin was unavailable for comment.

In another case heard June 13, Sherbin placed a case against Thomas C. Carr, 26, Oakland, on the stet docket. The case involved a distribution of marijuana charge and a possession of marijuana charge filed against Carr by Tfc. Chester Miller of the Maryland State Police.

Choral Society Concert Soloists Are Announced

Friday evening's concert by the Garrett Choral Society will feature three local soloists singing familiar tunes from Broadway musicals. The concert is scheduled for 8:00 p.m. at the Southern High School Cafetorium, with doors opening at 7:15 p.m.

David Callis, a tinner at Shirer's Tin Shop, will repeat a solo from his lead role in last year's Choral Society performance of "South Pacific," plus present solo selection from "Porgy and Bess" and "Showboat."

Jim Chisholm and Marcettie Danner will perform solos from the familiar musical "Carousel." Miss Danner also will sing "Summertime" from "Porgy and Bess."

The Choral Society will once again be accompanied by local Dr. David W. Sheets, pianist, who will also present a medley of show tune favorites.

Going on vacation? Have a good time. But don't advertise your absence to any would-be burglars or vandals while you're gone.
First step: Arrange for a friend or neighbor to collect mail, newspapers, or other deliveries. Nothing announces "Nobody's home!" like the litter of old newspapers, stale milk, and a week's worth of mail. Arrange to have your lawn mowed while you're away.
Use timers to turn on and off room lights, TV, radio. The best models vary the time slightly each day, to put watchers off guard.
Don't close blinds or shades all the way; leave them set as you usually do. However, do move that silver tea service from in front of your window. No need to tempt burglars.
Take a friend into your confidence; let him or her know where to reach you in case of fire or theft. Perhaps your neighbor will check the premises now and then for any unusual signs.

A Bright Future . . .

"What is this world coming to?" is a question that has been repeated throughout history, usually by adults when discussing the actions and attitudes of the young people of today. Every older generation, forgetting that it was once the younger generation, fears that the present younger generation is going to one day allow things to completely fall apart. When youth deviate even the slightest from doing things the way Mom and Dad did them when they were kids, the parents often jump immediately to these doomsday conclusions.

We submit that the future of this nation appears to be in good hands and a recent project by the students of Dennett Road School provides strong evidence to support this position.

After learning about the severe famine in Ethiopia and the local effort to help relieve the suffering in that nation, the children of this school decided to compile a booklet of their thoughts and feelings about the crisis. The booklet was then sold for $1 per copy.

We were frankly amazed at the insight, depth, caring, and empathy which poured forth from these youngsters from kindergarten through fifth grade. Many expressed their thoughts in ways few adults could ever surpass or even match. For those who were not fortunate enough to have purchased a copy of this booklet, we wish to share some of those beautiful feelings which are indeed "out of the mouths of babes." After reading the following, you may want to reconsider your thoughts on the future of the world.

Kindergarten

Rachel Farmer—If I could help the children of Ethiopia I would send them money to buy fish and rice and chicken and sandwiches.

Shannon Spurrier—I would like to send them Chinese food.

Allison Swinson—I would like to send them love and carrots.

First Grade

Janie Hyde—I'd like to get money from the bank and buy food and mail it to them.

Aaron Glotfelty—I'd like to go along with the people who go there and take some food along, like a can of meat or something.

Second Grade

Cindy Sanders—We can send the children donations. I feel sorry for them. We can save their lives maybe.

Danielle Gaither—You are hungry I know. I want to help you. You are very poor.

Nathan McNamee—I wish I could help the Ethiopian children. They look so weak. I would love it if they became strong.

Third Grade

Larena Naylor—They are dying day after day. Even babies are dying from starvation. I bet at school and at home we waste more food than they can eat in two months.

Craig Forbes—When you have a beet and you don't want to eat; think how lucky that we are to have food.

Josey Coviello—Ethiopian people are crying. But we are trying. They are dying. And then we are crying. What can we do to help? We can give. After all, they are like family.

Jimmy Shaw—I know that the Ethiopian people are dying. All the children are crying. It hasn't rained for over seven years. No water, no food, no money, only tears.

B.J. Romie—When you start to throw food away, just think this: the people of Ethiopia have no food to throw away.

John Brodbeck—We are so lucky to have enough food and water and clothes and shelter. Also to live in America.

Devin Pratt—I would like to send them money from my can and food from our laundry room. I would also like to send them my prayers to get stronger and better.

Fourth Grade

Sean Gregory—There's a choice we're making: either to let people from Ethiopia die or live. I'd rather let them live. I can't do it all by myself, so you need to help too. Because life is the greatest gift of all.

Alison Winters—I want to share everything I have with them. I really care about them. They're like family to me.

Burnice Steuber—I think that if some of God's children are dying we should come together as one and lend a hand. We are the children of the world and when one is in need we all should help.

Amy Rice—I'm a child of this world and I hope I can donate my time as well as money.

Jason Ridenour—I have a responsibility to help others. By writing this the money given might feed a child for maybe a week. The love and tenderness of us all can make a big difference.

Becky Slagle—Ethiopia will come alive if we help.

Fifth Grade

Michael SanJulian—It's great being a child of the world when you don't go to bed hungry.

Emily Elmlinger—It's great being a child of the world when everybody helps everybody.

Susan Umstot—It's great being a child of the world when you know someone loves you.

Chris Glotfelty—My dream is to have all kids in Ethiopia have three wishes to come true for them.

Angie Crosco—My dream is that every boy and girl in Africa will be smiling and playing again soon.

And finally, from third grade student David Jones:

The Ethiopian people are a very sad sight.
I ask myself, Is there something we can do to ease their plight?
The babies' empty stomachs are making them die,
And when this happens their mothers cry.
Their bodies are swollen, sunburned, and weak,
And so they are afraid, sad, and meek.
Crawling all over them are ugly old flies,
The diseases they carry are making them die.
Food and water are hard to find,
So let's try to help them by being kind.
This famine in Africa is caused by no rain,
The people are suffering a lot of pain.
We have more than we need so let's not be greedy.
Let's give to these people who are very needy.
If all of us gave to famine relief,
The people over there would have no grief.

To the Editor:

Some four years ago, Ex-Senator Clifford Friend raised the same point he expressed in this column last week, i.e., County financial liability for Industrial Revenue Bonds. As we explained to Senator Friend in our meeting in July 1981, Maryland law permits the County government to issue such Bonds when, and only when the "full faith and credit" of Garrett County is not pledged to the repayment of these Bonds. As in all forms of Revenue Bonds the revenue from the project itself and the collateral security of the benefitting company constitutes the entire backing for the Bond. No liability on Garrett County, or its taxpayers is created by issuing Industrial Revenue Bonds.

As has been well reported in your paper during the past few weeks several companies have elected to use the Industrial Revenue Bond to finance the expansion of their businesses. In fact during the first five months of 1985 Garrett County has authorized the issuance of a record $2.3 million dollars of IRB's. This is done without any obligation on the part of County to pay back the Bond, even if the benefitting company defaults on its repayment obligation.

After our July 1981 meeting Senator Friend seemed to understand this process. However, I invite the Senator, again, to review the law and documents with myself, the County Commissioners, and/or County legal counsel to reinstate his knowledge on the subject.

Sincerely,
Thomas D. Jones

To the Editor:

The majority of students at Northern High School are in favor of split shifts. We feel that if our school was separated into different sites during renovation, it would ruin our educational unity. You can't possibly have school spirit when students are separated into different sites.

If the school was in different sites then we couldn't have the electives that we have now, for example French, Chorus, Band, Art and many others. Those teachers would have to travel from place to place. Also if we were put in different sites and an emergency should occur Mr. Green (our principal) or Ms. Wucik (our vice principal) would have to travel from one place to another.

We are not saying that the High School students and the Middle School students, sharing the same school, is the perfect answer, but many think it is the best solution presented thus far.

People for sharing the same school need to be heard. Express your opinion.

We feel that the silent majority of students and parents are favoring the sharing of the Middle School, during the renovation of Northern High School.

Sincerely,
(This letter was signed by 150 students).

To the Editor:

I would like to express my opinion of theft in the cemetery. I'm sure this is not the first occurrence and it probably won't be the last.

My young daughters wanted to purchase a deer lawn ornament for their father's grave which we placed there Friday afternoon. By Sunday when we visited the grave again the ornament was gone. My daughters and I were heartbroken since it was a special gift especially for Father's Day. I never thought anyone could be so cruel and heartless. It's not that the deer ornament was of any great value, but it was sentimental to my girls. A loss like this is hard enough without events like this adding to it.

I do wish that whoever did take it would be kind enough to return it. Another deer ornament just doesn't have the same meaning.

To the Editor:

I hope the citizens of Garrett County will take close note of the bonds required in the recent drug busts. Our District Court Commissioner, Charles Parisieu, managed to set extremely high bond for most of the common people arrested and yet the local businessman with several serious charges against him, including carrying a concealed weapon, got off with only $5,000 property bond. This is more of Parisieu's philosophy that businessmen are basically good so they can be trusted (even if they are alleged drug dealers).

It is about time we get an impartial court commissioner. Whoever is responsible for hiring him should now fire him and/or accept the blame for his favoritism.

It is about time our State's Attorney stops plea bargaining and starts demanding lengthy prison terms for those convicted of dealing in drugs.

To the Editor:

It was brought to my attention that a special interest group, namely cross-country skiers, has closed Herrington Manor State Park to hunting. This area consists of that portion of the park north of the power line on Sander's Lane. Their future goal is to close the rest of the park south of this area.

Not only will this area be closed to hunters, but ORV's, horseback riders and snowmobiles. Owners of ORV's and snowmobiles have to purchase a stamp for their machines to use this land while the hunter pays $18 yearly for a license and stamps. The skier and the little old ladies wearing tennis shoes with binoculars hung around their necks pay absolutely nothing. This land belongs to all Maryland residents and this action should have been open for public debate.

A compromise could have been made to allow hunting until after the muzzleloader season for white-tailed deer, which is the middle of December. Then the skiers would have the remainder of the winter to do their thing.

With the ever increasing population and the shortage of public land, these lands have to be managed for multiple use.

Persons interested in closing the back door and making these special interest groups use the front door can contact me at 334-2686 or write.

Sincerely,
C.W. Newhall, Jr.

from Ellinor Hamilton, a parent in the northern part of the county, who along with other parents designed a program which would check on absentee students. Hamilton stressed the main goal of the program is to insure the safety of students during the next school year and in future years.

The program would establish a network of parent volunteers who would double check that absentee students were safely under an adult's supervision. Hamilton pointed out that if the whereabouts of absentees is not checked, a child in trouble could be missing for several hours before anyone in authority became aware of it.

Hamilton added that the program was designed to protect family privacy as much as possible.

The school board members encouraged the parents to continue in their efforts to establish the program in the schools in the northern part of the county and indicated it might be well to extend it into the southern part of the county, too.

Dr. Ryscavage told the board he will schedule several meetings later in the summer to provide students and parents specific information on the split-shifting procedure. Meeting dates and times will be publicized via the local media, Ryscavage noted.

their response, note an amendment to the state Surface Mining Act which becomes effective July 1 and which will reportedly bring the company within the scope of the law because it removes an exemption for operations extracting less than 500 tons per acre of resources from the earth. Under this act, companies removing minerals other than coal from the earth must obtain a site permit and an operator's license.

Attorneys for the defendants assisting in the compilation and filing of the response include Richard M. Hall, Assistant Attorney General for the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, and Thomas A. Deming and Anne E. Maumenee, assistant attorneys general for the Department of Natural Resources.

hoping to be on a limited operational basis by today with a temporary antenna."

It was originally thought the temporary antenna would service only the Grantsville and surrounding areas, but according to Slaupaw, a trial run this week showed Somerset, Pa. and Oakland residents receiving the transmission.

Station WAIJ, located in Grantsville, has been the subject of much controversy since its inception in October of 1984. Reportedly, the station's radio signals interfere with television station, WJAC, in Johnstown, Pa.

Beahm said, "Traditionally, the FCC assigns non-profit stations to the 85-95 frequency range on the FM band. This has created a problem across the nation as these stations interfere with Channel 6 television stations. Our station has been responding to complaints by sending a local television repairman to homes to install a device which filters out the radio waves to allow viewing of Channel 6. WAIJ has been paying for this service."

Station WAIJ, which operates at frequency 90.3 on the FM dial, depends solely on contributions from its listeners.

"We are afraid we will lose some of our listeners and this is a time when we really need them most," said Slaupaw.

Station officials are planning to put more stringent security practices to use in the future, including fencing around each of the three supporting anchors to deter would-be intruders.

State Health Department, but that it was just a formality.

Reappointment

The commissioners also announced Tuesday that they had reappointed Robert Fousek to serve another two years as county clerk. Fousek has held that position for the past six years.

The commissioners said they felt Fousek had done an "outstanding job as county clerk" and were "happy to reappoint him to that position."

Fousek, a native of Baltimore, resides in Swanton with his wife, Linda, and their two children.

County Budget

Although the county officials did not meet their self-imposed deadline to complete a formally adopted county budget by June 18, they did say Tuesday that they will definitely present their new budget next week and still be ahead of the legal deadline, June 30.

Commissioner Groves said they are still working out fine points in the Roads Department, the Landfill and the Board of Education budgets, but that they hope to come to some agreement by the end of the week.

Junkyard Meeting

The commissioners also met Tuesday with Ernest Martin to discuss junkyard regulations and to clarify the screening of junkyards for Martin.

Martin felt the regulations were hindering his business, but Commissioner Gregg stated, "We can't and won't back down on these regulations. We have a responsibility to the general public to see that these junkyards are properly screened. We are not attempting to make things difficult for the owners, we simply must work to enforce the law."

The board said they are also looking into several other junkyards in the county that have not been complying with regulations.

Dropped Roads

Two Garrett County Roads will likely be dropped from the county system in the near future. No county residents attended the public hearing at the court house Tuesday when plans to drop the Paul Bowser Road and the Old Pysell Road were discussed.

The commissioners said they would keep the public record open for one week and accept written responses to the roads' closing. They will render a decision next Tuesday about the fate of the two roads.

Our Turn

A Night At The Movies
by Susan Alvarez

There's nothing like a night out at the movies - and watching the theatre-goers is part of the entertainment. For instance, have you ever noticed that the audience in a kiddie movie gets real quiet when the wicked witch is on the screen and really noisy when Cinderella and the Handsome Prince are singing a love song?

There are several readily identical movie-goer types that are present in every theatre audience. Next time you go to your local theatre, see if you can spot one of these:

1. The "Concession Stand Hogger." This person stands peering into the concession stand while he waits his turn. When the "Hogger" finally gets a turn, he says, " Now, let me see. . . What do I want?" He then succeeds in holding up the line for several minutes while he makes the decision.

2. The "I've - Seen - This - Movie - Before - So - I - Know - What - Happens - Next" person. This annoying species is always seated within hearing distance and punctuates the entire movie with phrases such as, "Watch this! He's gonna escape on that train" or "Don't worry, that big guy saves everyone in the end."

3. The "Raucous Laugher." This person is a fun person to have in the theatre - if the movie is a comedy. He has a loud, rolling infectious laugh that can set off the entire audience. Unfortunately, this species sometimes finds his way into a serious drama or romance, and succeeds in ruining the movie for everyone.

4. The "Eye-Coverer-Screamer." Why this species attends a scary movie is a true puzzle, since he watches the entire movie with his hands covering his face with his vocal cords in continual use.

5. The "Pacer." This person spends at least half of the movie time walking up and down the aisle to the main lobby and back to his seat. He always finds a seat in the middle of the row so at least five or six people have to stand up to let him pass through. The "Pacer" generally waits until an exciting, tense part of the movie is on before making his trek to the lobby.

6. The "Let's Get Out Before Everyone Else" person. This guy jumps up out of his seat the second "The End" flashes on the screen (if not earlier), hurries to the aisle and usually discovers there are several of the same species present that have already formed a line to leave.

Oakland Railroad Station Quietly Observes Its 100th Anniversary

by Mary I. Love

The centennial of the railroad station in a small town through which passenger trains no longer run is not ordinarily an event to make the heart beat faster. Last year, though, was Maryland's 350th birthday and every community was peering into its past for something to celebrate. It was not until late fall, however, that someone noticed that the Baltimore and Ohio Station in Oakland had "erected in 1884" on it, so we raced around collecting material saluting the occasion and got an article of sorts into The Republican in December, before the calendar turned.

Our researchers, such as they were, indicated that the station may have been started in 1884, but was not finished until 1885, so the date of its centennial is partly a matter of definition. We also unearthed some contradictions about what happened when regarding previous stations; nothing vital, but enough to make us curious, especially at a time when Trivia was a national pursuit so we continued to worry the issue and pester knowledgeable and tolerant people here and in Baltimore and Annapolis.

People have always been fascinated by what is around the next curve or over the next hill. In 18th and 19th-century America the interest was the challenge of a scarcely-known continent that promised great opportunities for development, but the Appalachians lay between the eastern seaboard and the hinterland. Could people best reach the inland waterways of the Ohio Valley by road, by a network of canals and rivers, or by railroad and the newly developed steam locomotive? Should one try to go over, around, or through these massive forested barriers? (To bring the problem alive, try to walk through the woods from Altamont to Eagle Rock, and multiply by 150 miles or so.)

Along with engineering and construction problems, consider that the railroad had to bring workmen to the area and facilitate the growth of towns to serve them, towns that the railroad would later serve. That some of this was done in the midst of a war in which the railroad itself was a pawn, it is not surprising that for many years there was little attention given to amenities for passengers. The President's Annual Report to the Stockholders in 1851 remarked that few passenger depots were required, and some shelters were contracted for.

In 1852 the Report spoke of constructing "two important buildings, machine shops" and two permanent stations, at Piedmont and Wheeling.

The first train reached what is now Oakland in 1851. Two years earlier, the B&O had laid out streets and 64 lots for a town, suggesting that the town be called McCarty's Mills, to honor a local resident, Issac McCarty. At the time, the area was referred to as "Slab Town" because of a sawmill there, and it had traditionally been called "Yough Glades." The one name wasn't impressive; the other was neither pronouncable nor spellable by the uninitiated.

Despite the wishes of the railroad, Mr. McCarty, with what someone called "his typical modesty", declined the honor and proposed giving the privilege of naming the town to his daughter, Ingaba. She suggested "Oakland", a rather obvious choice, but we may be glad that she shared her father's modesty. Otherwise, we might be living in Ingabaville, or even in Ingababurgh.

In any event, when the first engineers arrived in the community, Mr. McCarty arranged for them to have a room in his house, on what is now Water Street. He may, in fact, have added a room especially for them.

We are not sure how long the McCarty House served the B&O. It was something of a community center, for it also housed the Post Office and the First Methodist Sunday School, and was the site of the first Mass held in Oakland. When McCartys moved to Iowa in the late 1850's it was a loss to the community, although McCartys may have found Iowa quieter.

We could not find B&O references to a station in Oakland during the 1850's, although local histories mention that one was built in 1851 and the Post Office moved into it in 1854, when the name "Oakland" became official. In 1856 telegraph service was established between Washington and Wheeling, with an office in Oakland, possibly at the station.

The Glades Hotel was built just south of the railroad in 1858, and a sketch of it includes a water tower and a building presumed to be the station. The hotel was so close to the railroad that travelers could get meals there during a twenty-minute layover.

Jones's Raid, in April, 1863, destroyed a railroad bridge in Oakland and interrupted telegraph service, but did not, apparently, injure the station.

However, in 1874 the original Glades Hotel burned down, and with it the station. The hotel was rebuilt close to the earlier site.

The next year the B&O built the Oakland Hotel, across the river on land including the present Terra Alta Road. This description is from the Annual Report of September, 1878:

New Hotel, Oakland

"A large, handsome hotel has been built at Oakland, on the Glades, 2,700 feet above the tide and within 6 miles of Deer Park Hotel, intended principally, for the accommodation of tourists, and as a pleasant and cool resting place for summer travelers.

"It is substantially built of wood, with broad piazzas, open balconies, a heavy bracketed cornice and metal roof. The foundation is of stone, with roomy cellars for furnace, fuel, provisions, etc.

"It consists of a main building four stories in height, and one wing on the left, with two back buildings, of three stories in height. The right wing will be built hereafter, when needed.

"It contains, on the first floor, a grand hall 31 feet 6 inches by 57 feet, main stairway, office and reading room, the parlor, 25 by 42 feet, the dining room 39 by 73 feet, a children's dining room 23 feet 6 inches by 39 feet, a billiard room 27 by 33 feet, a barber shop, gentlemen's retiring rooms and baths, the kitchen 27 by 30 feet, with serving room, scullery, bakery, servants' dining room, store room and back stairs; and on the upper floors 110 large and well lighted chambers.

"The ladies' retiring rooms and baths are on the second floor. Each story is supplied with water and fire plugs, with hose attached for immediate use in case of fire, besides which, there are two patent fire extinguishers on each floor.

"The kitchen is supplied with first-class range, broiler, steam tables . . . and the bakery, with a large brick oven. The house is furnished throughout in a neat and handsome style.

"In the attic story of the main building is located a large play room for children, and on the roof is a belvedere, from which is obtained a magnificent view of the surrounding scenery.

"Piazzas 16 feet wide on the front, 12 feet on the ends and nine feet on the rear extend around the main building and wing.

"The hotel is lighted by gas with a Springfield gas machine.

"The water is pumped by a steam pump into a large tank on the mountain side, situated in the rear and above the level of the roof of the building.

"The outbuildings consist of an ice house 22 by 38 feet, with a wood shed in the rear, a two-story frame building 24 by 97 feet, for laundry and servants' quarters, a bowling saloon with two fine alleys, and an ornamental spring house.

"The grounds have been laid out tastefully and with great care, the roads being heavily bedded with stone and gravel, and they present altogether a neat, beautiful and attractive appearance."

We could find nothing in the Annual Reports about what replaced the station burned in 1874. It seems improbable that the luxurious Oakland Hotel would be served by a three-sided shelter, but it is not until the Stockholders' Report of 1884 that there is mention of the start of construction of a new Oakland station.

At this point it becomes more helpful to leave the Annual Reports and to turn to The Republican:

April 12, 1884 — "The old depot building at Oakland has been taken down and the material removed to Mr. Weber's garden farm near Oakland where it will be used for construction of hot houses. When will we get our new depot building?"

This is so detailed that it seems convincing, but a story written in 1958 states that the early station was moved to Altamont.

Returning to The Republican, we quote:

June 21, 1884 — "It is said the new depot building in Oakland will be erected at once."

June 28, 1884 — "Work was commenced on the new depot this week at Oakland."

August 30, 1884 — "The foundation of the new depot at Oakland will be completed next week."

January 17, 1885 — "The new depot at Oakland is completed with the exception of plastering which will probably not be done until spring. A large force of carpenters are now engaged in laying of new platforms."

April 4, 1885 — "The finishing touches are being put on the new depot in Oakland."

OAKLAND, MARYLAND, THE LARGEST CITY ON TOP OF THE ALLEGHENIES

OAKLAND STATION WITH GLADES HOTEL, 1858

THE ORIGINAL GLADES HOTEL in Oakland, built in 1858, was located right across the railroad tracks from the present Oakland railroad station and served as an excellent location for meals for rail passengers during 20-minute layovers in Oakland. There was a station or depot at that time also, however information is sketchy as to what type and size building it was. A fire in 1874 destroyed both the hotel and the station and both were replaced within a few years.

Blood Mobile To Visit Friendsville

The Johnstown Chapter of the Red Cross will be visiting Friendsville July 1. The Blood Mobile will be at the Friendsville Fire Hall from noon to 6 p.m.

According to Esther Benedict, chairman, the goal is to obtain 50 pints. Friendsville has had two previous visits with only a total of 32 and 28 pints donated.

"Summertime is an especially difficult time to maintain an adequate supply of blood due to vacations and school breaks, while the demand remains constant," said Benedict.

She noted that almost every pint of blood is processed and separated to benefit as many as four people.

"If you're age 17 to 69, weigh at least 110 pounds, and are generally in good health, you are eligible to do your part," stated Benedict.

In Rememberance Of Richard Broadwater

I cannot say, and I will not say
That he is dead—he is just away!
With a cheery smile,
and a wave of the hand,
He has wandered into an unknown land,
And left us dreaming how very fair
It needs must be,
since he lingers there.
So think of him faring on, as dear
In the love of There
as the love of Here;
Think of him still as the same, I say:
He is not dead—he is just away!

Good Shepherd Independent Baptist Church

Dear Friend:

It is my privilege to introduce you to the Good Shepherd Baptist Church. We are an enthusiastic group of families who are dedicated to building a fundamental, independent Baptist Church from scratch in the Accident area.

We are ordinary people . . . businessmen, carpenters, truck drivers, housewives, retired people, teachers . . . sharing in common our love for God and a genuine concern for each other. We believe God has a plan for us in this community.

I warmly welcome you to the Good Shepherd Baptist Church and look forward to meeting you.

Dana Umbel,
Pastor

We Believe . . .

THE BIBLE IS THE WORD OF GOD. No errors. No mistakes. All true. The Bible is the unquestionable Word of God and it guides us in our message, our lives, and our relationships. We study the Bible as it is, teaching by showing the application of chapter and verse to the problems and opportunities of life.

THE LORD JESUS CHRIST. "Crucified, risen and coming again." Hebrews 9:24-28.

THE NEW BIRTH. "Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God." John 3:3.

FORGIVENESS OF ALL SIN. "In whom we have redemption through His blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of His grace." Ephesians 1:7.

ETERNAL LIFE. "I give unto them eternal life; and they shall never perish." John 10:28.

POWER TO LIVE A VICTORIOUS LIFE. "Thanks be unto God, which always causeth us to triumph in Christ." 2 Corinthians 2:14.

THAT CHRISTIANS SHOULD TELL OTHERS HOW TO GET TO HEAVEN. "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature." Mark 16:15.

CHRISTIANS SHOULD BE SEPARATED FROM THE WORLD. "Love not the world neither the things that are in the world . . ." 1 John 2:15.

HOPE FOR THE FUTURE. "Looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ." Titus 2:13.

Our Vision . . .

Our future vision is to continue to help people establish a new and growing relationship with Christ. As more and more families join us in this vision, our ministries will expand to meet their needs.

WE WANT YOU TO BE A PART OF THAT VISION!

WE HAVE A PLACE FOR YOU IN ALL SERVICES:

Oakland's Bid To Upset Tri-Towns Halted By Rain

Just when it appeared that Oakland was going to knock off previously undefeated and number one ranked Tri-Towns in a Pen Mar League game in Oakland Sunday afternoon, the heavens opened and cancelled the remaining innings of the first game and the entire second game of the scheduled doubleheader.

Oakland was leading 4-1 against Tri-Towns strongest pitcher in the top of the third inning when the rain forced the cancellation. The two teams will go at each other again this Saturday at Southern, but unfortunately for Oakland fans, the beginning score will be 0-0. The make-up doubleheader is slated to get underway at 2 p.m.

Oakland, currently 5-1, will then travel to Idamay near Fairmont, W. Va., on Sunday for another 2 p.m. doubleheader.

The present Pen Mar standings are as follows:

Western Division
Tri-Towns	6 0
Oakland	5 1
Idamay	3 5
Elkins	2 4
Eastern Division
Moorefield	5 1
Hyndman	4 4

Carozza donated the sailboat back to Lohr, who then auctioned it off for additional proceeds. Travelers on Savage River Road may face delays this Saturday, June 22, from 9:00 a.m. until 9:45 a.m. during the Moonshine Run footrace.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Clifford Friend, who passed away four years ago on June 22, 1981.

Four lonely years cannot erase the memories of that gentle face. But yes, there is a brighter side; he went with God to abide.

He is not gone, he only waits for each of us at the Golden Gates and when our span here is o'er, he'll welcome us at Heaven's door, there we'll meet to part no more.

Iridology Opens Eyes To The Discovery Of Ailments

by Brenda Beiler

The eyes are one of the most revealing parts of the human body. From them one can detect varied emotions, often discovering what another person is feeling or thinking, thus gaining insight about the other's personality. However, iridologist Ann Robinson, who will be giving a lecture at the Oakland Fire Hall on Tuesday, June 25, says she can also detect the presence of problems in the person's physical state simply by examining his or her eyes. Ms. Robinson is a resident of Pasadena and a frequent visitor to Garrett County. Her herb shop, located in Pasadena, is known as The Happy Herbalist.

Iridology dates back nearly 3,000 years, and involves looking into the iris (the area surrounding the pupil) to detect and identify certain markings which reveal various conditions of the body.

The iridologist's tool is an instrument much like a magnifying glass equipped with a light. During a more intensive examination of the eye, costing around $35, Ms. Robinson photographs a slide of the eye with a specially fitted 35mm camera and examines it next to an eye grid. This diagnostic chart is patterned after a clock, and with it she attempts to determine the physical condition of the client.

Ms. Robinson says that changes in shapes, lines, or colors in the iris reflect the presence of an ailment in the body, or even a genetic tendency which may develop into problems later.

According to Ms. Robinson, iridology reveals inflammation in the body, weaknesses, how healthy a person is, and specific changes in the way the person lives. Anything from gastrointestinal problems to heart disorders can be detected in the markings of the iris.

The eye contains seven basic zones, with each zone corresponding to a particular area of the body. For example, the edge of the iris, Zone 7, refers to the skin dealing with elimination. A dark rim around this zone reveals that the skin does not eliminate (perspire) well.

"Someone with acne problems does not eliminate toxins well. Skin elimination is very important for your health. If your skin doesn't perspire, it can strain the kidneys and other organs," said Ms. Robinson.

She insists that she is not practicing medicine, but once she evaluates a client she does recommend medicinal herbs for his or her condition.

She says, "We (iridologists) just share information from the courses and books that we've read and experiences we've had, but ultimately, it's up to the clients to choose what they might want to try for their own health. I am not a physician. I cannot diagnose or prescribe. If I see a particular problem I recommend they go to a physician for diagnostic testing."

Ms. Robinson says that many of those who attend her lectures suspect that they are ill, but remain skeptical about whether iridology can help them discover the cause of their problem.

"When they find out that its accurate according to what they know about themsleves, then they get their families to come by," she said.

Lectures include the discussion of herbs and their uses, and persons having their irises examined receive suggestions on which herbs can be successfully used as cures for their ailments.

For example, clients may learn that alfalfa can be a major aid to allergy sufferers, that cayenne pepper can be used to cleanse wounds and stop bleeding, that garlic functions as a natural antibiotic, and that pau d'arco, an herb popular in South America, has been said to retard or possibly cure certain cancers.

THE EYES—WINDOWS TO THE SOUL, and, for iridologist Ann Robinson, to the physical state as well. Ms. Robinson, who will be presenting a free program at the Oakland Fire Hall on Tuesday evening, examines the iris of the eye for changes in color and distinguishing marks. She then determines what physical ailments her clients may be suffering from, and recommends herbs that may be helpful for their particular problem. Below, Ms. Robinson examines the eyes of a volunteer and diagnoses her health.

Ms. Robinson said, "If you would like to look into your loved ones' eyes, get a magnifying glass and hold it in front of their eyes. Then hold a flashlight at the side shining it toward the nose. The light from the flashlight should light up the iris from the outside and not cause any discomfort to your friend. Some of the signs you can easily see are a reddish halo just around the pupil. This represents an under-acid stomach. Drinking liquids with meals causes the HCl acid to dilute and interferes with digestion of proteins.

"Another sign which is easy to see on people with high cholestoral is the sodium cholestoral ring," she continued. "It is a white halo around the outside of the iris. Orange marks in the middle represent a toxic colon, and a faded edge on top of the iris represents poor oxygen to the brain. People with this are usually forgetful, depressed, and yawn in the middle of the day. Liquid chlorophyll and gotu kola have been helpful in sending more oxygen to the brain."

The iridolgist expressed a genuine sense of responsibilty toward those in chronic poor health. She said, "They're disillusioned; drugs don't work. They have a lot of fear, a lot of anxiety, and they come to us thinking that we're miracle workers, and we're not."

Jayne Boyle, also an iridologist, said, "We want to stimulate people into thinking for themselves, to educate them so that they can feel more responsible for their own health."

Anyone interested in studying iridology, scheduling a lecture, or receiving more information may write to Ann Robinson at Box 4, Accident. She normally visits the county about once a month.

Anyone wishing information about herbs may contact Lynn Kelley, at 334-4210.

The program at the Oakland Fire Hall on Tuesday evening is open to the public, free of charge.

Happiness

Happiness is the most sought after but most missed ingredient of life! Why is it missed? My friend, it is like the forest which is missed because the trees are in the way.

When one is inspired, and if you fail to believe in divine inspiration, may I suggest you refer to the U.S. Constitution (which is not interpreted correctly today in most areas), and if you still do not believe, then I offer my condolences. One should pass on the inspiration to be beneficial to others.

Happiness is the most treasured ingredient of life? A fact! Let's dwell upon how to get it and not why we don't have it. First, we take one day and break it down to a moment. Only this moment is guaranteed.

We must thank God for it and make a commitment to: 1. Not find fault with anyone. If we slip, we back up. 2. Be kind, seriously and not superfically, to everyone we meet. 3. For the moment, not hate anyone. 4. Thank God for what is right, placing aside what we THINK is wrong. Example, many things about each of us is right this moment: health, life is still with us, kids, having a job, living in America (still a great land of opportunity), and having a roof over our heads. There is something you can thank Him for. 5. We must dwell upon the positive not the negative. 6. We decide how long the moment is to last, it can go a day. If you desire happiness to last longer, simply extend your moments into more moments. We control our specific lingering thought, no one else! 7. Forget that you and I are sinners. God knew when He created us that we were human beings. 8. Ask God for peace. It is that simple. He will give you peace, forget the material things for the moment you have chosen to be happy. 9. For the moment that you seek this, you will find it, but you must be sincere. You must ask Him! Those moments join together and they become hours which can become a full day. What more can you ask? You can go for another day by starting all over tomorrow. Remember, God is the only way to find the most wanted item in life. Accept it and be HAPPY FOR THE MOMENT.

You And Electrical Safety

Electricity is a necessity in modern living. It serves you well all day, every day. But it also can have a dangerous side to it . . . here's how to avoid some accidents that can occur when safety precautions go unheeded.

Important Safety Tips

- Never place electric cords where they'll get tripped over or get excessive wear (such as under rugs, through doorways, etc.).
- Inspect electrical cords often for wear-especially at the plugs and any connections.
- Always follow the manufacturers' instructions for operation and care of electrical appliances.
- Immediately disconnect any appliance that sparks or stalls during operation.
- Keep combustible materials (clothing, curtains, paper, etc.) away from lamps or heating devices.
- After ironing clothes, be sure the iron is unplugged (not just turned off) when you leave it.
- Never turn on an appliance while standing on a wet floor and don't put any electrical parts in water. Electricity and water is a hazardous combination. For the same reason, don't use an electric lawn mower or portable electric tools in damp or wet weather.
- Never erect TV or CB antennas where they can accidently fall across electric lines. A fatality could result.
- If you use a ladder (outside of your home) be careful to keep it clear of any overhead wires.
- Never let your children fly a kite or model airplane near electric lines.
- If you see electric wires hanging down or on the ground, do not drive or walk near them! Even if they don't appear to be live, they may still be dangerous. Notify the police department and your electric company immediately! If possible have someone stay at the scene to warn others away until help arrives.
- Never locate a swimming or wading pool under electric lines. Metal long-handled cleaning tools can touch the overhead lines with hazardous results.
- Don't run lamp or appliance cords over radiators or pipes.
- Never unplug an appliance or lamp by pulling on the cord. Always grasp the plug itself and disconnect from the electrical outlet.
- Keep any power tools and appliances with electric motors clean and free from dust. Be sure to disconnect any appliance before cleaning. Inspect all electrical devices frequently for signs of wear, defects, etc.

Oakland Railroad Station

June 13, 1885 — "The new depot will be ready next week."

There are no further news items about the station, except that several years later a few feet were amputated from the west end to improve the view from the hotel porch.

This was the story we recently wrote for The Glades Star and also told a class in Garrett County history. After class, Harland Bittinger, who is taking the course, told me a station actually had been moved by flat car from Oakland to Mt. Lake Park, and later, to Altamont. Further, he could, would, and did show it to me. (See picture on front page). It is now on the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Mel Wright, where it is used for storage, but it had been along the tracks at Altamont when Altamont had several houses and a store.

What, though, does this do to the story of Weber's greenhouse, and where does Mt. Lake Park come in?

Mrs. George Sukow confirms that her grandfather, Henry Weber, who started reclaiming swampland in Garrett County in 1883 to raise vegetables, expanded his operation by building greenhouses several years later. He was a careful business man and might well have bought some good used lumber, but she had never heard about his buying the station. She called a 91-year-old aunt in Fairmont, who had not heard the story either, but agreed that it would have been in character.

As for Mt. Lake Park, The Republican reports that its station was begun and finished in 1884. However, the tabernacle and a number of houses had been built in the two previous years and there had been many summer visitors. A depot of some kind would have been a convenience, if not a necessity.

Here is our attempt to reconcile all this: perhaps, after the Glades Hotel fire destroyed the Oakland station, another station was built on one side of the tracks and a shelter of some sort. Both buildings could have been modest structures, intended to be temporary. The Park's station was moved to Altamont, while Mr. Weber bought the small Oakland station.

We assume the Oakland station did open in late June, 1885 but we found nothing more about it.

I conclude with a quotation from "The King and I":

In my head are many facts
That, as a student, I have studied to procure.
In my head are many facts
Of which I wish I was more certain I was sure!

Nancy Reagan's life is explored in NBC special

By Marc Mimelli

"Nancy Reagan," a 9-year-old English boy once announced on British television, "is in charge of America."

Chris Wallace

Many Americans agree. It shows by the way we've dubbed first lady Anne Frances Nancy Robbins Davis Reagan. She's been called the Queen of the United States, Naughty Nancy and — in reference to Argentina's former controversial first lady, Eva Peron — Nanita.

Then there are the nasty titles, expletives that remain unprintable. The first lady's lavish lifestyle — the monies spent on White House china, Adolfo originals and private parties — cause constant comment. Says one Pontiac, Ill. woman: "Nancy Reagan reminds me of Marie Antoinette. Let them eat Lenox."

But the image most people have of Nancy Reagan will be challenged when NBC broadcasts an authorized, in-depth portrait of her. The special, hosted and cowritten by NBC White House correspondent Chris Wallace, airs Monday, June 24 on NBC.

"Mrs. Reagan cannot be described in one word," says Wallace, 37. "It takes many, including complicated, smart, funny, weary and tough. She has many layers to her — she's perfect, warm, pushy, savvy — but a person's image of the first lady depends where he or she stops. As a baby, Mrs. Reagan was abandoned by her mother and father, and all her life she's been insecure. She finally realizes her popularity is growing, but there will always be those who mistake her insecurity for aloofness."

Wallace, who waited four weeks for the White House's permission to begin the special, claims his opinion of Mrs. Reagan changed after working on the documentary. "I have a healthy respect for her now," he says. "Her assertiveness has grown and she has a keener understanding of what it means to be first lady. And she's a good politician. She isn't Catherine the Great or Evita, simply one of the White House's top players — someone who wants to leave her mark on history. And someone who will."

ASK ME ABOUT TV

By Val Carew

I'm only 18 years old, but I've been a big fan of Bob Cummings ever since I began watching reruns of "Love That Bob." How old is the actor? Has he made any other TV series? — R.R., Muscle Shoals, Ala.

Bob Cummings

Cummings was born Clarence Robert Orville Cummings in Joplin, Mo., on June 10, 1908. He and his second wife, Mary, are the parents of seven children. The actor has always been a health-food fan, even before it was fashionable to avoid artificial ingredients.

Cummings made his film debut in "The Virginia Judge" (1935); he went on to make more than 50 more films. Cummings has had four TV series: "My Hero" (1952-53), "The Bob Cummings Show" (1955-59), which is syndicated as "Love That Bob," another series called "The Bob Cummings Show" (1961-62), and "My Living Doll" (1964-65).

What can you tell me about Tina Yothers, the actress who plays Jennifer on "Family Ties"? — M.G., Falconer, N.Y.

The actress was born in Whittier, Calif., on May 5, 1973. The youngest of five children, Miss Yothers wanted to follow in the footsteps of her brothers and sister and appear in commercials. She landed her first professional role as the daughter of Albert Finney and Diane Keaton in the 1982 film "Shoot the Moon." That role led to the Disney pilot "Cherokee Trail" and "Family Ties." In her spare time, Miss Yothers works with abused children.

Primus isn't certain about his series future

By Gregory Garver

HOLLYWOOD — Barry Primus is single-handedly trying to save the aviation industry.

The actor primarily works in California, while his wife, choreographer and dance teacher Julie Arenal, primarily works in New York. So the couple has two homes — one on the West Coast, one on the East Coast — and Primus is constantly up in the air, going here to there, there to here.

Primus jokingly claims he has airline timetables memorized. The actor also says he is constantly checking with the airlines about special rates and travel fare bargains.

What keeps Primus hopping is his role on "Cagney & Lacey." In the CBS series, he portrays Dory, a cop who has problems with drugs. Dory also had a romance with Chris Cagney, played by Sharon Gless. The show has been picked up for another season and Primus says he's been asked to return also.

But the actor claims he doesn't know what the status of the Dory-Cagney relationship is — his character proposed to the policewoman this season — or how it will turn out in the future.

"There are a lot of ways it could go," Primus says. "We could be good friends or maybe more than that. We could have a modern-day love affair. We could live together. Or we could wind up hating each other. It would all make a good story."

Sharon Gless and Barry Primus on "Cagney & Lacey."

SUNDAY

Eddie Albert plays an airline owner and Sybil Danning portrays his wife in "The Concorde — Airport '79," a 1979 disaster-and-doom film airing Sunday, June 23 on ABC. (Rebroadcast)

STAR STYLE

Funny Boys know that fitness isn't a joke

By Renee Ross

Ask a pair of bright young comedians about their exercise habits and you set yourself up for a wacky response. "We enjoy bullfighting," says a deadpan James Vallely. "Yes, but it's difficult because few health clubs have bull rinks big enough," chimes in his partner, Jonathan Schmock.

Together, they're respectively known to TV viewers as Charles Kincaid and Billy Batalato on NBC's comedy series "Double Trouble." Fans of improvisational stand-up comedy and the Johnny Carson and David Letterman shows know them as the Funny Boys.

Joking aside, the pair gets serious when they explain why they believe in the value of treating your body right. "Performers have to know how to get rid of stress," says Vallely, 27, "because it makes up 90 percent of the business." Adds Schmock, 26: "It's also important to listen to yourself, healthwise. Your body knows what it needs in terms of food, rest and exercise."

The duo's non-stop comedy stage routine helps them stay in top form when they tickle TV audiences. "We have a very physical act," explains Vallely. "Jon lifts me, and we do things like jump up on chairs. As a performer, my body is my instrument and I've got to use it well." When not hoisting each other on stage, the Funny Boys turn to more mundane fitness forms such as swimming or working out with weights.

Now that their comedy stars are rising, the Funny Boys salute the importance of paying dues. "We had some hard years before anything broke in our careers," Schmock says, "but we learned to survive. We've also learned that money isn't everything." Adds his partner: "People who don't like what they do are less apt to take charge of their lives. We're lucky — we love what we do."

BEHIND THE SCENES

Hofsiss intimidated by Wiiliams' original 'Cat'

By Marta Tarbell

For Jack Hofsiss, directing "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" was a revelation. "I had seen two productions of the play as an audience member," says the 33-year-old director. "Back then, my favorite scenes were Maggie the Cat's in Act 1."

But after moving to the director's chair for the American Playhouse and Showtime co-production of Tennessee Williams' American classic, Hofsiss found some new favorite moments. "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" airs June 24 on PBS. (Check local listings.)

"I was fascinated by the scene in which the family gathers in the bedroom to tell Big Mama that Big Daddy is dying," he says. "That scene is all about family politics — the give and take, the love and hate, the mixture of anger and dependency and all the different messages that family members send out to one another. After encountering it as a director, I could see every single character's point of view."

Drama is Hofsiss' lifeblood. The Yale School of Drama graduate began his professional career with an apprenticeship at the renowned New York Shakespeare Festival. In between stage shows, he directed TV shows, including episodes of "Another World" and two PBS productions.

In 1979, he directed the hit Broadway play "The Elephant Man." Three years later, he directed a television version of the play.

Despite that heady list of credits, Hofsiss admits that directing "Cat," whose cast includes Jessica Lange, Rip Torn, Tommy Lee Jones and Kim Stanley, had even him intimidated.

Jessica Lange

"Having Kim Stanley play Big Mama lent our production a real sense of history," he says. "She had played Maggie the Cat in a London production of the play. We were all a bit intimidated, and we all listened very carefully to whatever she had to say. I think knowing that Kim was watching was particularly hard on Jessica, especially in the early states of rehearsal, when actors have to make a lot of choices that they realize later on might not be right."

Cable television viewers who watched "Cat" on Showtime earlier this year may notice that some of Williams' salty language has been expunged from the PBS production.

"We had to modify it for PBS," explains Hofsiss. "We deleted seven or eight expletives, and sometimes that involved shooting the scene twice."

SOAP OPERA WEEK

Judith isn't checking out of 'General Hospital'

By Kimberly Redmond

I'm addicted to "General Hospital" because of the great job Judith Chapman does portraying Ginny Blake Webber. What can you tell me about the actress? Is it true that she may be leaving the show? — D.S., Colorado Springs, Colo.

Judith Chapman

Miss Chapman is the daughter of a retired Air Force general. She was born in Greenville, S.C., but was raised in Japan, Spain and England. An excellent swimmer and diver, Miss Chapman qualified for the British Olympic diving team when she was 11 years old. She originally thought of becoming a marine biologist or archaeologist, but abandoned those thoughts after she made her first TV commercial.

Besides her current "GH" stint, Miss Chapman has portrayed Natalie Banning on "As the World Turns" and Charlotte Greer on "Ryan's Hope." She has also appeared in several stage productions, in films and on numerous prime-time series. She is married to actor-turned-restaurateur Neilan Tyree. And stop worrying. There's no official word that Miss Chapman is leaving the ABC soap.

Was David Hasselhoff the first actor to portray Snapper Foster on "The Young and the Restless"? My brother insists he wasn't. — K.D., West Paris, Me.

Your brother is right. William Gray Espy created the role of Foster, although Hasselhoff portrayed the role the longest.

Tax Revenue Growth Sizable Despite Refunds

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldsten reported state and local income tax revenue for the month of May, 1985, totaled $275,863,333, up 9% from the $253,067,461 collected during the same period last year. "The 9% growth is good, especially when you consider that May was a very hard month for issuing the last of the individual income tax refunds," Goldstein said.

The comptroller said his office issued $74.6 million in individual income tax refunds during May, 1985.

State and local income tax revenue totaled $2,338,284,798 for the first ten months of Fiscal Year 1985, an increase of 11.8% over the $2,135,471,889 collected during the same period of Fiscal Year 1984.

Goldstein noted that telephone calls inquiring about state income tax refunds have slowed to normal off season levels, indicating that almost all taxpayers have received their refund checks.

"Since January, we have issued 1,325,991 refund checks totaling $365,961,916," Goldstein noted. "That means we have refunded 10.3% more money to taxpayers this year than last year." The average state refund check is $276, compared with $256 at this time last year.

West Virginia Day Festival Set At Hopemont

In celebration of West Virginia's 122nd Birthday, Hopemont Personal Care Home will once again sponsor a West Virginia Day Festival on Saturday, June 22. The festival, in its seventh year, will feature five bands, a hayride, pony rides, antique cars, a cookout and other activities.

Musical groups tentatively scheduled to perform include Floyd Knapp and Friends, the Country Cousins, Jim Hollis and Friends, the Saturday Nite Pickers and the Riggins Brothers. The U.S. Recording Companies furnished funds in part for the instrumental music for the performance by the Riggins Brothers through the Music Performance Trust Funds, as arranged by Local No. 562, American Federation of Musicians. All performances are free to the public.

Also during the festival, the Upper Potomac Valley Vintage Auto Club will sponsor a non-judging auto show for the enjoyment of the visitors and the residents of Hopemont. The opening ceremony, beginning at 10 a.m., will feature the crowning of Hopemont's new King and Queen. Last year's winners were Joe Davis and Margarite Root.

In addition to the hayrides and pony rides, other activities include craft sales, bake sales, a dunking machine and 5 cent bingo cards. Meals for supper and dinner will be available to all visitors for a nominal charge.

Bible School Planned At Fairview Church

Pastor David Moon welcomes all children in this age group to attend.

Park Service Gives Suggestions On Picnicking

Planning and preparing for an enjoyable cookout or picnic is essential, according to the Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service, which offers park visitors five suggestions on how to plan and prepare for a relaxed, trouble-free cookout or picnic outing.

1. Make a check list of all items and food needed for the outing. Check off items to ensure nothing is forgotten.

2. Include disposable trash bags on the list. Two problems are eliminated by using trash bags; litter and the nuisance of bees and flies which are attracted to garbage around the picnic site or in open trash cans.

3. Include a large container of water on the list. There are few picnic sites with running water. Water is often needed to wash off cooking utensils before packing up for home.

4. Select a site that will accommodate the picnic party and table space needed.

5. When leaving the picnic site, secure valuable items in a safe place and cover food that may attract pests.

Picnic sites can be found throughout Western Maryland state parks and picnic shelters are available at the following state parks: Rocky Gap, Dans Mountain, Big Run, New Germany, Deep Creek Lake, Herrington Manor/Swallow Falls.

Numerous playgrounds are located near picnic sites. Park visitors are encouraged to include a park interpretive program to their list of things to do while enjoying their outing. For shelter fees and reservations, persons should contact the individual park or the Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service, Tawes State Office Building, Annapolis, Maryland 21401 or call (301) 269-3771.

Something To Think About
R. Mark Durst
DIRECTOR

A COMFORTING HAND

A study, the results of which were reported in the New England Journal of Medicine, indicates that funeral directors have been very helpful in dealing with families suffering the grievous loss of a child due to disease. Most of the families expressed very positive feelings toward the funeral director for the services rendered during their bereavement. The authors conclude that the funeral directors' experience with grief reactions make them skilled in offering solace to grieving families.

This role as counselor/comforter may be more important than ever before. The increasing isolation of people in our society and the fractionalization of the family often make the needs of the bereaved very acute. The modern funeral director is aware of and sensitive to these needs. Often, because of his experience with grief, the funeral director can make an invaluable contribution to meeting these needs.

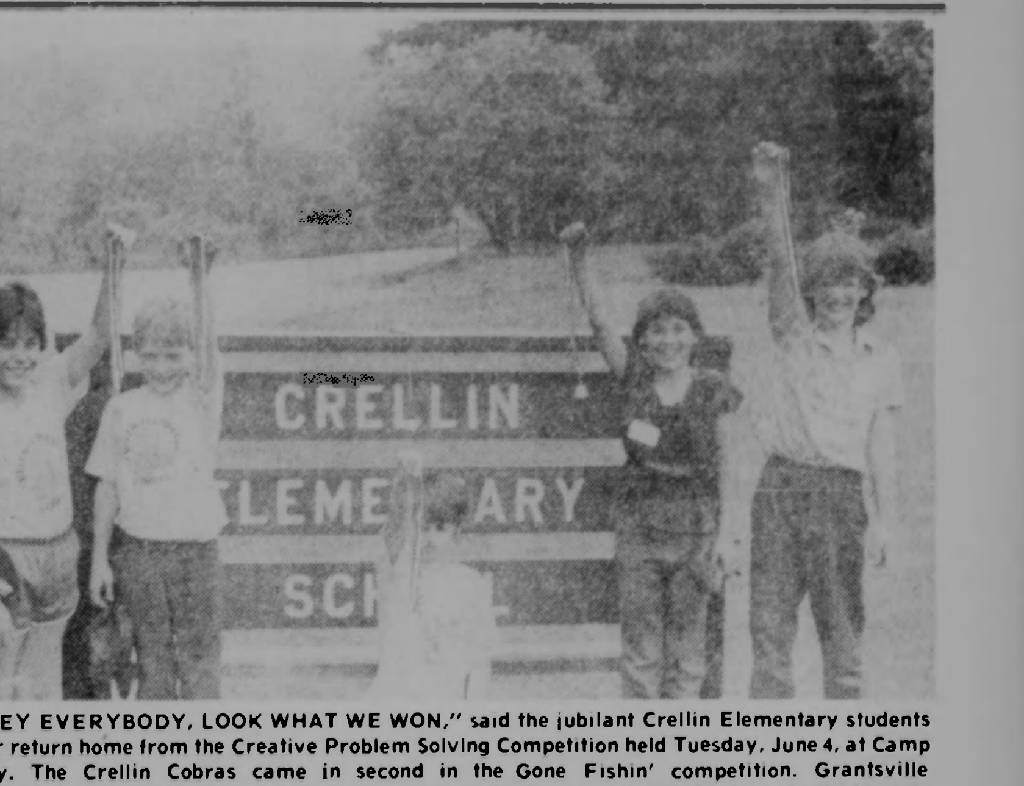
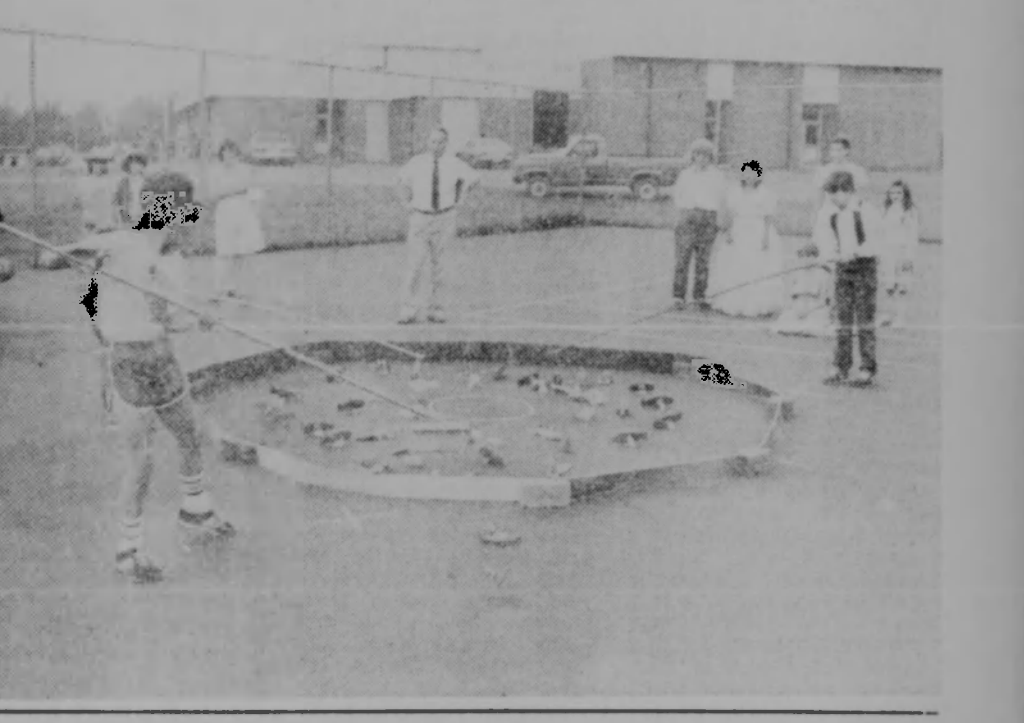
FRIENDSVILLE FISHERMEN FINISHED FIRST in the Shootin' Fish competition of the Creative Problem Solving Event held at Camp Hickory on Tuesday, June 4. The students were instructed to shoot Ping-Pong balls into a moving bucket without having the balls touch their hands. The student pictured certainly came up with a unique method to "shoot fish" - blowing the balls through a tube. All the students agreed that the day's events were a lot of hard work and a whole lot of fun.



"HEY EVERYBODY, LOOK WHAT WE WON," said the jubilant Crellin Elementary students on their return home from the Creative Problem Solving Competition held Tuesday, June 4, at Camp Hickory. The Crellin Cobras came in second in the Gone Fishin' competition. Grantsville Elementary School took first place in that event. The students were instructed to invent a fishing pole without using rods, reels, hooks, fishing line, or any other part of a real fishing pole. Shown above, left to right, displaying their medals are Tommy Long, Jason Groves, Adam Cowgill, Tammy Eisentrout and Alayna Beahm. Below are a sampling of the makeshift poles used in the Gone Fishin' competition. One of the judges for the event, Rev. John Grant, is shown in the center of the photo watching for penalties.



Garrett County's G/T Students— Movers And Shakers Of The Future

by Pam Ashby

A unique competition was held in Garrett County for the first time last week as fourth and fifth grade gifted and talented students came together for a meeting of the minds at Camp Hickory. The Garrett County Creative Problem Solving Competition was based on the National "Olympics of the Mind" competition.

Students from Accident Elementary, Broadford Elementary, Crellin Elementary, Dennett Road Elementary, Friendsville Elementary, Grantsville Elementary, Kitzmiller Elementary, Loch Lynn Elementary, Red House Elementary, Rt. 40 Elementary and the Yoder School all participated in the "meeting of the minds", which involved solving long-term problems and spontaneous problems.

The long-term problems were as follows:

Audio-Guidance System - The students were instructed to develop a method to communicate nonverbally between a five member team. A blindfolded member of the team was equipped with a handmade blowgun to shoot balloons along the irregular path. The blindfolded member was guided by the remaining four members who used nonverbal signals.

Shootin' Fish - In this event, the students had to design a method to cast Ping-Pong balls into a moving vehicle. The trick here was that they could not use their hands to throw the balls.

Gone Fishin' - This part of the competition involved a good deal of ingenuity on the part of the students since they had to design the fish and the method of catching the fish. They were not allowed to use real fishing equipment, including rods, reels, hooks or string. The students were not allowed to touch the fish until they were caught and brought outside the pond. Each fish had a different point value.

Wild Vibes - The teams had to create musical instruments and play from a specific selection of tunes. The instruments had to be new creations; not copied after any other musical instrument already invented.

Throughout the day, students brainstormed answers to selected problems presented to them. One method of brainstorming used involved showing the students an unusual item and asking them to give it a name five times in succession with their other teammates. Creative answers counted here and it was harder than one might imagine.

The day-long event was coordinated by the county's G/T teachers, Sheila Russell, Mary Ann Green, Patty Rice, Rosetta Rodeheaver, and Charlene Evans-Thomas, director of elementary education in the county.

Judges for the competition were Pastor Ray Ursin, Rev. John Grant, Lillian Mitchell, Joan Sussman, Dottie Leighton, John Smith, Diane Thayer, and Joan Crawford. Special guests at the event were Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, superintendent of Garrett County Schools; Dr. Charlene Evans-Thomas; and Robert Rodeheaver, former director of secondary education and one of the principal people who developed the G/T program in the county.

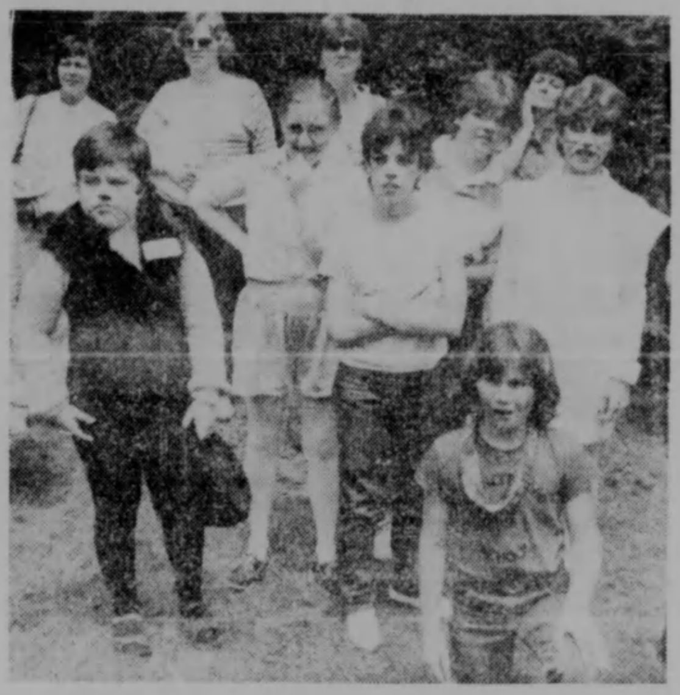
The day began with the parade of the schools, similar to the parade at the Olympics, complete with banners and costumes, which were made by the students. Storybook characters, farmers, The Flintstones, cats, punk rockers, clowns, Indians, and cowboys were among the paraders.

The day concluded with an Awards Ceremony in the dining hall. Winners were presented with medals and every participant in each event received a ribbon. The winners in the various categories were: Audio Guidance - Loch Lynn, first place; Grantsville, second place. Gone Fishin' - Grantsville, first place; Crellin, second place. Wild Vibes - Grantsville, first place; Friendsville, second place. Shootin' Fish - Dennett Road, first place; Friendsville, second place. Overall best scorers in the spontaneous brainstorming were the Accident students. Friendsville took second place.

While the judges tallied scores before the awards ceremony, the students and parents were treated to a puppet demonstration by Jerry Snelson, a teacher at Northern High School.

It was encouraging to see so many youngsters using their minds so creatively in the spirit of competition as well as in fun. When asked if she planned this to be a yearly event, Sheila Russell replied, "I hope we can do it again. We began working on this in January and a great deal of time was involved. It would be great if we could compete on the national level in the future."

There is little doubt in this writer's mind that our own Garrett County kids could not only compete on a national level, but fare quite well in the process. Hats off to the future "movers and shakers" of Garrett County.



COOL CATS? — The fifth grade students from Dennett Road Elementary School really looked like cats before they shed half of their costumes. Warm, humid weather during the Creative Problem Solving competition forced the cats to cast off their fur as they watched their school's fourth grade students capture a first place in the Shootin' Fish contest. Friendsville pulled off a close second. Cats shown standing in the photo, left to right, are Denise Bee, Erin Dabney, Allison Graybill Ashley Smith and Susan Umstot. Shown kneeling is Ingrid Carlson, a fourth grader from Dennett Road, who participated in the Gone Fishin' competition. The day of competition culminated in an exciting awards ceremony, as winners claimed their medals, shown in the photo below. GAT teacher Sheila Russell, who was instrumental in developing the day of competition, shown in the center, presented the medals to the winners and ribbons to every student who participated in the day's events.

WHAT EVERY GOOD MEDICINE CHEST SHOULD HAVE

It is a good idea to have a medicine chest that's separate from your bathroom cabinet. This makes it easy to keep potent drugs and poisons out of reach of children. Here is a good basic list for a well-stocked medicine chest.

absorbent cotton	medicine dropper
adhesive tape	milk of magnesia
aspirin	mineral oil
atomizer	nose drops
bicarbonate of soda	ointment for burns
cold cream	petroleum jelly
cough syrup	rubbing alcohol
epsom salts	scissors and tweezers
eye cup	spirits of ammonia
fever thermometer	throat swabs

CHARMING CHAP-CHUMLEY

It's unfortunate, I say, that people have a wrong impression of Chumley. He's really a capital fellow. Friendly, agreeable, always faithful. It's just a shame that folks judge Chumley by appearances.

There is one place in our community where folks are learning to see one another and the world through honest eyes. It's the Church.

As we learn more about the power and love of God we begin to gain a deeper understanding of His creation. We behold nature with reverent appreciation of its awe and wonder. We see people as reflections — however imperfect — of their Maker.

The Church is constantly stressing our spiritual potential . . . helping us become the people God intends us to be!

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

WHEN GOD COMPLAINS
June 23, 1985

Background Scripture: Micah 3:6.
Devotional Reading: Micah 2:5-13.

Imagine, if you will, this scene:

JUDAH: "Well, Israel, why are you looking so upset?"

ISRAEL: "Oh, I just received this nasty letter from the Lord."

JUDAH: "A nasty letter?"

ISRAEL: "Yeah, it's a letter of complaint."

JUDAH: "What's the complaint?"

ISRAEL: "Oh, God's mad because I have such a bad memory."

JUDAH: "What did you forget?"

ISRAEL: "Really just two things: what he's done for me in the past and what he wants me to do right now, that's all!"

FOR YOU TO KNOW

Israel couldn't understand why God was making such a complaint. So, they didn't always remember what God wanted them to remember! Nevertheless, were they not the chosen few, the only people in the world who acknowledged God as the Lord?

As far as their reasoning went, they were right. They alone were the people of God. But it was precisely because of this that God was making his serious complaint against them. Because they were "special" to him, he expected more, not less, from them. And his complaint was that he was getting substantially less, not more:

They covet fields and seize them; and houses, and take them away; they oppress a man and his house, a man and his inheritance. (2:2).

As God's chosen people, as the leaders of these people, more, not less, was expected of Israel: "Hear, you heads of Jacob and rulers of the house of Israel, is it not for you to know justice?" (3:1). In other words, God does not judge us by the same standards with which he judges those who do not acknowledge him as Lord. In fact, he judges us more stringently because he expects more of us.

WHAT IS GOOD?

And what is this "more" that he expects? "With what shall I come before the Lord, and bow myself before God on high? Shall I come to him with burnt offerings, with calves a year old?" (6:6). Will my church pledge satisfy him? My hours of service on the committees of my parish? My attendance at prayer breakfasts? The snappy (perhaps smug) motto on the license plate of my car? Will any of these turn away God's complaint? After all, what does God want?

Good question! And now the answer from Micah:

He has showed you, O man, what is good; and what does the Lord require of you but to do justice, and to love kindness, and to walk humbly with your God. (6:8).

The problem is not that we don't know what he wants from us, but that we do know and conveniently forget, offering him something else. So long as we continue to forget this, God will continue to make his complaint.

CINDY SAYS

Lena decides to write her life story — again

Lena Horne

NEW YORK — The great, glorious and gorgeous Lena Horne is becoming the great, glorious, gorgeous and literary Lena Horne. The singer's writing a book — her third autobiography — for Dell. Her collaborator is Marsha Gillespie.

"I'm doing my autobiography now that I'm near the end of my life," says Lena, with nostrils and bosom and wry humor dilating at the same time. "That is, if I ever finish it. I started the thing when I was on Broadway — and that was a long time ago." (It actually wasn't. It was only four years ago.)

"I freeze with a tape recorder. I can't work with the damn thing, so I just talk and Marsha takes it down in longhand. I don't even know what the title will be. The fact is, I have a lot of trouble reliving all that crap."

Wait! There's even more movie-star autobiographies coming our way. Sylvia Sidney's doing an as-told-to with veteran celeb biographer George Eels. Months ago, Sylvia went to Florida with yards of material, tried to write the book herself and decided to forget it. Until now.

"Hill Street Blues" star Daniel J. Travanti is playing Edward R. Murrow in an HBO movie. Before shooting in London, Danny spent three days at New York City's Museum of Broadcasting, checking and studying old E.R.M. footage, tapes and photos. ... Barbara Mandrell will film "Insight," an upcoming two-hour TV flick. In the film, the country crooner will play a Midwestern newscaster whose 9-year-old son kills a playmate.

Sammy Davis Jr. has just established the Sammy Davis Jr. National Liver Institute at the Newark, N.J. University of Medicine and Dentistry. It's the only facility dealing with the liver, and Sammy's hoping it raises $30 million.

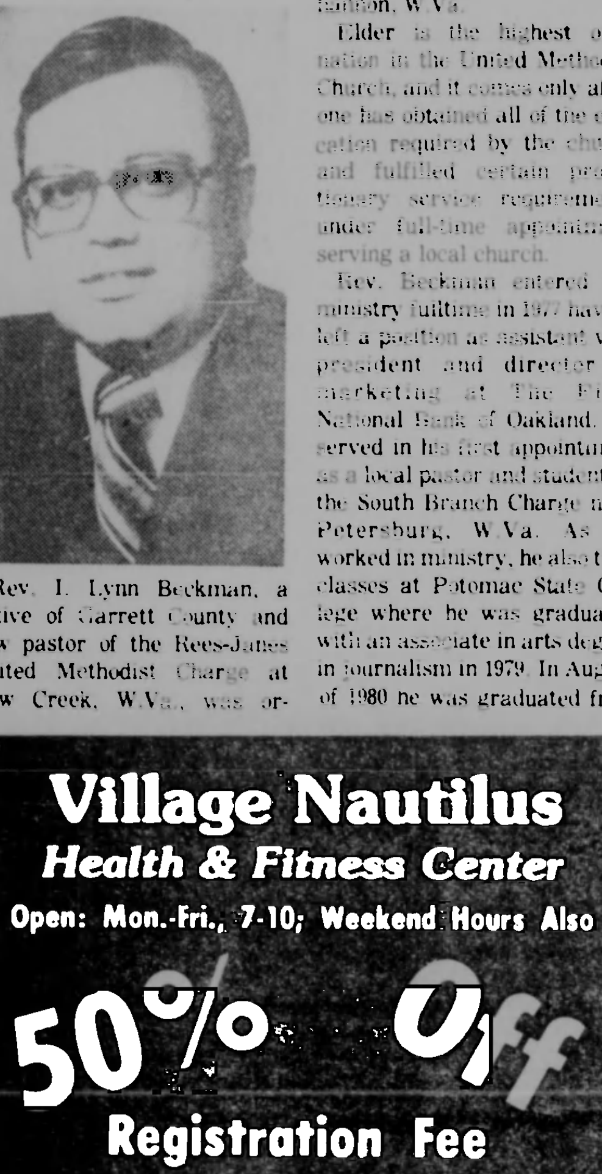
Beckman Ordained Elder At Annual UM Conference



Rev. I. Lynn Beckman, a native of Garrett County and now pastor of the Rees-James United Methodist Charge at New Creek, W.Va., was ordained an elder and accepted into full membership of the West Virginia Annual Conference, Sunday, June 16, in a special service at West Virginia Wesleyan College in Buckhannon, W.Va.

Elder is the highest ordination in the United Methodist Church, and it comes only after one has obtained all of the education required by the church and fulfilled certain probationary service requirements under full-time appointment serving a local church.

Rev. Beckman entered the ministry fulltime in 1977 having left a position as assistant vice president and director of marketing at The First National Bank of Oakland. He served in his first appointment as a local pastor and student on the South Branch Charge near Petersburg, W.Va. As he worked in ministry, he also took classes at Potomac State College where he was graduated with an associate in arts degree in journalism in 1979. In August of 1980 he was graduated from West Virginia University, magna cum laude, with a bachelor of arts degree.

During the time of Rev. Beckman's appointment to the Evangelical United Methodist Charge at Franklin, W.Va., he attended Eastern Mennonite Seminary in Harrisonburg, Va., beginning in 1980. In 1983 he was graduated with a master of divinity degree.

Since 1983, Rev. Beckman has served his present appointment at New Creek. In June of 1982 he was ordained a deacon and received into probationary membership of the West Virginia Annual Conference.

Rev. Beckman's career experiences have included public relations and broadcasting. He was emlployed by WMSG Radio in Oakland, in local news and as a staff announcer. He also worked for WCST Radio in Berkeley Springs, W.Va., and served as that station's assistant manager in the mid-1960s. From 1967 through 1970 he was the executive director of the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council in Oakland and was one of the originators of the annual Autumn Glory Festival.

Rev. Beckman is married to the former Mary Virginia Waugh of Berkeley Springs, and they have three sons, Richard, 19; Keith, 14; and Timothy, 3. Mary Beckman has also entered the ministry. She presently serves the Fairview-Laureldale United Methodist Charge near Keyers.

Receives Degree

William Covalt received an associate in science degree from San Diego City College at graduation exercises held May 30.

Covalt majored in air conditioning, heating, major refrigeration, and solar technology.

He is the son of Cristina Covalt of El Paso, Tex. and the son-in-law of Raymond Aronhalt Sr., Gormania, W. Va. He resides with his wife, Barbara, and two children, Michael and Melissa, in San Diego.

TWO BARRELS OF PENNIES, undoubtedly worth several hundred dollars, have been collected by the Sunday School classes of the Mt. Top Christian Assembly, Rt. 135, and will soon be donated to Speed the Light, a youth missions ministry of the Assemblies of God which provides foreign missionaries with the transportation needed in their area of the world to allow them to reach people of all habitats, from the cities to the jungles. Pictured left to right, front row, are Diane Evick, Kristi Fultz, Gloria McCloud, Traci Klier, Kristi Klier, D.J. Valentine, Joshua Valentine, and David McCloud. In the second row, same order, are Renee Shaffer, Cindy Klier, Kathy Armstrong, Kelly Gank, Melinda Evick, Janet Kight, Paula Corbin, and Pam Armstrong. In the back row, same order, are Steve Klier, Michael Klier, Dorsey Valentine, Randy Evick, Bill Morel, Dona McCloud, John McCloud, and Roger Uber.

Evanses Participate In Square Dance Cruise On Rhine

Melvin and Martha Evans of Dry Run Road, Swanton area, and also members of Mt. Top Promenaders Square Dance Club of Oakland, recently took a tour of the Rhine River Valley. They accompanied over ten squares (80 people), mostly from Illinois, California and Florida.

Included in the tour were square dances at the inn on Lake Luzerne in Switzerland, several dances on the Rhine River cruise ship, in the Court Yard of Heidelberg Castle, and a short trip on top of the largest wine barrel (accommodated two squares at a time) at a wine tavern in Rudesheim. The members of the group were guests of the Tulip Twirlers Square Dance Club of Haarlem near Amsterdam, Netherlands.

They were accompanied by their caller, Dave Tayler, of Illinois, but were also treated to square dance calling by a German and by a Netherlands caller.

This tour delayed the Evans return to Garrett County until late in June.

Canoeing Course Offered By GCC

A course in the basics of whitewater canoeing will be offered during the summer semester at Garrett Community College. The course will meet Wednesdays from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Instructor for the course will be Mike Logsdon, instructor of physics and chairperson of the college's science division. Logsdon is a whitewater paddler with several years experience on the rivers of the tri-state area.

Entitled Canoeing II, the class will first cover a review of basic paddling strokes on flatwater, and will progress to work on easy, low-key whitewater streams in the area. Although a class in flatwater canoeing is listed as a prerequisite for the course, Logsdon said that beginning paddlers should have no difficulty with the class due to the review sessions early in the semester and all interested persons are invited to register.

"Garrett County will be hosting the World Championships in whitewater racing in 1989, so we are offering this course to help develop an appreciation and understanding of whitewater canoeing among county residents," said Logsdon, who is a member of the organizing committee for the upcoming championships.

Several national-caliber whitewater paddlers from the local area will assist with teaching certain specialized skills throughout the course.

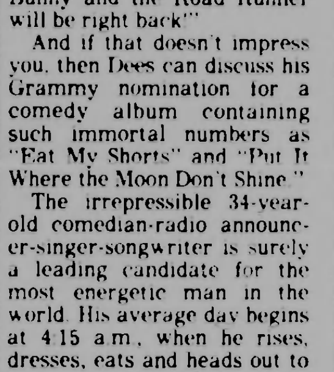
Dees' golden career has him busy all day long

By Gillian George

Rick Dees wants to impress you. The popular host of "Solid Gold" can brag about his instant success back in 1976 when "Disco Duck," one of the dumbest ditties ever recorded, shot Dees to national prominence, at the time he was just an unknown Memphis disc jockey.



Rick Dees

Or he could tell you how he spends his Saturday mornings assuring kiddies that "Bugs Bunny and the Road Runner will be right back!"

And if that doesn't impress you, then Dees can discuss his Grammy nomination for a comedy album containing such immortal numbers as "Eat My Shorts" and "Put It Where the Moon Don't Shine."

The irrepressible 34-year-old comedian-radio announcer-singer-songwriter is surely a leading candidate for the most energetic man in the world. His average day begins at 4:15 a.m., when he rises, dresses, eats and heads out to work at a Southern California radio studio. By 6 a.m., Dees is on the air, doing his daily four-hour comedic talk show, which he says is "like falling off a log every day. There's no script, only a stack of newspaper and magazine clippings left on my desk by the producer. If I run out of little twists on what's happening in the news, I pick up the phone and call somebody. It almost always turns out to be funny," he adds, "because most people are just dying to be performers."

Once a week, Dees tapes the four-hour "Rick Dees Top 40 Countdown," a radio show that's syndicated on more than 350 stations around the world. Then, every other week, he tapes (over three 12-hour days) two back-to-back segments of "Solid Gold."

But wait — there's more. Dees spends his "slack days" — a peculiar term coming from him — making TV commercials for products such as Michelob beer. "Slack" evenings are spent on the concert trail doing stand-up comedy.

Asked how he maintains his schedule, Dees shrugs. "I've been blessed with lots of energy, which was probably passed on by my mother," he says. "I've chosen entertainment and comedy as my hobby and I'm lucky enough to get paid for it.

"God has been real good to me and he must have a sense of humor. I'm mainly a clown trying to cheer people up, but that takes acting. Even saying, 'Now, here's the No. 7 song,' requires a little twinkle in the eye. Sure, I work hard. But let's face it, I'm having a ball!"

Orientation Held For Seasonal Park Employees

State parks in Garrett County recently conducted the 1985 Seasonal Employees Orientation at Herrington Manor State Park. The workshop was designed for seasonal park manager, interpreters, technicians, life guards, office and maintenance staff from Herrington Manor/Swallow Falls, Deep Creek Lake, and New Germany/Big Run State Parks. Fifty-eight seasonals from Garrett County state parks are employed with the Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service for the 1985 spring, summer and fall season.

During the workshop held on May 21, 30 seasonals participated in sessions on park regulations and policies, safety, work ethics, courtesy and treatment of the public. Special meetings will be held for seasonals who remained at their job sites to maintain the parks during the orientation. There was also a question and answer period for each park. Learning stations were set up for driving techniques used in parks, bathroom cleaning, first aid and tool use/care. Tests were given for driving and radio use and awards were presented to the following seasonal maintenance employees for the highest scores on written and individual tests:

James Walker (Herrington Manor/Swallow Falls): Highest individual practical driving test scores.

David Scheffield (New Germany) and Alan Wilt (Deep Creek Lake): Highest individual test scores/written and practical.

By conducting an orientation workshop of this type, cooperation among Garrett County park managers and an overall team effort on the part of seasonals, "cuts down on duplication of effort at each park location," states Gerry Sword, park manager at Herrington Manor/Swallow Falls State Park. The county-wide concept evolved from past orientations held for seasonal employees at Herrington Manor. This year, Park Managers Sword and James Rogers (New Germany),; Assistant Managers Roger Riley (Herrington Manor/-Swallow Falls) and James Wilburn (Deep Creek Lake); Deep Creek Lake Natural Resource Manager Mike Gregory; and Conservation Aide Dennis Shaffer (Herrington Mane/-Swallow Falls) coordinated and instructed class sessions for this endeavor.

THE OATH OF OFFICE WAS ADMINISTERED to the new appointees of the Board of Supervisors of Elections for Garrett County on Monday, June 10, by Clifford C. DeWitt, clerk of the Circuit Court. Pictured left to right are board members appointed by Governor Harry Hughes: Eugene Coddington, of Mtn. Lake Park, Democrat member and newly elected president of the board; Roscoe H. Swiger, Oakland, Republican member; James Brady, Kitzmiller, Democrat member; Jack Fridinger, Oakland, substitute Democrat member; and DeWitt. Not pictured is George Shawley, Bittinger, who was appointed substitute Republican member. The board appointed Thomas B. Dabney Jr. to serve as attorney to the board. Willoughby Callis, Oakland; Brian Schofield, Bittinger, Harley Brenneman, Bittinger; and Donald Ringer, Accident, were appointed voting machine custodians. Faye Bittinger, Carole G. Paugh, and Frederick D. Sanders, all Oakland, are the office personnel.

Consumer Openings On State Health Commissions Noted

The Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene has announced openings for consumer members on State Boards and Commissions that regulate the following health professions: chiropractics, dentistry, nursing, occupational therapy, pharmaceutics, environmental sanitation and well drilling.

The regulatory boards examine, license and discipline members of their professions and consumer members of the boards provide a voice for the public in decisions which directly affect the quality of health care for the citizens of Maryland.

Appointments are made by the Governor of the State with the advice of the Secretary of Health and Mental Hygiene and the consent of the Senate of Maryland. Candidates must be residents of Maryland with an interest or background in public service and be willing to spend the time needed to understand the technical aspects of the profession the board regulates.

Consumer members and their relatives may not have engaged in the profession the Board regulates, been in training for the profession or participated in a related commercial or professional field.

Also, within two years of the appointment, consumer members may not have had a substantial financial interest in a person regulated by the Board of Commission.

Further information and application forms can be obtained by calling 225-6485, the Division of Appointments, State Department of Health and Mental Hygiene.

RECEIVE AWARDS — A number of fifth grade students at Accident Elementary School were recent recipients of the Presidential Academic Fitness Award for having attained a cumulative B average during their years in elementary school and by placing in the 80th percentile on a nationally recognized standardized achievement test battery. Pictured left to right, front row, Jerod Buckel, Barry Savage, and Amy Glotfelty. In the second row, same order, are Debbie Stoltzfus, Melanie Artice, Heather Graham, and Andra Speicher. In the third row, same order, are Becky Fratz, Phoebe Maust, Cara Collingwood, Tara Smith, and Melissa Miller. Not present for the photo was Chris Turney. Fifth Graders At Accident Elementary Receive PAF Awards

Presidential Academic Fitness Awards were presented to fifth grade students at Accident Elementary School recently. Those students who received the award, all from Rosanne Sherwood's class, were Melanie Artice, Jerod Buckel, Cara Collingwood, Rebecca Fratz, Amy Glotfelty, Heather Graham, Julia Maust, Melissa Miller, Barry Savage, Tara Smith, Deborah Stoltzfus, and Audra Speicher.

The Presidential Academic Fitness Awards, consisting of a pin and a certificate of recognition for outstanding academic achievement which is signed by the President, the Secretary of Education, and the school principal, were established in 1983 to encourage students to achieve their full academic potential.

The awards are presented at the exit grade of elementary school, middle school, and high school. For an elementary school student to receive the award, he/she must have attained a B average or equivalent accumulated in elementary school, including the first semester of the exit grade at this level. A score must also be received on a recent test which places the student on or above the 80th percentile on any nationally recognized standardized achievement test battery.

The award may also be presented to a limited number of students who do not meet the minimum criteria, yet have shown extraordinary effort in school. These awards for academic achievement may not exceed 10 percent of the awards presented under the established criteria. Chris Turney, also from Mrs. Sherwood's class, received this award.

Principal Robert E. Wilson will present these students with their pins and certificates at the Awards Assembly which will be held tomorrow at 10:00 a.m.

AUXILIARY DONATES $10,000 — The Loar Auxiliary of Garrett County Memorial Hospital drew $10,000 more dollars closer to fulfilling its Project G pledge by handing a check for that amount to the hospital administration last week. The Auxiliary, which operates the hospital gift shop, has now donated a total of $40,000 toward its pledge of $50,000 for the hospital renovation and building project completed two years ago. Project G was the title of the local fund-raising effort. In the photo, left to right, are Elizabeth Mullennex, president of the Loar Auxiliary; Mildred Cecil, treasurer, and Larry M. Beck, administrator of the hospital. The Auxiliary also donates money to the hospital on a regular basis for the purhase of needed medical equipment.

Farmers Who Use Diesel Affected By Revised Law

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein says that, while the tax rate for gasoline and diesel fuel will remain 13½ cents per gallon, much of the rest of the state's motor vehicle fuel tax law will change July 1, 1985. The law changes will have the greatest impact on diesel fuel users and sellers.

"Since Governor Hughes signed this legislation on May 28, 1985, we have opened a hotline in Annapolis to answer questions," Goldstein said. "Most of the 2,000 calls handled so far are coming from farmers who purchase diesel fuel for both non-taxable, off the road, use and for taxable highway use."

Farmers in that situation face a choice. Beginning July 1, 1985, they will pay tax on all of their diesel fuel purchases, unless they have a surety bond and an exemption number. Farmers choosing not to be bonded may claim a refund for that part of the tax paid on non-highway use fuel.

"In order to minimize problems, we are issuing tax exempt numbers by telephone to farmers, contractors and others involved in this situation. They will receive formal applications by mail to complete and return to the Motor Vehicle Fuel Tax Division," Goldstein stated.

Individuals who purchase diesel cars and trucks who don't have storage will no longer need to be licensed by the division, and car and truck dealerships will no longer need to require diesel vehicle purchasers to sign statements declaring where they will buy their fuel.

The special information hotline number is (301) 269-3124.

"The new provisions will streamline the process of collecting the motor fuel tax and will provide our office with an even more complete picture of the fuel situation in Maryland. This could be extremely important in any future energy shortages," Goldstein said.

State Ag Week Committee Notes Slogan Contest

Have a catchy slogan in mind that highlights the important role of agriculture to Maryland? If so, you are invited to send it to the Maryland Ag Week Committee for consideration to be used as the slogan for the 1986 "Ag Week" observance.

Past winners have been such slogans as: "Maryland Agriculture: Something to Crow About," "Maryland Agriculture Food and Energy For People"; "Maryland Agriculture: A Harvest of History;" and "Maryland Agriculture: A Modern Miracle."

The slogan will be used on posters and artwork in connection with the 10-county tour of AG Week in 1986 and in numerous other ways over the year to call attention to various agricultural activities in the state.

Winner of the slogan contest will be invited to attend the annual "Agricultural Banquet" held for the Governor and the General Assembly in early February to kick off the 1986 campaign.

Entrants may submit as many slogans as they desire. The slogan should begin: "Maryland Agriculture......." Submissions must be in writing and send to: "Slogan Contest," c/o Tony Evans, Maryland Department of Agriculture, 50 Harry S. Truman Parkway, Annapolis, Maryland 21401, and must be received by July 15, 1985.

Davis Advises Farmers To File Acreage Report

"We encourage all farmers, whether they participate in our programs or not, to file an acreage report and protect their crop acreage bases," Olin S. Daivs, Jr., chairman of the Maryland State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service said.

By certifying crop acres, farmers establish documentation for future crop acreage bases as well as eligibility for different benefits if they participate in farm programs.

Davis said it is "very important" for farmers who are participating in the 1985 programs to file an acreage report, because without an acreage report, farmers will not be in compliance with program requirements. "We must have the report in order to determine the level at which farmers are eligible for price support loans, deficiency payments and other program benefits."

Program participants are required to report crops and acreages planted, the uses to be made of these crops, and cropland acres to be devoted to the acreage conservation reserve. When farmers report to the county ASCS office, they can review aerial photographs of their farm and pinpoint the fields in which the crops are grown. This information is then documented for program compliance and crop acreage bases. In addition to history purposes, the reports are also necessary to prove crop yields.

The final certification date for spring-seeded crops in Maryland is July 15. Davis urged producers to certify to their crops early, to avoid the long lines that often occur during the week before the July 15 deadline.

Farmers not participating in the 1985 programs are encouraged to report their crop acreages to insure future benefits and protect acreage bases.

Southern States Cooperative Plans Annual Meeting

The Southern States Cooperative Local Annual Membership Meeting for Bruceton Farm Service, Fratz Division, will be held Tuesday, July 30.

This decision was made by local farmer-members at an annual meeting planning conference held June 4.

Among the features of the 1985 meeting will be reports on operations of both Southern States Cooperative and the local retail dealership.

In addition there will be elections, or reports on elections and other business matters.

Attending the planning conference were Harry Wolfe, manager of Bruceton Farm Service, and David A. Huzum, a member of Southern States Cooperative regional office staff at Clarksburg, W. Va.

Also at the session were the following members of the local Board/Stockholder Committee and Farm Home Advisory Committee: Mr. and Mrs. James Margroff, Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Bender, Mr. and Mrs. Frankie Paugh, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bender, Tom Burnell, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Keller, Mrs. Paul Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Bender and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ringer.

Wheat, Barley Loan Rates Noted

The loan and purchase rate for Maryland's 1985 wheat crop is $3.31 per bushel, the same as the 1984 rate, according to Olin S. Davis, Jr., chairman of the Maryland State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

The 1985 barley rate is $1.97 per bushel, five cents less than last year's rate.

Davis said the rates are based on national loan and purchase rates of $3.30 per bushel for wheat and $2.08 per bushel for barley. "The rates vary from state to state to reflect production and utilization patterns and historical prices received by farmers," he stated.

The county's wheat loan rate is for wheat grading No. 1 or better. The barley loan rate is for barely grading No. 2 or better.

Price support loan programs are administered by ASCS. About 23,461 bushels of 1984 wheat are currently under loan. Davis said the loans provide operating capital and allow farmers to hold their crop off the market and benefit from price increases that often come after harvest. Although the program does not guarantee participating farmers a profit, he said it does guarantee a minimum price.

Farmers who have questions concerning the 1985 loan and purchase rates should contact their local ASCS office.

Livestock Show, Steer Camp Held At Fairgrounds

The annual 4-H District Livestock Show for Garrett and Allegany Counties was combined, June 7 and 8, with the Garrett County 4-H and FFA Steer Camp. The event was held at the Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry.

The object of Steer Camp is to give 4-H and FFA members the supervised experience needed to prepare a steer for the Garrett County Fair in August. Members learn to trim feet, bath, clip, and lead their steer. They are then judged so they are able to see what they have learned and what they need to learn before the fair.

Many older 4-H and FFA members helped younger members prepare their steers for a Fitting and Showing class which was judged by Dan Hayes of Kingwood, W. Va. LaVerna Evans served as record keeper.

Winners of the Junior Fitting and Showing contest were: Becky Sanders, first and champion; Bobby Jo Harvey, second; Tommy Ritchey, third; Ty Miller, fourth; Edward Meeks, fifth; and Elizabeth Savage. Also entered in the junior contest was Rebecca DeBerry, Danielle Meeks, and Kendra Wagner.

Senior winners were: Bonnie Lohr, first and champion; Sherri Wilt, second; Heather Savage, third; Gordon Savage, fourth; and Charles DeBerry, fifth. Also showing were seniors Kenny Rinker, Wade DeBerry, and Heather Perando.

ASCS Prepares For Referendum

Conforming with permanent farm legislation until the 1985 farm bill becomes law, the U.S. Department of Agriculture recently proclaimed an acreage allotment of 54 million acres and a marketing quota of 1,955 million bushels for the 1986 wheat crop.

Unless new legislation prevents it, marketing quotas will be required if approved by at least two-thirds of the producers voting in a referendum to be held July 19-26, said Olin S. Davis, Jr., chairman of the Maryland State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. "While new farm legislation is being enacted, farmers need to know the program provisions that could be in effect," he said.

If marketing quotas are approved, the 1986 wheat program would include mandatory acreage controls with stiff penalties for overplanting of the allotment, a two-tiered price support system, a domestic and export certificate program financed by processors and exporters, and, under certain conditions, a mandatory land diversion program.

"If more than one-third of the eligible producers voting in the referendum reject marketing quotas, the basic wheat program would contain a price support loan program set at 50 percent of parity," Davis said. "This would be available only to farmers planting within their acreage allotment, with no acreage controls or penalties for overplanting, no domestic or export certificate program, and no land diversion authority."

Davis said eligible farmers are those who have an interest in a farm with an established acreage allotment that will be derived from the wheat allotment history that has been suspended since the 1977 crop.

Used under large crop conditions, marketing quotas allocate the market among farms growing the crop. "They are made effective through farm acreage allotments and monetary penalties on production or marketings from excess acreage if the acreage exceeds the farm allotment," the ASCS official said.

Maryland farmers can expect to receive their allotment notices, mail ballots and informational packet on the referendum after July 15, 1985," said Davis.

Mycotoxins In Chicken Feed Can Be Deadly

The adage "You are what you eat" also holds true for livestock and poultry. The safer and more nutritious an animal's diet, the better the opportunity for its owner to profit.

That is why it is so important to detect poisons, such as mycotoxins, in animal feed, says Dr. John A. Doerr, poultry scientist at the University of Maryland. Doerr is working to adapt a biotechnology technique that will help scientists discover quickly which toxic substances an animal has digested and how much.

Mycotoxins are chemicals produced by molds that can be deadly to animals, Doerr says. Detection methods are important because molds are so prolific in feed grains under adverse growing or storage conditions.

In sufficient concentrations, these toxins can be as deadly as arsenic or other well known poisons. However, even a very minute amount of some mycotoxins can cause subtle, yet economically devatating changes in animal growth, Doerr says. The trick is not just knowing how to test an obvious problem, but to maintain a constant watch to prevent problems before they occur.

"Even a small amount of some toxins in feed can poison an animal such as a chicken. It's sometimes hard, however, to figure out which mycotoxin is doing it," Doerr says.

While chemical tests are used on grain and feeds, monoclonal antibodies are the key to detecting mycotoxins in the animal itself, Doerr says.

Monoclonal antibodies are proteins that bond to only one substance that may invade the animal's body. Specific mycotoxins can be identified by testing animal specimens with these antibodies. When the mycotoxin bonds with a specific anitbody in the specimen, it can be separated and identified, Doerr says.

In the past, mycotoxins were found by testing feed supplies on farms with suspected problems, Doerr says. Unfortunately, these producers often use up the contaminated feed before the symptoms show up in the animals and tests can be run.

Researchers believe a direct check of animal tissues, blood, urine, milk or eggs may be a better way to find out which mycotoxin is causing the problem.

The new process makes it possible to take tissue from a dead animal and find any unusual levels of toxic material that may have caused the death, Doerr says. Similar methods can be used to identify toxins in live animal tissue, eggs, milk or blood, he adds.

The poultry scientist's goal is to come up with a technique that is applicable to field situations. Doerr says the answer might be a simple blood test that farmers could administer themselves then send to a lab for analysis.

The monoclonal antibody method effectively detects mycotoxins in livestock, but is not yet adapted to field use, Doerr says. The procedure accurately diagnoses the mycotoxins that are causing the problems, he says, but currently must be done in a laboratory. He hopes to modify the process to reduce the time involved and make it less complicated.

NEW LIVESTOCK SCALES WILL BE AVAILABLE AT THE GARRETT COUNTY FAIR to weigh market hogs, lambs, and steers. The scales were purchased by the Garrett County Livestock Association from money the 4-H and FFA exhibitors pay through dues each year. Association member, Bill Wildesen, and Extension Agent, Ted Sprangel, traveled to Ohio to pick the scales up at the Marting Manufacturing Company. Charles DeBerry, Chuck Fitzwater, Steve Paugh, and Johnny Mayne, supervised by Ted Evans and Donald Wilt, did the excavation necessary to pour the concrete. Ted Sprangel, Cliff Tasker, and Brian Alexander formed and poured the concrete. The scales were set up by Ted and Craig Evans, Tom Wildesen, and Ted Sprangel. Additional plans include a building to cover the scales, purchased from Rigidply Rafters, Inc., at a ten percent discount with free delivery. Pictured above, in front of the scales, are Livestock Association members who served on the committee or helped set up the scales. In the back row, left to right, are: Ted Evans, Charles DeBerry, Donald Wilt, Craig Evans, and Ted Sprangel. In the front row, same order, are: Janet Boggess, Oakland FFA Advisor; LaVerna Evans, and Alice Wilhelm.

Maryland Farmers May Idle 41,929 Cropland Acres

The 1985 farm program enrollment report shows that 41,929 acres in Maryland could be diverted from production of wheat and feed grains to the acreage conservation reserve (ACR). "The final acreage reduction and land diversion may be lower based on actual plantings," said Olin S. Davis, Jr., chairman of the Maryland State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

In addition to reducing excess crops and bringing supplies more in line with demand, Davis said the diverted acreage will mean a tremendous savings of soil and water resources on these acres. "Farmers agree to cover their idled acres with annual, biennial or perennial grasses, legumes and small grains to protect their ACR from wind and water erosion. Residue from minimum-till or no-till practices also may be used for a protective cover," he said.

Farmers who signed up to participate in the 1985 acreage reduction programs agreed to reduce their base acreage plantings by at least 10 percent for feed grains and 30 percent for wheat. Participating producers will be eligible for program benefits such as price support loans and purchases, target price protection and land diversion payments under the wheat program. The sign-up period for the programs ended April 1.

According to Davis, ACR or idled cropland must be eligible land that was devoted to a small grain or row crop in two of the last three years. "It can also be land designated as ACR under the previous year's acreage reduction program, or land that was seeded and maintained in a permanent vegetative cover."

The ASCS official said farm program participants are required to maintain approved conservation practices on ACR land through the end of the program year. The diverted acres may not be harvested. Grazing is not authorized during the five principal growing months April 1 to August 31.

Farm Program participants are required to control weeds on ACR prior to June 15 and August 31. Acceptable control measures include mowing and/or spraying. Disking is not an acceptable control measure because it disturbs the conserving cover.

MARYLAND FARMERS • PARTNERS WITH THE BAY •

This is the fourth in a five-part series of articles from a cooperative project between the Maryland Soil Conservation Committee and the Cooperative Extension Service. The articles relate to agriculture management practices and soil conservation and are provided by Shaun Sanders, district manager of the Garrett Soil Conservation District, located in the Garrett County Courthouse, Oakland. Questions or requests for additional information may be directed to Sanders by calling 334-8339.

CONSERVATION TILLAGE NEEDS OTHER BEST MANAGEMENT PRACTICES TO REDUCE AGRICULTURAL POLLUTION

Almost three-fourths of the corn planted in Maryland each year escapes the plow, thanks in a large part to conservation tillage, a modern farm practice that reduces erosion and some forms of water pollution.

But how well will it reduce agricultural pollution of the Chesapeake Bay, one of the world's most productive estuaries?

"It depends on the kind of pollution you're talking about," says Dr. Richard Weismiller, an agronomist at The University of Maryland.

One of the bay's critical pollution problems is "nutrient over-enrichment"—too much of the same fertilizers that, on land, make corn and other farm crops grow, according to Weismiller.

Nitrogen and phosphorus, in particular, set off a pollution explosion of algae which shut off sunlight to submerged vegetation and contribute to a depletion of the bay's oxygen supply. Both consequences are blamed for dwindling marine resources in the bay, Weismiller says.

Conservation tillage methods can keep topsoil on the land where it belongs, he adds.

"But it doesn't automatically follow that conservation tillage keeps all the nitrogen and phosphorus there, too," he says.

Conservation tillage—including no-till, reduced tillage and minimum tillage methods—does its best job keeping phosphorus on farm lands, Weismiller explains.

Phosphorus binds chemically to soil particles. "So, if you keep the soil on the land and it doesn't wash away, the phosphorus stays with it," says Weismiller.

The only problem with that is most of the phosphorus entering the Chesapeake Bay during years of average rainfall comes from other sources—like municipal treatment plants—and not farmland, he says.

"During average or dry years, non-point sources of phosphorus such as farms, forests and roadways contribute 31 to 39% of the total load to the Chesapeake Bay," Weismiller says. "Almost two-thirds, the rest of it, comes from point sources such as factories and treatment plants."

Nitrogenis still another story, according to Weismiller.

Although non-point sources—the farms and forests—contribute anywhere from two-thirds to 80% of the nitrogen load to the bay, most of that nitrogen is not lost from surface runoff or erosion.

"Conservation tillage may cut down on how much nitrogen is lost from the surface of farmlands," he says. "But almost 90% of the nitrogen lost from farmlands is through processes we call 'leaching' and 'nitrification'."

Explains Weismiller: "Leaching is the process by which the chemical moves from the root zone of the crop down, into the soil subsurface, where it can enter groundwater supplies, and move from there into the bay.

"Nitrification is a chemical conversion process in which some forms of nitrogen fertilizer, such as ammonia, change to nitrates, which are highly mobile and easily lost from the soil, often through the soil subsurface."

Phosphorus pollution, therefore, can be reduced with conservation tillage methods. Nitrogen pollution, on the other hand, is best managed if farmers do not overfertilize, says Weismiller.

He recommends some of the following "best management practices" to reduce both nitrogen and phosphorus pollution of nearby bodies of water in the bay watershed:

•Use conservation tillage to reduce soil erosion and phosphorus pollution.

•Get a soil test to determine how much fertilizer (especially nitrogen) your soil needs, then apply fertilizers only at rates based on that test.

•Apply fertilizer at the right time. Split applications are best. Avoid applications just prior to an anticipated rainfall.

•Apply fertilizer using the right method for your farming system. Dribbling is one method recommended for conservation tillage. Avoid surface broadcast methods that contribute to runoff and pollution.

•Plant non-leguminous cover crops during the off season to use up residual nutrients from a previous planting. Plant legume cover crops if you want to reduce the nitrogen requirements for the next crop.

Alfalfa - Potato Leafhopper

Be on the lookout for the leafhopper on alfalfa. Indications are they are well ahead of schedule. These small, wedge shaped, yellowish-green insects are probably the most destructive pest of alfalfa in Maryland. Research has shown that an initial count of one leafhopper per sweep when alfalfa is 4-6 inches tall causes a loss of approximately 600 lbs. of hay per acre at harvest, 23 days later. The critical period for damage to alfalfa is when the plants are small (less than 9 inches). Sampling alfalfa for potato leafhopper nymphs and adults is the key to managing this insect. The need to treat can be determined prior to the appearance of damage if fields are checked on a regular basis following the cutting. To assess leafhopper population and the potential for damage, take at least five sets of 20 sweeps with a standard 15 inch sweep net in representative areas of the field. Carefully examine the contents of the sweep net and count the number of adults and nymphs per 100 sweeps. Control action is recommended if leafhopper counts exceed 20 per 100 sweeps in under 3 inch alfalfa, 50 per 100 sweeps in 4-6 inch alfalfa, 100 per 100 sweeps in 7-12 inch alfalfa, or 150 per 100 sweeps in greater than 12 inch alfalfa. If the alfalfa is less than 60% bud and a treatment threshold is exceeded, spray immediately. However, if the alfalfa is over 12 inches and is 60% or more in bud, it may be more advantageous to harvest within a week rather than spray. Recommended insecticides include: Sevin 80S (1.25 qt.), Furadan 4F (1 pt.), Lorsban 4E (1 pt.), Cygon 400 (¾ pt.), Defend or Rebelate (1 pt.), or Penncap-M (1 qt.). Compare costs, follow all directions and pay particular attention to restrictions.

Flea Beetles on Tomatoes

If your tomato plant leaves have tiny holes with a brown appearance, they have been invaded by Flea Beetles. These insects are small, black and hop like a regular flea. They can do severe damage to tomato plants. They are easily controlled with Sevin, Malathion or Methoxychlor. After a hard rain, check your plants, you may have to spray again. The Flea Beetle will also affect pepper, cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli and brussels sprouts. Follow the label on insecticides. "COLD HANDS."

FAMILY CORNER

by Jane E. Gibson
Extension Agent, Home Economics

FOOD SAFETY: Picnics, family reunions and other summertime activities are often centered around food. Because of a variety of conditions that exist at these events, it is important to keep food safety in mind. The following tips should be helpful to you when preparing summer foods:

•KEEP HOT FOOD HOT! High temperatures (165° to 212°F.) reached in boiling, baking, frying and roasting kill most food poisoning bacteria. It's wise never to leave hot food out more than two hours to avoid the possibility of bacteria growth.

•KEEP COLD FOOD COLD! The colder food is kept, the less chance bacteria has to grow. In large part, that is why food keeps in the freezer so much long than the refirgerator. A refrigerator should register 40° F. or lower and a freezer 0° F. or lower. One tip about thawing: either thaw in the refrigerator or in cold water, changing it frequently—NEVER thaw food on the counter! As with hot food, do not leave cold food at room temperature more than two hours!

•KEEP FOOD CLEAN! Always wash hands, countertops and utensils in hot, soapy water between each step in food preparation. This is especially important when food surfaces and utensils are used with raw meat. If the equipment is not washed with hot, soapy water, between uses, bacteria could pass to other foods and cause food poisoning.

"The Safe Food Book" which is a free 32-page bulletin published by USDA is now available from the Cooperative Extension Service. To receive your copy, call 334-2145 or stop by the Extension Office in the Courthouse Anex. This is an excellent booklet to keep in your kitchen for quick answers to all your food safety questions.

It's strawberry time, so here is a recipe I thought you would enjoy trying with some of those juicy, fresh berries.

STRAWBERRY SNOWBANK PIE

1 quart strawberries
1 baked 9-inch pastry shell
1¼ cups sugar
½ cup water
½ teaspoon cream of tartar
Dash of salt
2 egg whites
½ teaspoon vanilla extract

Wash and hull strawberries, arrange in pastry shell, putting prettiest berries in center. Mix sugar, water and cream of tartar in saucepan. Cover and bring to boil. Uncover and cook until syrup spins long threads (240° F. on candy thermometer). Add salt to egg whites and beat until stiff. Gradually pour syrup onto whites, beating constantly, until mixture forms stiff peaks. Add flavoring and pile on pie leaving center uncovered. Cool, but do not refrigerate. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

USDA's Meat, Poultry Hotline To Be Toll-Free

If the best things in life are free, the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Meat and Poultry Hotline can be added to that list on July 1 when the service becomes toll-free.

"An estimated two million cases of food poisoning occur every year, and many can be prevented by proper food handling," according to Donald L. Houston, administrator of USDA's Food Safety and Inspection Service. "The hotline's home economists can help consumers with questions ranging from how long to keep meat and poultry in the refrigerator to how to pack a safe picnic lunch.

"Changing the hotline to a nationwide toll-free number allows us to reach just about anyone who needs our help," said Houston.

Consumers dialing the new number — (800) 535-4555 — can get food safety tips for meat and poultry products and report problems experienced with such products. The toll-free hotline will operate from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. EDT.

"The toll-free number makes the service more accessible," Houston said. "A test conducted in three states last fall showed we could anticipate 24,000 calls during the first year of the new service."

Hearing impaired individuals can reach the service by calling the "800" number (TDD).

Since 1982, the hotline has operated without a toll-free number and has handled about 2,000 calls each year, Houston said.

For more information about the hotline, persons may write to: Public Awareness, FSIS-USDA, Room 1163-S, Washington, D.C. 20250.

No verbal answers to inquiries will be given. The submission of a proposal shall indicate that the bidder thoroughly understands the contract drawings and the terms of the specifications.

1. Minority Business Enterprises (MBE) Participation Documentation Form, Part I or Part II as applicable.

2. Attachment D, Certification of Nonsegregated Facilities.

Proposals once submitted may not be withdrawn for a period of ninety (90) days after the date of opening of bids.

GOH Honors Supporters Of County Program

The Garrett Organization for the Handicapped recently gave out awards for the Professional of the Year, Volunteer of the Year, Woman of the Year, a Barrier Free Design award to a local business, and honored the top participants of the annual Hike & Bike.

The 1985 Professional of the Year award was presented to Sarah G. Wilson, a native of Keyser, W. Va., who has been a resident of Garrett County since 1971, and who has been the Supervisor of Special Education in Garrett County since 1976.

Currently working on her PH. D. at the University of Maryland, she holds a bachelor's degree in education from Frostburg State College and a master's degree in elementary administration. She also holds a Phi Beta Kappa key and the president's scholastic award from Frostburg State College. In addition, she has studied at George Washington University, Loyola State College and West Virginia University.

She holds Maryland Education Certificates in the areas of special education, elementary education, secondary special education, secondary English, a principal's certificate, and an administration and supervision K-12 certificate.

In 1971 she came to Garrett County as a special education teacher at Greene Street School, and was asked to become the coordinator of special education for Garrett County in 1972.

Among her other accomplishments in Garrett County are: establishment of the county Special Olympics; beginning a summer camp for the handicapped at Camp Hickory; establishing the local Mental Health Organization in coordination with other community agencies; assisting in the pilot program which led to the first Group Home for the Mentally Retarded and Developmentally Disabled, now run by Garrett Crossroads; serving on the Human Rights Committee of Garrett County; and being an early member of GOH.

Mrs. Wilson has received other honors including: the Service to the Handicapped Award of the Maryland Easter Seal Society; Community Service Award of the Lions Club; Outstanding Educator, Community Service Award of the Woodmen of the World; and Who's Who in Special Education.

The GOH's Woman of the Year Award was presented to Ruth Speicher. Ruth moved from the Garrett Crossroads Alternative Living Unit, where she had lived for two years, into her own apartment and has successfully maintained her independent life style with Outreach supervision from Garrett Crossroads.

Ruth attended the Appalachian Center from 1977 until March 1985, when she obtained an aide position with the Head Start program. She rides one of the Head Start buses with the children and is responsible for escorting the children to and from the bus, along with her other classroom duties.

She also works with Triple A Cleaning, and cleans the Appalachian Center weekly and the Garrett Crossroads Administrative offices weekly.

Over the years, she has won medals in several events of the local and state Summer and Winter Special Olympics. She has been an active participant in social activitis sponsored by GOH, and has volunteered her time as a chaperone for special education class field trips.

Alice Ann Ridder was awarded Volunteer of the Year. She has been a member of GOH and has served as treasurer since 1976. She has been GOH's representative on the Appalachian Center Advisory Board for many years. She works with fund raising and social events that GOH sponsors. She takes Tupperware orders every year, to help raise money for the self-contained Special Education classes at Dennett Road School, and recently volunteered as a chaperone on their overnight trip to Pittsburgh. Last year she hosted a fishing trip and picnic for special education students at her home.

The Barrier Free Design Award was presented to Penn Alps Restaurant in Grantsville, for being well aware of the needs of the handicapped. In 1980 Penn Alps constructed a wheelchair ramp and kept a wheelchair in the lobby for anyone needing it, and in 1984 they installed barrier free bathrooms in the restaurant.

Recognized as top money-earning participants of the annual Hike & Bike were Frank Finch, Clark Sharpless, and Kris DeWitt. Finch was awarded $50 for being the individual with the most pledges. His pledges were from all the offices at the Garrett County Court House and the Oakland Elk's Lodge. Finch used his $50 prize to buy donuts from the Country Oven Bakery at the Appalachian Center, and passed them out to all those who gave him donations.

Clark Sharpless was awarded $100 for receiving the highest number of pledges from a school (Dennett Road). Sharpless plans to donate his prize to the Special Education Wing of the Dennett Road School.

Kris DeWitt was awarded $50 for getting the most pledges from Northern Garrett County. DeWitt chose to donate $20 of his prize back to GOH.

OUTSIDE WALLS

When buying a home, one of your future maintenance considerations must be the exterior walls. Brick and stone walls are the most durable and maintenance-free. They'll withstand the test of time. The historic castles of Europe are good examples of durability. They resist the effects of weather and are fire and termite proof. The primary disadvantage is the cost of construction. Cement block walls generally cost less to install, however, many people do not consider them esthetically appealing and they might need painting.

Wood walls and siding, including lap siding, shingles and shakes, are less expensive to install. Although less durable than masonry, they are easy to work with and are an excellent insulation material. However, painting or restaining is required and wood is subject to termite and water damage.

Aluminum siding is impervious to insects and resists most weather damage. It also resists fire and rotting and is sometimes cheaper than wood siding. However, it can fade and dent and should be grounded in the event of electrical storms.

Three Projects Will Receive Federal Funds

U.S. Senator Charles McC. Mathias, Jr. has announced that three Garrett County projects will be granted funds from the fiscal year 1985 HUD Community Development Block Grant.

The Town of Kitzmiller will receive $500,000 to assist in the installation of the town's sewerage system and to provide money for low income families to upgrade plumbing facilities to connect to the sewer system.

The remaining two projects, which were submitted under one application from Garrett County officials, will be allotted $324,000. The money will be used for the Gorman sewerage system, a housing rehabilitation project and for administration costs.

For the Kitzmiller project, approximately $226,500 will be used for the sewerage system, stated Wendell Keaton, county municipal coordinator. About $213,500 has been allotted to the rehabilitation project, while approximately $60,000 will be used for administrative costs.

The progress of the sewer project reportedly depended on receiving the federal funds. The total project is estimated to cost $1,400,000, a figure higher than originally forecast.

Officials of the county Sanitary District have explained that the district would not have been able to borrow the local share of the project cost, which is $250,000, because the amount would exceed the district's bonding capacity for the town.

The grant will help the sanitary district to keep user costs in line with the amount set by engineers in the project's facility plan.

The remainder of the grant to Kitzmiller, besides the administrative costs, will be used to assist property owners who are determined to have financial need with upgrading plumbing facilities and in paying tap and connection fees.

The county's money from HUD will provide $72,700 for the Gorman sewerage system and $240,000 for a rental housing rehabilitation program, with the remainder being used for

A SALUTE AND FOND FAREWELL TO SHERIFF FRANK FINCH was witnessed by some 200 persons who attended the Mass of Christian burial yesterday for the late Sheriff who lost his life in an early morning automobile accident Sunday. Father Martin Feild of St. Peter's Catholic Church, officiated at the service which celebrated the life of Sheriff Finch. Local and state law enforcement officers, who comprised about one-third of those attending the funeral, were saddened by the loss of a fellow police officer, but as one deputy stated, "We have to carry on with full lives, an example Frank Finch set for all of us. I personally do not know another person who was so dedicated to his profession and gave so freely to those less fortunate than he. We will miss him, but Frank lives on in all our hearts."

Ethiopian Famine Relief Committee Donates $13,242 To Rep. Ackerman

A check for $13,242, representing about 50 cents for every man, woman, and child in Garrett County, was presented to Congressman Gary L. Ackerman in Washington, D.C., Monday afternoon by the local Ethiopian Famine Relief Fund Committee, chaired by Gary Thompson, Oakland.

The proceeds, which were raised by a wide variety of fundraising efforts all over Garrett County, will go to the organization known as Children for Children, which was founded in New York City by Congressman Ackerman. The organization, which is composed entirely of volunteers, has been among the most successful groups that are reaching out to the starving people of Ethiopia with food and medical supplies. By bypassing mounds of red tape, government agencies, and by purchasing the grain and sending it directly to Ethiopia by air, Children for Children has now aided thousands of people just in the past three months.

Congressman Ackerman and his aides were overwhelmed at the size of the check stating that since the special edition of ABC's 20/20 was aired on television two months ago which told of the famine in Ethiopia and the Children for Children effort, Ackerman's office has received scores of calls and donations from around the country. "However, this is the largest single donation that we have received to date," Ackerman stated. "This is just fantastic!"

Ackerman stated that the largest donation previous to Garrett County's was $12,000 from a corporation which had asked to remain anonymous.

On hand to present the check to Ackerman on the steps of the capitol were Thompson, a teacher at Southern Middle School; Kitty Mills and Suzanne Sincell, aide and teacher, respectively, at Southern Middle School who served on the Committee; and Donald Sincell, who organized the 200-Mile Relay for Life from Oakland to

Public Hearing On Lake Plan To Be July 2

The Garrett County Commissioners will conduct a public hearing Tuesday, July 2 on the proposed update for the Deep Creek Lake land use plan. The hearing will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Garrett Community College auditorium.

The commissioners conducted one hearing on the plan on May 16, but decided to hold a second hearing to allow more lake summer residents an opportunity to publicly state their views on the proposed plan update.

Two changes in the plan which has caused a good deal of debate has been a proposal to add a new zoning category in

Fourth Of July Events Planned At Broadford

Although there is no overall organization of activities this year for the Fourth of July at Broadford Recreation Park, Oakland, a number of organizations are planning to sponsor events and there will be a fireworks display.

The Ringer Slingers horse shoe pitching club will hold a tournament at the pavilion area, with qualifying rounds slated to begin at noon. Trophies will be awarded in three classes of competition.

The Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad will sponsor Bingo from noon to 6 p.m. at the pavilion and will also operate a food booth, featuring hot dogs and soft drinks.

Tentatively scheduled for 2 p.m. is a battle of the barrels between some local fire departments.

According to Milton Proudfoot, who is licensed to set off fireworks, the license needed for the display has been obtained. The fireworks display will begin at 9:15 and last approximately 45 minutes. Proudfoot said the town council of Oakland is now accepting donations to pay for the fireworks.

Jim Evans, town councilman in charge of Broadford Park, stated that there may be other activities which will be announced in The Republican next week. (The Republican will be published on Wednesday, July 3, because of the holiday.)

Harman Installed As New President Of RESA Board

O. Randall Harman, president of Garrett Community College, has been installed as chairman of the Board of Directors of the Regional Education Service Agency for the 1986 fiscal year. The installation ceremony was conducted during the Board's June 12 meeting.

Harman succeeds Dr. Walter V. Hohenstein, director of Articulation at the University of Maryland, as board chairman.

Also during the meeting, a report was presented highlighting RESA's activities during fiscal year 1985 which ends June 30.

Among major changes noted was RESA's redirection of its focus to harness existing education resources of each of the member institutions as well as those of the state Department of Education and other educational governing bodies to provide necessary educational, social and cultural activities for the Appalachian Maryland Region.

The RESA program activities

Appointment Of New Sheriff By Governor Awaited

With the death of Sheriff Franklin G. Finch this week, the county is now awaiting the appointment of a new sheriff by Governor Harry Hughes.

Chief Deputy M. Van Evans is currently serving as acting sheriff and will continue to do so until the Governor makes a decision. Traditionally, the Governor will select a person having the same political party affiliation as the deceased sheriff, and although Evans is a Republican while Finch was a Democrat, many county officials have already written letters of support for Evans to fill the position of sheriff, including the three members of the Board of Garrett County Commissioners.

One of the Commissioners, John Braskey, is a Democrat but has pledged full support for Evans who said in his letter to the Governor, " Mr. Evans was Sheriff Finch's chief deputy and is now acting sheriff. His experience and knowledge would provide a smooth transition in that department."

Republican Commissioners Ernest Gregg and Elwood Groves also conveyed their faith in Evans to the Governor in the form of a letter. "We respectfully request that you give full consideration to the acting sheriff, Mr. Martin Van Evans. It may also be significant to note that Mr. Evans was the in-

Sheriff Franklin G. Finch Dies In Sunday Morning Auto Accident

Garrett County Sheriff Franklin George Finch is dead at the age of 40 as the result of an early morning accident Sunday near Deer Park.

Finch, who was traveling alone, was killed at 2 a.m. in the accident which occurred on Route 135, 465 feet east of the Altamont Road.

Tfc. D.W. Broadwater of the Maryland State Police investigated and reported Finch was traveling west on Rt. 135 when he failed to negotiate a right turn after apparently falling asleep at the wheel.

The 1981 Chrysler LeBaron hit the embankment on the south side of the road, ejecting Finch. The vehicle then rolled over, hitting the victim and pinning him underneath, said Broadwater.

Garrett County Emergency Management was notified of the accident at 2:17 a.m. by a passing motorist and dispatched Southern Rescue Squad, Deer Park firemen and State Police to the scene. Garrett County Medical Examiner Dr. James H. Feaster pronounced Finch dead at the scene. It was later reported that two fellow deputies were also at the scene of the accident.

Deer Park firemen inflated air bags to lift the car off Finch, a fellow fire company member.

Southern Rescue Squad transported the body to Garrett County Memorial Hospital and then to Cumberland Memorial Hospital for an autopsy.

Tfc. David Miller was later called to the scene to reconstruct the fatal crash.

According to a spokesman from the Garrett County Sheriff's Department, Finch had been at a meeting in Cumberland with Senator John M. Bambacus and was returning home when the accident occurred.

Sheriff Finch began his career with the Sheriff's Department in 1968 when he was hired as a deputy by former Sheriff James E. Frantz. He also served as a deputy under Sheriff Jack Browning and went into business for himself for a short time. In 1974, he was appointed chief deputy by the late Sheriff June Evans. Upon the death of Evans in 1982, Finch then became sheriff and went on to win the fall election.

Before becoming a deputy, Finch served in the U.S. Air Force from 1964 to 1968.

Commissioners Announce Reduced Tax Rate For Fiscal Year 1985-86

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners announced a $.16 decrease in the county tax rate Tuesday when they voted unanimously to adopt the newly completed FY 1985-86 budget.

The tax rate, which includes a $.05 levy for the county's volunteer fire companies, has been set at $2.52. The new tax rate is $.01 less than the constant yield rate of $2.53 per $100 assessed value, amounting to a projected county budget of $11,967,800, a $435,800 increase over last year's budget. Capital expeditures included in the budget this year, amounting to $1,099,000, will set the FY 1985-86 budget at an actual $13,066,800.

"Again, for the third consecutive year, the new rate is below the constant yield rate, as determined by the State Department of Assessments," said Commissioner Elwood Groves. "It is also significant to note that the current Board of Commissioners has reduced the tax rate a total of $.50 over the last three years."

While some departments will reap an increase in their operating budgets this year, other departments are faced with cuts or lower allocations than expected.

"Any time a government body is forced to cut departmental budgets, there are bound to be disagreements, but overall, we each tried to be fair with every department and did the best we could to see that the total budget would benefit the people of Garrett County," stated Commissioner John Braskey.

A breakdown of the general government budget for the next fiscal year shows the commissioners salaries remaining the same at $49,500. Staff salaries at the commissioners office showed a decrease of $8,250, partly due to the elimination of the position of personnel director. Total budget for the commissioners has been set at $126,000, including travel/business expenses and operating expenses.

The Circuit Court budget set at $48,000, showed an increase of $2,300, while operating costs and salaries of the Orphans' Court remained the same at $4,300. The State's Attorney's office received an increase of $2,400 which will amount to a total budget of $111,400. Jury and witness salaries, including meals and transportation, remained the same at $10,500.

Although Election Board salaries will increase from $48,700 last year to $54,050 this year, operating expenses were cut sharply from $27,500 to $10,250, showing an overall decrease of $11,900 for that department.

In the County Treasurer's budget a $1,200 increase will be realized as salaries were raised from $75,400 last year to $75,600 this year. A total of $3,000 was added for operating expenses while $2,000 was cut for the auditing fee.

The legal counsel ($15,000) and Civil Service Commission

FAMINE RELIEF CHECK PRESENTED — A check for $13,242 was presented to Congressman Gary L. Ackerman Monday afternoon on the steps of the nation's capitol by members of the Garrett County Ethiopian Famine Relief Fund Committee. The monies were raised over the past several weeks via a wide varity of activities and events, involving churches, schools, organizations, and individuals from all over Garrett County. The total donation, which represents 50 cents for every citizen of the county, was the largest single contribution so far in the entire country presented to the organization Children for Children, which was founded by Congressman Ackerman. Local organizers were inspired to get involved in supporting Children for Children following a special edition of ABC television's program 20/20, which told of the famine in Ethiopia and the fund raising efforts of Ackerman and the children of New York City. In the photo left to right are Kitty Mills, an aide at Southern Midle School and a member of the Relief Fund Committee; Suzanne Sincell, a teacher at Southern Middle and member of the Committee; Gary Thompson, also a Southern Middle School teacher and chairman of the Committee; Congressman Ackerman; and Donald Sincell, who organized the 200 Mile Relay for Life which netted over $3,900 for the Fund. Separate Mishaps Send Two Drivers To Local Hospital

Two separate accidents this past weekend sent two persons to Garrett County Memorial Hospital according to reports filed by the Maryland State Police.

Virginia A. Bruder, 35, Pittsburgh, Pa., was transported to the hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad following a Friday evening mishap on the Sand Flat Road.

According to Tfc. C.R. Smith, who investigated the mishap, Bruder, who was traveling south, ran off the right side of the road, struck an embankment, came back across the road, where the vehicle finally came to rest. Charges are pending.

Jeffrey M. Opsatnik, East Palestine, Oh., was taken to the local hospital by the Northern Rescue Squad Saturday afternoon after he lost control of his motorcycle on the Sang Run Road.

The 3:40 p.m. accident occurred when Opsatnik lost control of his Harley Davidson motorcycle on an oily portion of the road. The vehicle slid 72 feet before coming to rest. The operator was ejected from the cycle. No charges were filed.

Attempts to determine if the two persons involved in the accidents were admitted to the local hospital were unsuccessful.

Disabled Adults Soon Will Occupy Two Local Homes

Jim Vandiver, Frederick Garrett Residences, Inc., chairman, has announced the forthcoming occupancy of two homes designed to provide a moderately supervised living unit for handicapped persons.

The group, a subsidiary of the Western Maryland Coalition for the Disabled, anticipates the homes, one located in Mitchell Manor and the other on 11th Street, will be completely occupied by July.

The Mitchell Manor home is to be utilized by Appalachian Crossroads, formerly known as Garrett Crossroads, a residential component of the Appalachian Parent Association, Inc. Three women currently living at that program's Alder Street unit will be moving to this home.

The 11th Street home is to be used by United Cerebral Palsy. The women selected to live in this unit will be moved to the area from the Western Maryland region.

Vandiver noted that all occupants of these homes have been reviewed by various groups and have been determined to be appropriate to live in the general community. Both agencies will provide staff coverage at these homes based on the needs of the clients.

The homes were purchased through a loan from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

It was razed in the 1940s. A complete schedule of Mountain Lake Park Days will appear in next week's issue of The Republican.

ART AND SWIMMING are just two of the activities of the Garrett County Board of Education's outdoor recreation program this summer at Camp Hickory. This week fourth graders from Accident, Friendsville, and Red House schools are present for a week of fun and educational activities such as the two depicted here and nature crafts, archery, computers, leaf identification and collection, insect study, plant studies, hikes, compass activity, stream life, organized games, and campfire programs. Next week fourth graders from Bloomington, Kitzmiller, Yoder, Route 40, and Grantsville schools will attend the camp, followed by students from Broad Ford and Crellin schools July 8-12, and from Dennett Road, Loch Lynn, and Swan Meadow July 15-19. Joe Winters, coordinator, stated that parents may still register their children for the camp by calling 826-8461.

Courtesy Boat Inspections Set At Deep Creek

Representatives from the Coast Guard Auxiliary and Department of Natural Resources will be available on Saturday and Sunday, July 6 and 7, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., to perform courtesy boat safety inspections at the boat launching area of Deep Creek Lake State Park. Courtesy inspections will be held at the north end of the launching area. According to Michael R. Gregory, manager of the Deep Creek Lake Natural Resources Management area, these courtesy inspections are not a law enforcement activity and no report of an owners boat is made to any law enforcement agency. "The inspections are intended to assist boaters in assuring that their vessels meet the necessary state and federal guidelines for their own safety and the safety of others," Gregory said.

Vessels which are examined are evaluated on a number of points. For example, a boat over 16 feet must be properly numbered and operators must show valid proof of ownership. Vessels must also carry an adequate number of approved personal flotation devices, a class B-1 fire extinguisher, properly positioned navigational lights, and a sound-producing device. Additionally, boats must be properly ventilated depending on their construction and exhibit adequate backfire flame control on inboard motorboats.

The Coast Guard Auxiliary and Department of Natural Resources invite all boaters in the area to take advantage of these courtesy inspections. Safe boat inspection stickers will be issued to all qualifying vessels. Additionally, area marinas and businesses have donated prizes which will be handed out at intervals throughout the day to participating boaters. For further information on these inspections, persons may contact the Lake Management Office at 387-4111.

L.D.S. Fireside Presentation Set

An L.D.S. fireside presentation will be held at the church house on 1022 John Drive tonight at 7 p.m. Dr. (Elder) Blake and Sister Blake, L.D.S. missionaries will be the speakers.

The topic is "In My Father's House Are Many Mansions" (John 14:2). Dr. and Sister Blake said they will be "explaining the deep and significant meaning" of this verse from the King James version of the New Testament.

The public is invited to attend and light refreshments will be served.

Tri-County Council Reviews Draft Plan

Western Maryland's Tri-County Council is recommending that Garrett, Allegany, and Washington county commissioners and municipal leaders establish a single economic development strategy for the council. Elected leaders and other TCC members have been asked to review a draft TCC work plan for 1985-86.

The plan was distributed at a TCC meeting in Grantsville on Thursday, June 6. At the same meeting, a consultant company from McLean, Va. presented separate recommendations concerning ways to bolster the local economy.

The council suggests, among other things, regional goals for tourism and recreation, transportation, and industry and commerce as well as human development, natural resources, health and safety, communications, physical resources and regional services.

According to the plan, the top item for tourism is the development of a plan to manage, develop, and promote the 1989 Slalom and Wildwater Canoeing World Championships set for the Savage River in Garrett County.

Second on the list is development of family-oriented vacation centers in the region. Other goals include the promotion of the Antietam National Park in Washington county as a tourism destination, acceptance of a comprehensive tourism and recreation plan for Western Maryland, and establishment of a scenic railroad with the Western Maryland Railroad Station at Cumberland.

Transportation goals are the completion of the National Freeway, maintenance of railroad passenger service between Martinsburg, W. Va. and Cumberland and a commuter train from Martinsburg to Washington, D.C. by way of Harpers Ferry, W. Va.

The draft report also recommends upgrading all airports within the region as well as linking U.S. 219 and U.S. 220 to the Appalachian Developmental Highway Systems.

Suggested goals for human development include the strengthening of cooperation between the Health Systems Agency of Western Maryland, Western Maryland Consortium, the Regional Education Service Agency of Appalachian Maryland, Cumberland Area Health Education Center and Tri-County Council.

The council also urges the state to build a public safety training facility in the region.

Other TCC suggested goals include the addition of Garrett County into the state dedicated phone system and support for a comprehensive telecommunications system; updating a public works project package to seek federal Economic Development Adminsistration and Appalachian Regional Commission grants; assessmen of public works funding need for industrial development; and improvement of housing in the three-county area.

The council also suggests a unified promotion and marketing program for economic development; recapitalization of the revolving loan fund; maintenance of a data-base for industrial manufacturers, retail establishments and wholesale venders within a 100-mile radius of the region to help existing business; and assistance to businesses wishing to participate in the federal procurement process.

TEAM EFFORT AND QUICK ACTIONS by the Southern Rescue Squad, the Oakland Volunteer Firemen and the Oakland City Police last Thursday helped free Patricia Welch, 16, Oakland, the operator of the overturned vehicle shown in the photo. According to Cpl. Ron Beeghly of the Oakland City Police, the Hurst Power Tool was used to remove Welch from the wreckage. The accident occurred on Dennett Road when Welch, operating the car at a speed too great for wet road conditions, lost control of the vehicle causing it to skid nearly 100 feet. The car turned as it was skidding and the passenger side struck a utility pole. Beeghly said the pole was broken and the vehicle flipped over onto its top, coming to rest in a cornfield owned by Clayton Winters. Welch and a passenger, Jennifer L. Arnott, 16, Deer Park, were transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where they were both treated for injuries and later released. Garrett County Emergency Management dispatched all responding units to the scene of the 3:30 p.m. accident.

A Special Person . . .

Shock, disbelief, anger, and great sadness are among the emotions experienced this week by all Garrett Countians upon hearing the news of the untimely death of our sheriff, Franklin G. Finch.

Frank was a special person, and for that reason we wish to do more than simply report his death in a newsstory on the front page. We want to comment on the nature of this person, Frank Finch, not only as a tribute to him, but also that there will be a written record of these comments so future generations might know something personal about him.

As sheriff, Frank was honest, fair, and responsible. He cared not only for the general public he served, but also for the prisoners in the jail. These people, most of them already rejected by society, experienced the compassion of Frank Finch, who cared enough about them to create a unique program whereby they might earn their high school diplomas. He knew that building the self-esteem of these people was the first step toward a hope of rehabilitation.

Frank's unselfishness was evident when he requested in his budget this year pay raises for all of his deputies, but none for himself.

Frank served his country as a member of the U.S. Air Force and he served his local fellowman in numerous ways. Besides being a member of the American Legion, the Elks Lodge, and the Deer Park Community Volunteer Fire Department, he also actively supported the Garrett Organization for the Handicapped. Just a few weeks ago we had a photo of him and some others on the front page of this paper running in the GOH-sponsored annual Hike and Bike. Last week we published a picture of him for having obtained the most pledges in the Hike and Bike. What we didn't tell you is that he took his prize money to the Country Oven Bakery (operated by GOH) and bought donuts for all employees at the courthouse.

Most people also probably do not know that Frank bought Christmas gifts for the majority of his co-workers at the courthouse.

As a husband and father, he was unsurpassed in his devotion to the members of his family. He was adored by his two daughters because of his love and support for them and he and his wife, Rosalie, seemed to have a bond between them that was the epitome of what a marriage relationship should be. Not many people knew that Frank sent flowers to Rosalie on a regular basis, for no special occasion, just as a reminder of his feelings for her.

Many people are hurting right now, Frank, because you are gone from this life. We hope that others will follow the example you set for living so that you can look down from where you are now with pride. We will meet again.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

This is just a note to join those who are mourning the tragic passing of Sheriff Frank Finch.

Frank was a fair man with a generous heart, and his passing is a great loss for Garrett County.

Sincerely,

To the Editor:

I'm a 16-year-old student at Southern High School. This past Thursday two of my classmates were involved in a serious automobile accident in which they both received personal injury and the car was totalled. The car came to rest very close to the road in plain sight of any passers-by. Much to their dismay, and mine also, for the first five minutes, motorists going by just looked. No one stopped to offer assistance. The driver was pinned in the car yelling for help and the other girl was lying beside the car unconscious.

My friends and I are very disappointed in the fact that no one stopped immediately. We have been told all of our lives what a close-knit community we live in. This came as a real slap in the face. I always believed our town was the type where everyone cared enough to help someone in need.

Finally, some kind people stopped to offer them help. Had it not been for them, who knows how long they would have stayed there waiting for someone to care enough to stop?

I certainly hope this was the exception, and not the rule.

Greatly disappointed,
Loriann Knotts

To the Editor:

I must admit, that as a recovering drug addict and alcoholic, I am very confused by local law enforcement activities in recent weeks. I'm sure these people are just doing their jobs and that there must be somebody behind the recent drug busting activity who has a good, sound reason for what's been going on. Please come forward and tell us.

I'm sure many of your readers were "shocked" when they heard the names of some of those persons who were busted for possession, distributing or both. It doesn't surprise me because many people were in utter disbelief when they discovered that I was addicted to substances that were all illegal in the quantities that I used them. I never got busted, but I did get better. I think everyone around will agree that the latter is far more favorable than the former.

The confusion I spoke of at the start of this letter is based upon the option of punishment versus recovery that the county has to offer. County officials have been approached on several occasions on the subject of aiding county residents in the establishment of a non-medical treatment facility where individuals with addiction problems can come for help; where they can come for answers or for a listener who understands what a struggle it is to be held in bondage by any number of dangerous substances, legal or illegal. These concerned individuals from the private sector have met up with the same reply on every occasion that the issue was brought up. Our county servants are very firm on their opinion that the drug and alcohol problems in Garrett County are "social issues." For those of us who aren't sure of the definition, I assume that a "social issue" is one that you don't use taxpayers money to address.

Who, then, will pay for the jail stays, possible prison stays and legal fees generated from trying better than 20 cases in the local courts. Obviously the problem has been found; now where does the solution come from? Do we use expensive undercover techniques and plea bargaining for information to turn up this vast criminal element and put it in jail where it can't hurt us anymore? Or do we pool our resources and initiate something positive to help people recover and lead normal taxpaying, not tax-draining, lives?

I'm sure that many of the local authorities actions were perfectly justifiable and necessary for the public good. What bothers me is the fact that everyone equates an addicted person with the stereotype of a street corner junkie. It just isn't so. I don't think it's in anyone's best interest to turn his back and hope that the problem can be incarcerated away.

I personally am very grateful to have been able to get help for my problem without a detour through the county jail. And guess what, taxpayers, it didn't cost you a cent.

A Recovering Resident

To the Editor:

In answer to last week's letter from "Name withheld by request."

Can you tell the citizens of Garrett County just what qualifications you have to appoint yourself judge and jury criticizing and condemning our district court commissioner and our state's attorney who certainly are qualified to know the differences between repeated offenders and an innocent person unless and until proven guilty?

They know that charges made by plea bargainers are not always true! You say it's time the state's attorney stopped plea bargaining! There would have been no "drug bust then and you could not have written your vindictive letter.

The next time you want to criticize, condemn and reform someone, you might find them just by looking in your mirror!

To the Editor:

The committee for the Ethiopian Famine Relief Fund wishes to take this opportunity to thank local residents for their contributions of time, energy and resources to make this effort a success.

The committee met with Congressman Gary Ackerman of New York on Monday, in Washington, D.C., to present to him and his organization "Children for Children" the proceeds of our drive. The net proceeds from the drive thus far were $13,242.00.

Congressman Ackerman explained that this money would be used as a partial payment on a truck which is desperately needed in Ethiopia to transport grain and medical supplies inland to the people away from the relief stations and the ports. He further stated that we, Garrett Countians, should be proud of ourselves because our donation to the "Children for Children" organization amounted to more than any other single contribution from anywhere in the United States (except for the New York area). Therefore, Proverbs 22:9 might be applicable now "Happy is the generous man, the one who feeds the poor."

In conclusion in addition to thanking the public for their generosity, we would like to specifically thank The Republican newspaper, WXIE, WMSG, WAIJ, WFRB and WKLP Radio for the excellent media coverage throughout our fund drive.

The account at the First United National Bank & Trust will remain open throughout the summer for anyone wishing to make a donation. All future contributions will be forwarded to Congressman Ackerman.

Thank you and may God bless you richly!
Ethiopian Famine Relief Fund Committee,
Gary Thompson,
Chairman

To the Editor:

In response to last week's anonymous letter directed toward the bonds imposed on the subjects arrested for controlled dangerous substances violations, and due to the number of personal inquiries I have had concerning the setting of bonds for arrested subjects, I wish to offer the following information:

Many persons are under the impression that a bond is a punishment for an offense committed. This is not the case; a bond is a form of surety for the court to assure the defendant's appearance in court for trial or a hearing.

Also many inquiries have been received whereby persons wish to know how bonds are determined for defendants. First, I'd like to point out that an arrested person (defendant) is under the presumption of innocence until proven guilty, not the converse. The criteria for determining the amount of the bond is based on the following factors: the nature and circumstances of the offenses charged, the potential sentence upon conviction, the nature of the evidence against the defendant, the danger to the property and the person of others, the residency (length and location) of the defendant, the employment status of the defendant, community ties (owning property, marital status, etc.), prior convictions and criminal history, if any, and past record of appearances (or failure to appear) at court proceedings. These factors are not all inclusive, nor are they listed in order of importance.

The amount of the bond is left to the judgment of the commissioner before whom the defendant is brought. There is no "bond schedule." Furthermore, should a defendant have no adverse indications in the above areas, then it is stipulated that his appearance in court is reasonably assured and he must be released on his own recognizance.

The determination of bond or release is not a simple process as many would believe. It is, on the other hand, a complex evaluation process which weighs many personal factors. Each case and each bond is based upon the case at hand. Although some similarities exist in recent arrests, the personal circumstances in each case are different. Those personal circumstances are held in confidence and are not a matter of public record in the court files.

In addition, the commissioner may stipulate other conditions which may reasonably assure the defendant's appearance in court with respect to the defendant's association with others, travel within and outside the state, personal conduct, and contact with a pre-trial release agency or the Department of Parole and Probation.

It's not within the scope of this letter to enter into details such as the types of bond and surety accepted by the court and the forfeiture of bonds. Should anyone have any questions concerning these matters, inquiries should be directed to the District Court of Maryland for Garrett County, 205 S. Third Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550, (301) 334-8164.

Thank you,
Charles E. Pariseau
District Court
Commissioner
Garrett County
Oakland, Maryland

To the Editor:

In a letter printed in this paper that was written by Thomas Jones, he stated that the county commissioners have authorized the issuance of two million three hundred thousand dollars of industrial bonds since the beginning of 1985. He also stated that the bonds authorized will not constitute any obligation of the county, even if the people the bonds were issued for default in the payment thereof.

We don't believe that the county can issue and sell bonds without incurring any obligation for the payment thereof. If the people that receive the money from the commissioners to go into business fail to meet their obligation to the county and default in their payments, that will not relieve the county of its obligation to pay the bond holders.

In case of default the bond holders will have recourse through the courts. They can no doubt sue the county and it is likely the county will be ordered to make restitution to the poor people who bought the bonds in good faith. Older people, widows and children who would become the likely victims of such a cruel hoax, would certainly deserve the help of our law courts and the sympathy of all our people.

The Federal Security Laws are to regulate and enforce the provisions of their laws. They have strictly enforced the manner and establish the provisions and obligations incurred by anybody who issues bonds that are to be sold by the banks, or licensed brokers, to the public. There are many reasons to believe that our county commissioners and our taxpayers will be in for a lot of expense as the result of this reckless action.

To the Editor:

I am writing in behalf of the low income people here in Loch Lynn.

It seems that every time someone tries to help the low income or middle class with low-cost housing or when a person tries to build a small business or do something to better himself, some fat, toad-like, pencil-pusher comes along and tries to throw a monkey wrench into the works. My landlord has been working on a project in Loch Lynn for the low income and elderly and he seems to have made some waves, because some fat roaches are coming out of the woodwork to make some trouble.

I'm not talking about the common roach. These are the ones who get fat off the little guy and also shoot down any and all business and jobs that come to this area. They try to Lord themselves over everyone else.

But I'm here to say those days are over, and I'm not alone, when I say the little guy will no longer lie down and play dead, but will meet the giants face to face, as did David, and will come out the winner. A man can't lose anything if he has nothing to lose in the first place. If he is already at the bottom he has nowhere to go but up, and I've always had a desire to climb.

Even the blocks that the builders rejected became the head of the corner.

I rest my case.

Yours truly,
Riley Lloyd

My family and I had occasion to visit Deer Park Cemetery on May 27, 1985. The purpose of our trip to your beautiful countryside was to maintain the grave plots which we had purchased.

We had the opportunity to attend the Memorial Service which was held at the Deer Park Cemetery. It was a beautiful service.

We appreciate the job that has been done to maintain the grave site. Some of the work that goes into this is done through donations. At this time we would like to ask that anyone who would like to make a donation for the upkeep of Deer Park Cemetery, please contact Deer Park Cemetery Care, Inc. Phone numbers are 334-4252, 334-3609, 334-4815 or 334-9089. Thank you.

To the Editor:

I am a concerned parent and wish to share some thoughts on pornography.

There was a recent "National Conference on Pornography" in Denver, Colo. Two main ideas came out of this conference.

1. Pornography is addictive and may lead to criminal behavior, such as rape, child molestation, spouse abuse and murder.

2. Without community action by those opposed to pornography, the flow of such destructive, desensitizing material cannot be halted.

There have been concerned local citizens in the past who did not succeed in having the sale of these publications banned from local stores. The only thing I contributed was to not patronize those stores where I knew these publications were sold. If my business was missed I am sure no one knew why I shopped elsewhere—so I really contributed nothing.

I am concerned and would like to do something to oppose the flow of pornographic magazines in our community. I do not want the lives of my sons forever warped or ruined by exposure to these publications.

It makes little difference that you must be 21 years old to legally buy these publications. It seems that the adults who buy are very willing to pass them down to a favorite brother, nephew, neighbor, etc.—and he in turn is very willing to share with all his friends. Without a market there would be no pornographic magazines. I don't know how much impact one group can have on that.

But I think the people locally who sell these magazines because of the income it brings them should be made aware of the possible long term consequences to the youth of our community.

I think any adult who buys this material is really sick—and even sicker when he makes it available to young people.

Sincerely,
Melda Georg

Commissioners Briefed At White House

Garrett County Commissioners Ernest Gregg Jr. and Elwood Groves II traveled to Washington, D.C., Wednesday, June 12, to participate in a White House briefing attended by approximately 100 Republican county officials from across the nation. This special briefing was sponsored by the National Conference of Republican County Officials to inform county officials about issues of national importance that will ultimately affect local government.

Due to some last minute schedule changes involving the arrival of India's Prime Minister Ghandi, President Reagan was unable to attend the briefing or speak to the group as was originally planned. However, the attendants were briefed by top White House staff concerning the Administration's three major legislative goals for 1985: 1) The President's Tax Proposals for Fairness, Growth and Simplicity, which would simplify the federal income tax to benefit middle and lower income taxpayers; 2) President Reagan's efforts to reduce the federal deficit and balance the federal budget by enactment of legislation; and 3) The need to secure our southern border by opposing the Soviet-backed Marxist revolution in Central America, reduce the potential flooding of millions of refugees into the U.S., and support the Contra freedom fighters with American aid.

The White House briefing was immediately followed by a luncheon business meeting of the N.C.R.C.O. which was held at the nearby Capitol Hilton. Guest speaker for the session was Frank Fahrenkopf, chairman of the Republican National Committee.

The commissioners said they were disappointed they did not get the opportunity to meet with President Reagan, but they felt the briefing was very informative and worthwhile.

Commissioners Gregg and Groves also met with Representative Beverly Byron later in the afternoon to discuss possible federal funding for the Garrett County Airport expansion, progress on several economic development projects such as the Southern Garrett Industrial Park, and plans for an econonic conference dealing with the future of Western Maryland coal to be held later this fall at Frostburg State College.

Public Hearing

the land use plan, called rural residential which would allow the installation of mobile homes on permanent foundations on one-acre lots. Mobile homes are permitted as a special exception use under lake residential zoning, but is subject to approval by the Deep Creek Watershed Zoning Appeals Board.

Another change is to change the zoning for about 89 acres of land extending along Rt. 219 from the Thayerville area up to the Mayhew Inn intersection. The majority of the land, with the exception of two parcels near Mayhew Inn Road which are zoned as commercial property, is zoned lake residential. The proposal is to zone the area, including the commercial property, as town residential.

Opposition has been raised to this change by owners of the commercial property who believe the new zoning would hinder the potential for growth of their business and area residents who support the property owners.

The Planning Commission approved the plan and turned it over to the Commissioners for their review and final decision on the update in May. The Commission took its action on the belief that the two years they have spent in updating the plan was long enough and that the county commissioners could make changes in the proposed revisions if they so desire.

There are some people who believe that the plan update is unnecessary and who hope the commissioners will reject the plan or, at least, turn it over to a committee for further revisions.

The commissioners have several options on actions they can take in regard to the plan: they can accept it, they can reject it or portions of it, or they can demand that further review of the plan update is needed.

Besides opposition to the two changes mentioned, some have expressed criticism about other areas of the plan and believe some of the language in the plan promotes an adversarial relationship between affluent second home owners and less-economically affluent Garrett County residents.

Some are also concerned about statements in the plan which they believe promote the possibility of increased population density on the lake in areas served by the new sewage lines.

Those who have reviewed these other, less discussed aspects of the plan believe further study of the plan by a group appointed by the commissioners is needed. There are others who believe a time for a decision on the plan has come and oppose further studies of the plan at this time.

Latest Rabies Cases Express Need For Shots

The need for residents to have their pets vaccinated for rabies was expressed this week when two dogs had to be destroyed after being attacked by rabid animals.

The noise of animals fighting awakened Mike and Patty Wilhelm, of Fairview Road near New Germany, at approximately 2 a.m. Thursday. They discovered a raccoon fighting with their family dog in a pond on their property. Wilhelm killed the raccoon and submitted it for testing. Confirmation was received by the Garrett County Health Department yesterday. The Wilhelm's dog did not have a rabies vaccination and had to be destroyed.

A groundhog attacked a dog belonging to Jim Bucklew in Crellin at approximately 6 p.m. on Sunday. Bucklew and Jimmy Walkland were successful in killing the groundhog which proved positive after state lab testing. Bucklew's dog was also destroyed because it had not been given a rabies shot.

The was the first rabid groundhog reported in Garrett County this year, and only the second in the state of Maryland, the other being in Carroll County.

The total number of cases in the state as of June 14 were 362, down from last year's 562 cases at this same time. This total includes 330 rabid raccoons across the state.

Finch Dies

Citizens and county officials were shocked and saddened by Finch's death and expressed sorrow for his loss.

"We would like to express our deep regret on the untimely and tragic loss of our sheriff, Frank Finch. County offices and agencies will be flying flags at half-mast the remainder of the week in memory of Sheriff Finch," said Garrett County Commissioner Ernest Gregg Jr.

"It was not only a tragic and sad loss for Frank's family and friends, it's a sad day for the citizens of Garrett County. It will be hard to replace him. We wish the next sheriff the best of luck," said Commissioner John Braskey.

"We are asking all Garrett County citizens to express their sympathy in a manner which they deem appropriate on the loss of our fine sheriff, Frank Finch," stated Commissioner Elwood Groves.

Chief Deputy and acting sheriff, Van Evans stated, "The death of Frank came as a shock and a great loss to the Sheriff's Department, the entire county, his family and to me. He was one of my closest friends, whom I greatly admired. He had the uncanny ability to reach out and touch everyone that he came to know. I can only offer my sincerest sympathies to Rosalie, Rebecca and Stacy. We will all miss him beyond words."

Born in Kitzmiller, Sheriff Finch was a son of Mrs. Kathleen V. (Costello) Finch, Swanton, and the late William A. Finch.

He was a 1963 graduate of Southern High School and was a member of St. Peter's Catholic Church; Proctor Kildow Post 71, American Legion; BPO Elks Lodge 527, and the Deer Park Volunteer Fire Company.

Surviving besides his mother are his wife, the former Rosalie E. Pratt; two daughters, Rebecca E. Finch and Stacy M. Finch, both at home; one sister, Mrs. Betty J. Brown, Oakland; three brothers, James A. Finch, Red House; William T. Finch, Deer Park; and Robert L. Finch, Loch Lynn.

Friends were received at the Stewart Funeral Home on Monday and Tuesday. Mass of Christian burial was celebrated yesterday at 10 a.m. by Father Martin Feild. Interment followed in Garrett County Memorial Gardens with full military rites conducted by the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Disabled American Veterans. Members of the Garrett County Sheriff's Department served as an honor guard.

Local law enforcement officers who served as pallbearers are as follows: Chief Deputy M. Van Evans, Assistant Chief Deputy Harland Tichneli, Deputy Donald W. Tucker, Deputy Charles Nolan, Warden Danny Rumer, Chief Dispatcher Dale Harvey, Sgt. William Graham of the Maryland State Police and Tfc. Larry Smith of the Maryland State Police.

Although the Finch family had requested that memorials take the form of donations to the Garrett Organization for the Handicapped, the organization announced their desire Monday that a fund be started in his memory to benefit his two daughters.

The group stated, "GOH is honored that the family of our late Sheriff Frank Finch, has requested that donations be made to their organization."

Dorothy Leuba, GOH president, said she felt Frank did more than his share in helping them raise funds for the handicapped and they would appreciate it if the public would direct any contributions to the Frank Finch Memorial Fund for the benefit of his two young daughters. Donations may be directed to: The Frank Finch Memorial Fund, Trust Department, Garrett National Bank, Oakland, Md. 21550.

The money for the German project will allow the installation of 28 sewer taps, the rehabilitation of plumbing facilities for seven low-income households and to assist seven low-income families in paying the initial connection fees.

The money for the rental housing rehabilitation program will be part of a financing package for landlords interested in renovating substandard housing units which would then be rented to low-income families.

The program will be administered through Garrett Community Action. The funds, enough for about 35 units, would supplement more conventional financing programs to make the renovation costs more affordable for landlords and would be provided in the form of a loan.

30-Year Tradition Ends

The Show Will Not Go On For Garrett County Playhouse

BLOW YOUR BUGLE, TEDDY! Starring in the 1958 production of "Arsenic and Old Lace" was the late Aza Stanton, a county resident, right, and Playhouse actors Chris Curran, left, and Burt Hayman. Although the Playhouse performances primarily featured actors and actresses from its summer troupe, often producer Gene Yell called upon local residents to take roles in plays. The Playhouse also depended on county residents to organize committees to gather props and costumes and to take care of other needs such as publicity and ushers.

TALLYHO! seems to be the battle cry of these young thespians who set out in 1957 to entertain Garrett County residents who attended performances of the Garrett County Playhouse. The Playhouse, which first performed in the county in 1955 and which observed its 30th year last year, has been closed by producer Gene Yell. Among the troupe pictured are: Peter Mallon, atop the car, and, left to right, Chris Curran, Tom Cawkins, Bonnie Barton, Bill Pappas. Peter Hanahan, Joan Thierault, Sandra Teboe, Fabriola Cawkins and Neil Flanagan. Behind the car are Helen Page Camp and Gene Yell. Three of this group - Tom Cawkins, Bonnie Barton and Helen Page Camp - were among those with the Playhouse during its first year in the county.

by Beverly Sincell

The lights will not come up for the Garrett County Playhouse this year for its producer Gene Yell has announced the permanent closing of the 30-year old summer stock theatre group. It was one of the few remaining one-week summer stock theatres in the nation.

No single reason could be given for the closing of the group other than those who made its heart beat have decided they had directed their energies into the theatre "long enough" and the time had come for other endeavors.

Milburn Melhop, 20-year veteran of the Playhouse, has even left New York City, where he had resided since 1970, and decided to return to his native New Mexico.

Joan Statkus, a Playhouse actress since 1975, decided she would not return this year and instead went to California.

For Gene Yell the time for retirement has come. He pointed out that he has depended on Melhop to manage the Playhouse for several years and decided against trying to find another to train to continue the troupe.

Also, Yell pointed out, the original premise for the theatre was to provide a training ground for his acting students as well as to supply theatre for the Garrett community. Yell retired from his teaching post at the University of New Mexico in 1979 and so, as he said, "I have no students."

Yell announced his decision to discontinue the theatre group at the October meeting of the theatre board. The board, composed of county residents, agreed with Yell's decision.

The end of the Playhouse is not the end of theatre in Garrett County, the Act IV Productions, Inc. will provide dinner theatre in The Rut at the Wisp Ski Resort from July through October. The troupe will open on July 6 with the comedy "A Thousand Clowns."

James Kolakowski, owner of the Blue Barn, the home for the Playhouse since 1964, said this week that the opportunity remains open for a theatre group to occupy that facility. However, Kolakowski said there are no prospective theatre groups at present which means the Barn will be dark this summer.

Even though theatre will live on in the county, many who participated in performances, both on stage and behind the scenes as well as patrons express sadness at the end of the Playhouse.

Yell noted that although he and his wife Barbara do not as yet miss the work involved in preparing the Playhouse for its summer season, he imagines that when July arrives and no actors and actresses come driving down the road to the Yell's Hemlock Hollow in Pleasant Valley he and his wife will begin to miss it and the excitement of readying for each night's performance.

Yell first conceived of a summer stock theatre in the county four years before it opened in 1955. His idea was at first rejected by many, but a few county residents — among them the late Dr. E.I. Baumgartner and Mrs. Gladys Vannucci — grasped the concept immediately.

By 1954 enough moral support was gained to form a board and through their efforts they obtained the financial support necessary to open the theatre at the former Arden Boat Club, located on the McHenry inlet at Deep Creek Lake.

Those who were among the 100-strong audience in attendance opening night believe the Playhouse established itself immediately, even among skeptics.

The Republican carried an editorial several days after the July 5, 1955 opening night praising the theatre group. "We could very easily get enthusiastic about this summer theatre," noted the editor, "but we don't believe it will be necessary. The word is bound to spread that we have in our midst some high class entertainers, semi-professionals capable of providing this area with the highest type of enjoyment."

The theatre never became a financial success, but it seemed to break even each year. Yell, himself, went off the payroll after only three weeks when he realized the playhouse could not afford his services.

But the theatre continued year after year to provide performances for the area and to provide training to would-be thespians.

It met with trouble in 1962, when its home burned to the ground. But, it was then when it moved into its most cherished home and possibly which really gave it a more Garrett County flavor: a theatre in a barn with bats.

The playhouse performances were housed a few weeks at the Dennett Road School, but by the end of the 1962 season it moved into the Blue Barn on Beckman's Peninsula. The Blue Barn was the home for the playhouse every year until its last, except for one interruption when it was at Garrett Community College for the 1983 season.

At the time it opened in 1955, the playhouse was an adventure for the county and remained one throughout its 30 years. Now, at its close, perhaps all involved will remember the lines of a song made famous by comedian Bob Hope, "Thanks For The Memories."

during FY 1985 were concentrated in two areas: staff development and assuring the coordination of educational consent from the high school to community college and/or four-year higher education levels.

RESA's staff development activities included sponsoring a science lecture in the fall and the spring for faculty from the three school systems in Western Maryland. The first lecture, held in October of 1984, was conducted by Dr. Henry W. Heikkinen, associate professor of chemistry and education at the University of Maryland.

A second lecture, held April 25, was given by Dr. Robert Ridky of the University of Maryland.

Another of RESA's staff development activities directed toward the public schools was the extension of a Computer Literacy Grant from the Appalachian Regional Commission through April of 1985. This grant extension enabled the Washington County and Garrett County school systems to provide additional computer literacy training courses to school teachers and administrators.

In addition, RESA, working in cooperation with the Library at Frostburg State College, established a Regional Computer Resource Center in the Education Media Center at the library.

Also during the meeting, the board established a number of priorities for the new fiscal year including staff development and cultural affairs.

Total capital expenditures will comprise $1,099,000 of the county budget.

"This is a compromised budget; one that we feel is fair to various county departments. First, and foremost, we feel it's a livable budget for Garrett County taxpayers," said Commissioner Ernest Gregg Jr.

Commissioner Braskey complimented County Clerk Robert Fousek, the staff and the department head for "working so diligently in completing the county budget and for keeping the county tax rate below the constant yield rate."

Washington, which raised over $3,900 for the Relief Fund.

Ackerman stated that one of the biggest problems right now in Ethiopia is that, while there is now an abundance of grain to be delivered, there are so few trucks available to make the deliveries. He said that, with the approval of the Garrett County Committee, the donation from Garrett County would go toward the purchase of a truck. Thompson and the other committee members present supported the Congressman's request.

Upon receiving the donation, Ackerman then issued Certificates of Special Congressional Recognition to the members of the Committee and other persons who "served above and beyond the call for the Garrett County Ethiopian Relief effort", including the ten runners who participated in the Relay for Life and the organizers of other fund-raising events.

Thompson stated that the Ethiopian Famine Relief Fund account at the First United National Bank & Trust remains open and that there are still some monies that have not yet been collected, which will be forwarded later to Children for Children. He encouraged persons to continue to donate to the fund, "because the crisis still goes on in Ethiopia and we must not forget about these people who continue to need our help," he said.

The name of the color "khaki" comes from a Hindu word meaning "dusty".

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Hazel Artice, who passed away three years ago, June 26, 1982.

Dear Mom:

A loving heart stopped beating, the body went to rest. God broke our hearts to prove he only takes the best. God saw you getting weaker and a cure was not to be found. So He put His arms around you and whispered come to me. It is lonesome here without you. We miss you more each day. Although we loved you dearly, we could not make you stay. With tearful eyes we watched you and saw you pass away. But in your heavenly home above we'll meet again some day. It broke our hearts to lose you but you did not go alone, cause a part of us went with you the day God called you home!

Sadly missed by sons:
Ray & Ronald Artice;
Daughters: Faye Humberston, Julia May Wilbon, Catherine Savage, Naomi Griffith, Betty Uphoid & their Families

Oakland Sweeps Tri-Towns To Take First Place

Oakland took over first place in the Western Divison of the Pen Mar Baseball League this past weekend by whipping previously undefeated and number one ranked Tri-Towns in a doubleheader, 9-4 and 10-9. Oakland was in second place in the division coming into the contest with a 5-1 record.

The local team then faced Idamay, of West Virginia, on Sunday and split a doubleheader, winning the first contest, 10-1, and dropping the nightcap, 7-5. The Oaklanders will take their 8-2 record to Hyndman, Pa., this Sunday for a 2 p.m. twinbill.

Frances Mouse went three-for-three in the first game against Tri-Towns, recording a home run, double, and a single and scoring three runs, while Dave Bender added a pair of doubles and an RBI. Mike Gustave provided a two-run single. Ed Wildesen picked up three RBIs on a two-run double and a sacrifice fly, and Dave Shotwell was three-for-three with an RBI double.

Pacing Tri-Towns' hitting were Jim McConnell, who rapped a solo homer in the second, Phil Cook and Don Raines with RBI doubles, and Steve Spitzer, who chased home a run in the seventh with a single.

A grand slam by Cook in the second game, coupled with a two-run blast by McConnell and a solo homer by Brian Cueva was not enough for Tri-Towns in the nightcap, as Wildesen provided the game-winning RBI for Oakland in the eighth inning with a single.

Wildesen also had a two-run double, while Wayne Brown and Mouse each hit two singles.

Cook also had a triple and two singles for the losers, while Dan McGuinus smacked two singles.

Against Idamay in the first game, Garrett Community College head coach Lawrence Nesselrodt led Oakland with three hits. Mouse, Wayne Brown, and Ron Bosley each rapped two hits, and Wildesen and Brown each added a double.

Meanwhile on the mound, Mike Brady gave up only three hits as he gained the win over Tim Meyers.

Former GCC coach, Phil Caruso, and Mouse each finished with two hits in the second game for Oakland, while Brown recorded a double and two RBIs. Terry Ice paced the winners with three hits as Tom Manzo earned the win over Mark Rodeheaver.

PEE WEE BASKETBALL — The All-American Pee Wee Basketball Team will play the WXIE Radio Stars in a game of basketball at 7:00 Saturday evening at Garrett Community College, McHenry. The team consists of six dwarfs who tour the country playing teams from churches, fire and police departments, high schools, and civic clubs. Proceeds benefit the Rainbow House drug and alcohol rehabilitation center in Rowlesburg, W.Va. Phil Watson, manager and founder of the Pee Wees, says that his team has been on the road two years now, but is based in Barbourville, Kentucky. He said, "Little people are real people. They can do anything taller people can do. That's why we play basketball. It's supposed to be a tall person's game, but we'll beat you with people half your size." He considers his players to be a "shrunken version of the Harlem Globetrotters." By perfecting a number of unusual techniques, the team has a season record of 130-0. Watson said, "Our secret is that we cheat." During a game, the basketball hoop remains at the regulation height, but occasionally the players execute a slam dunk while perched on the shoulders of coach Jack Shelley, who is slightly over six feet tall. The youngest member of the team is 16-year-old John (Pee Wee) Hayward, who is three feet, seven inches tall. There will be a $3 admission charge for Saturday evening's game.

IN MEMORIAM

Dear Mom,

Just a line to say we miss you. No one will ever know how much. We miss your love, your smile and, Mom, your tender touch. We know you're happy and at peace with God above, but we need you here to love. We know your pain is over and your suffering at an end so Mom, we could not ask you to come back again. We'll just keep waiting and try to walk in your steps of love, and we know that we will meet you in that home of peace and love.

Sadly missed by Daughters,
Pearle Sisler & Ruth Graham;
Steve, and all the Family

Accident Post Records Pair Of Wins, Two Losses

Accident Post 208, of the Mountain District Junior American Legion League, picked up its first two victories of the season before dropping both ends of a doubleheader to Fort Cumberland Post 13 on Saturday at Petersburg, 5-0 and 9-3.

Accident had earlier defeated Victory Post 155 of Westernport twice, 7-6 and 22-4.

In the first game against Post 155, Jeff Sweitzer's tenth inning grounder chased home Bubba Hedrick for the winning run. It was Accident's first win ever, having gone 0-13 last year in its first season.

Hedrick reached first on a bunt, stole second, and moved to third on a sacrifice fly by winning pitcher Scott Stem.

Hedrick also had a double in the first inning to set up Accident's first run. Steve Zumpano doubled and Sweitzer followed with a two-run blast in the fourth to give Accident a 4-3 advantage.

Post 155 took control in the sixth, however, when Craig Rotruck smacked a two-run single and Ed Cuthbertson hit an RBI double, giving Westernport a 4-3 lead.

Dave McLaughlin then rapped a two-run homer in the seventh to give Accident a 5-4 lead and Zumpano's score on an error in the eighth made the score 6-4.

A two-run shot by Steve Spitzer with two outs in the ninth put the game into extra innings.

Steve Zumpano sparkled in the second game against Post 155 as he drove in six runs with a grand slam, a solo shot, and a run-producing single at the Garrett Community College diamond.

Darrell Duppert added five RBIs with a pair of doubles, while Sweitzer added two scores on a double and single, and Jon Reneslacis contributed two singles for the winners. Accident finished with 15 hits as Steve Sites was credited with the win. Stem tossed the final two innings for the save.

Pacing Westernport's hitting were Charlie Wilson, who had a three-run homer, and Brian Hoppert, who added two singles.

Brian Cundiff held Accident to only one hit and fanned 10 batters in the first game against Fort Cumberland on Saturday.

Robbie DeVore smacked three singles for the winners, Terry Bittinger doubled and singled, and Chris Buser singled twice, while Cundiff aided his own cause with a two-run single.

Jon Reneslacis was the only Accident player to gain a hit, a bloop single in the first inning.

In the second game, Scott Shaffer recorded a double and two singles for Fort Cumberland to aid his own cause on the mound. He and Roger Collins, who came on in relief in the fifth, combined for five-hitter.

Shaffer had two RBIs, Buser and Scott Twigg each had a pair of singles, and Eric Stakem added a two-run single for the winners.

Reneslacis finished with two singles for Accident.

DIRECTOR
"MEMORIAL RECORD"
One of the advantages of preplanning one's funeral is that you can select the Funeral Home in advance. You can find one which suits your needs, and one which has a good reputation in the community for reliability and service.
The funeral director can also be of assistance to you in preparing the rest of your plan. He will be happy to work with you in putting all your wishes down in writing on a form designed for this purpose. Don't hesitate to do this. This "memorial record" does not obligate you in any way, but it certainly will save your spouse or survivors much grief later on.
It can include such things as religious affiliation and type of service desired; whether lodge or fraternal organization will perform a special ritual; if veteran honors are applicable. You can include as much as or little detail as you want, right down to a particular selection of music or passage to be read.

Local Assembly Of God Observes 25th Anniversary

William K. Ferguson

Maranatha Assembly of God, located on Springs Road in Grantsville, will observe its 25th Anniversary on June 30.

The church was founded in June, 1960, by Pastor William K. Ferguson who came there directly from Bible college and served the congregation until December 31, 1976. Pastor Ferguson will be the guest speaker at the special 25th Anniversary service on Sunday.

When the church first began, the congregation of ten adults met in the former Broadwater Store building on Main Street in Grantsville.

In April, 1961, the congregation, now numbering more than 100, moved into a new building which had been constructed, under the leadership of Pastor Ferguson, on Springs Road, two blocks from Route 40. By the spring of 1963, additional Sunday School space was needed and a two-story addition was built.

In 1972, the expanding church family had outgrown the facility, averaging nearly 400 in attendance. Land was purchased across the street to make possible the construction of an entirely new church plant. On November 13, 1973, the congregation moved into the new facility, a sanctuary seating more than 700, and a complex of more than 13,000 square feet. During 1975 and 1976, the average attendance exceeded 500.

Pastor Ferguson left Maranatha Assembly on January 1, 1977 to assume the pastorate of Trinity Assembly of God in Lanham. Rev. John Briner, now deceased, served the congregation for more than a year. Rev. Herbert Bowman was then elected, and served three years. He was followed by Rev. DeWayne Johnson, who served until February 1985. Now serving as interim pastor is Rev. Stanley Cosner.

Pastor Cosner and the congregation of Maranatha Assembly of God invites the public to celebrate their 25th Anniversary observance on Sunday, with Sunday School at 9:30 a.m., and worship following at 10:30 a.m. "Dinner on the grounds" will be held at noon, with Pastor Ferguson speaking again at 2:30 p.m. There will be no evening service.

Weather permitting, the crews will perform brush and hardware patrols on the 34.5, 138 and 500 kV transmission lines throughout the territory.

Inspectors will look for brush or tree limbs that need to be cleared from Potomac Edison rights-of-ways and for equipment that needs to be repaired or replaced.

First United's Charity Campaign Gaining Momentum; Check Presented

Six local charities have recently received checks totaling nearly six thousand dollars from First United National Bank & Trust. The money represents the first installment in a planned series of donations from the bank, according to Ben Ridder, vice president, Marketing and Planning.

The funds were generated through the Bank's "Help yourself . . . help our children" campaign, in which First United pledged to contribute an amount equal to one-half of one percent ($5 per $1,000) of all new money deposited by its customers into one-two or three-year certificates of deposit. The campaign began May 10, and is to continue through December 31 of this year. The Bank's customers have the option to choose the charity to receive the donation represented by their deposits.

According to Ridder, the campaign is "off to a good start and gaining momentum daily." The Bank's goal is to raise a total of $100,000 for the following charities by year end: Garrett County Crippled Children's Fund; Garrett County Memorial Hospital; Allegany County League for Crippled Children; Frostburg Community Hospital; Sacred Heart and The Memorial Hospitals, Cumberland.

Mrs. Rebecca Parks, RN, coordinator of the Garrett County Crippled Children's Fund, is shown above receiving a check for $785.00 from Ridder. That amount represents that charity's share of the first installment payment.

"The additional deposits generated for the Bank by the campaign are being put to use within our region to fund the loan demand of local citizens and businesses," Ridder said.

On Page 5 of the Spotlight in the June 19 issue of The Republican, the article,"On Dean's List At Hood College" stated that Tracey L. Sweene was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Sweene. However, because Mr. Sweene is now remarried, it should have stated that Tracey is the daughter of Candace Sweene and Francis Sweene, both of McHenry.

ARC Projects May Not Receive Final Approval

Eight local industrial development or water and sewer projects appear on the Appalachian Regional Commission current year completion list submitted by Appalachian governors, but only a handful of the projects have a chance of winning final approval, according to informed sources.

Three of the projects have already received funding but the remaining five may not get the funding if Congress decides to kill the ARC as well as the Economic Development Administration. The U.S. Senate is proposing to do just that, while the House of Representatives wants to trim ARC by 10%, said John Linkus, the ARC staffer assigned to the tri-state area.

The three projects already receiving funding include Tri-County Council of Western Maryland, which was awarded $360,000 of the $500,000 it requested to establish a revolving loan fund to help businesses with energy costs.

ARC also approved $186,006 to improve the Wright Road sewage pumping station in Washington County and $280,500 to rehabilitate the Hortonsphere water storage tank project, also in Washington County.

Applications facing an uncertain fate and now waiting for action include: $500,000 for the Garrett County Airport; $77,350 to assist the Central Garrett Industrial Park; $200,000 to improve the Piney Run Dam which serves Frostburg and the surrounding areas; $425,000 to improve the Westernport water system; $150,000 for another shell building at Mexico Farms in Allegany County; and $461,000 for the 70/81 Industrial Park rail line in Washington County.

Sources said the airport application may never get off the ground in spite of the documented need for the aid and the Piney Run Dam project could experience the same fate.

According to sources, the Central Garrett project, on the other hand, has been transformed into an EDA project and planners are now seeking $354,340 for the work, including $283,472 in EDA funds and $70,868 in local money.

The governor's list also includes $44,000 for job training and education evaluation, $62,750 for a telecasted engineering curriculum, and $760,000 to recapitalize the Maryland Appalachian Housing project.

In the other ARC funding category, the commission will also consider allocating $74,000 for general administration of TCC and $900,000 for an access road and bridge leading to the Washington County Industrial Park.

The commission recently added $33,512 to the Luke-Beryl bridge project to pay for a portion of the cost overrun.

The governor's list also includes statistics that show population dipped in Garrett, Allegany and Washington counties from 229,132 in 1980 to 217,600 in 1983. Some 88,300 people were employed in 1983 while 92,100 were employed by November 1984.

In addition, the regional unemployment rate decreased from 13.3 percent in 1980 to 10.1 percent three years later and the per capita money income increased from $6,316 in 1979 to $7,460 in 1981. But that per capita income, as a percentage of the U.S. level, went from 86.5 percent in 1979 to 85.8 percent in 1981.

The 1980 Census showed the three counties contained 20,296 persons with income below the poverty level.

The percentage of household population below the poverty level was set at 14.8 percent in 1970 and 11.9 percent 10 years later.

Following the installation and mass, CDA members had a covered dish dinner in the church social room. Pictured above are the new CDA officers, first row, left to right, are Cathy Lipscomb, treasurer; Paula Redinger, financial secretary; Patty Helbig, second vice-regent, and Jeanne Matras, recording secretary. Second row, left to right, Betty Jo Brown, trustee; Barbara Lewis, trustee; Brenda Marucci, first vice-regent; Rev. Catholic Women Establish College Scholarship Fund

The Catholic Daughters of The Americas, Court Oakland No. 2209, has established a $500 college scholarship. The scholarship will be awarded to a woman living in Garrett County planning to pursue an undergraduate degree.

The CDA plans to award the scholarship this coming academic year and then will award it annually each year thereafter. The recipient, who will be chosen on a basis of need, will be able to use the scholarship at the college or university of her choice.

County women interested in applying for this scholarship should write to CDA, Attention budget committee chairman, 402 E. Oak Street, Oakland, Md., 21550; or call Brenda Marucci, 334-3099.

The deadline for applications for this year's scholarship is August 31.

Food and craft booths will be set up throughout the day and into the night. A pet show will be held at noon, and the Women's Auxiliary for the Thomas Volunteer Fire Department will sponsor a parade beginning at 1 p.m., followed by an awards ceremony and a water battle.

A cake walk will begin after the water battle, and live music will be featured at 5 p.m. Also on the agenda are clowns, balloons, and other special activities.

A free square dance will also be held featuring the "Stove Stokers", with Jerry Mills, W. Va.'s state champ fiddler; his wife Mary Alice, caller; and Mike Kline, of Elkins W. Va. The group will be playing under the Bank Gazebo at 8 p.m. and again after the fireworks which will begin after dark.

As an added highlight, "The Country Store Opry" will be presented on Friday, July 5, at 8 p.m. at the Thomas Community Center. The group, which is from Petersburg, W. Va., is a spin-off of the "Grand Ole Opry". The 90 minute show will feature mock celebrity, Minnie Pearl, with live country music and comedy.

St. John's LCW Meets

Six members and one visitor attended the meeting of St. John's LCW on Wednesday evening. Ida Reckner led the topic "Worship and Culture." It was pointed out that every society worships with many particular forms, special settings, words and music, and artistic creations are part of worship in various parts of the world. A book on worship has been printed in four languages: English, French, German and Spanish, with full color artwork and music from many nations, showing the affirmation of faith of people throughout the world.

Pictures of various religious symbols were shown: World Day of Prayer symbol, developed by an artist in the Republic of Ireland; the symbol of the Fellowship of the Least Coin, developed by an artist in Hong Kong, and the official symbol of Church Women United in the USA.

World Day of Prayer, which began in the USA in 1887, is now celebrated in almost every country of the world. The Fellowship of the Least Coin, a movement which began in Asia in 1956 by a woman in India, has now spread throughout the world.

It was decided by the group to continue their rehearsals for the congregational choir, started by Pastor Rockwood.

Edwards Requests Full-Time MVA Office In Oakland

Delegate George C. Edwards recently wrote a letter to Secretary William K. Hellmann of the Maryland Department of Transportation, asking him to support establishing a full time Motor Vehicle Administration Office in the Oakland area of Garrett County. Edwards explained that at this time, there is a part time facility here, but that does not provide full service to the citizens.

Edwards stated, "As you are aware, our winter weather and topography is much different than any other part of the state, and these things contribute to the difficulty of the trip to La Vale, the nearest full service office, which even under normal circumstances is quite a drive for the citizens of our area."

He noted that he is of the understanding that representatives of the administration have been checking the area for potential sites that could be utilized as a full time facility.

"Since there is already a part time office," said Edwards, "it would seem that things could be expanded to a full time facility without a great increase in expense, which would improve access considerable to the offerings of the Motor Vehicle Administration. This would be a great benefit to the citizens and I feel there are many good reasons for a full time facility."

Tablelands Milk Producers, An Asset To Area Farmers

by Bernice Kepple

June is National Dairy Month, and dairy farmers across the state of Maryland, are promoting their product.

Most of us relate dairy farming and milk production to fluid milk sold by the gallon in supermarkets, produced on Class I farms, and processed by Class I dairies. Farmers in Western Maryland and surrounding areas have another choice, however. That second choice is the production of Class II or manufactured milk, picked up and handled by Tablelands Milk Producers, Inc., the only Class II dairy in the state of Maryland.

After being weighed, sampled, and stored for a short time, 50,000 pounds or 25 tons of milk leave the dairy each day in a bulk-tank truck headed for Beatrice Foods of Strasburg, Va. There the milk is separated; the cream used for butter, and the skim milk used to produce powdered milk. Beatrice Foods packages the butter for many major distributors under their own private labels.

There are several advantages to producing Class II milk. According to Eugene Matthews, Tablelands plant manager and president of the Board of Directors, the only regulation Class II farmers must follow is to produce "good, clean, sweet milk, low in bacteria and acidity." The cost of operating a Class II dairy farm is therefore much lower. "It's really better to stay Class II and omit that investment of meeting all the specs of going Class I," said Matthews.

Another advantage is the minimum amount of milk a farmer can ship to the dairy. "We ask that a farmer have at least 100 pounds of milk on a regular basis to cover the cost of picking it up, however, in some cases we are not real rigid about demanding that amount," Matthews said. The dairy will accept the milk from just two cows if the farmer wishes to haul it to the dairy himself.

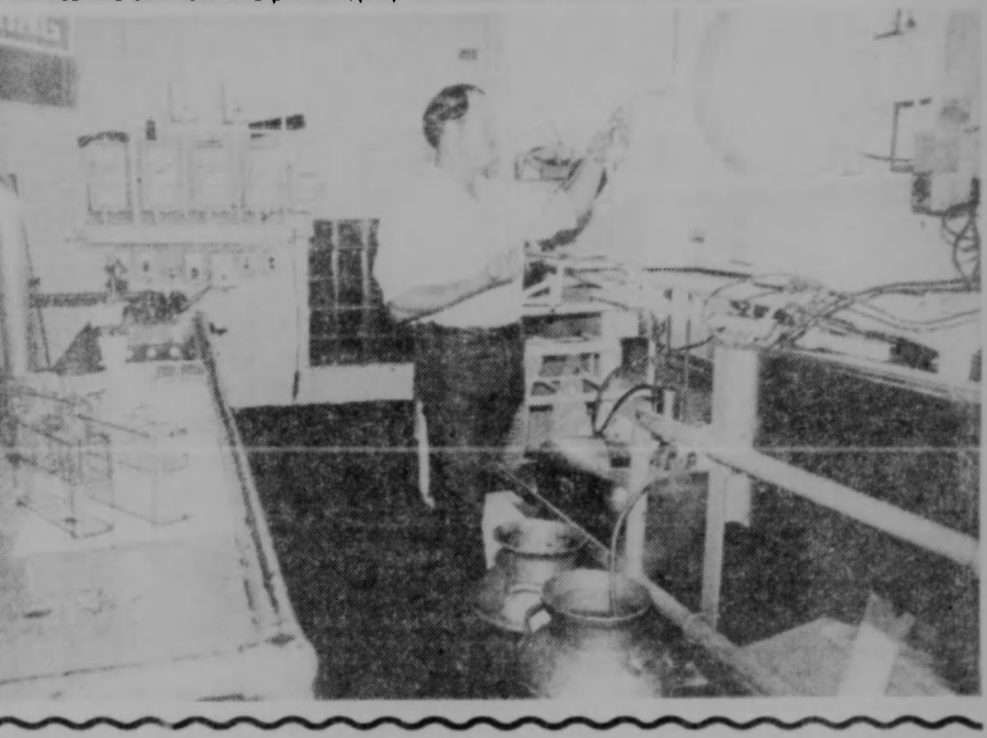
Currently, 125 farmers use the plant daily. The dairy's fleet of trucks, two bulk-tank trucks and four can-trucks, pick up milk from farmers as far away as Greensburg, Pa. and Moorefield, Grafton, and Kingwood, W. Va. Including Garrett and Allegany counties, milk is picked up from farmers in a total of 10 counties in three states.

Tablelands has been in operation for 10 years. The dairy was previously owned and operated by the Carnation Company, and in January 1975 when Carnation gave up the plant for economic reasons, 100 farmers were shipping Class II milk to the plant and depending on it for their income.

Those farmers received notice in January of 1975 that, as of March 5, there would be no more market for their milk, that the plant was closing. With Matthews spearheading the move and doing much of the footwork, the farmers were able to incorporate and the first milk was dumped at Tablelands on March 1, 1975.

EARLY MORNING ON THE FARM — Tom Houser is shown above straining milk and finishing up his morning milking. Tom milks 43 cows on his Class II dairy operation, and is one of approximately 20 area farmers who haul their own milk to Tablelands Milk Producers, Inc., in Oakland. He normally hauls 28 ten-gallon cans or roughly one ton of milk a day to the plant, below, where it is weighed, sampled, and shipped out by bulk-tanker to Beatrice Foods of Strasburg, Va.

THE MILK IS BEING DUMPED by Dave Groves, above, one of Tablelands 15 employees. Each farmer's milk cans have his number on them so that the same cans are returned to him. The milk is dumped into a scale which weighs the amount each farmer brings in. While the milk is in the scale, a sample is taken to check the bacteria count and the butterfat content of each farmer's milk. Doug Idleman is shown below taking a sample to check the butterfat content. The milk goes from the scales to the cooler and then to the storage tanks to await the arrival of the bulk tanker. Meanwhile, the cans are washed and sanitized and picked up by the hauler for return to the farm.



Matthews credits the Garrett County Development Corporation and the County Commissioners, who were in office at that time, for helping Tablelands get started at the Carnation site, with no idle time for the plant or loss to the farmers.

The corporation has 15 members, all local farmers. In 1975, they each bought a $250 membership, giving Tablelands only $3,750 to operate on its first month. "There have been some changes in membership over the years," said Matthews, "but the number is still 15." A board of seven directors meets once a month to look at the overall picture of the plant and to outline future strategy.

"Since that first week," Matthews explains, "we've had nothing more than a gentlemen's agreement with Beatrice Foods, and it has worked exceedingly well. Over all the years, there has never been a problem, and a weekly phone call is our only correspondence."

Matthews is very proud of the fact that the dairy has been USDA approved since 1976, and meets regular USDA inspections. The dairy handles approximately one million pounds of milk a month, and has paid its shippers $15 million over the last 10 years. The number of farmers using the plant reached a high of 221 before the Dairy Diversion Program caused a probable 15 percent decline. The total volume of milk has remained high, though, and according to Matthews, the dairy's potential to grow, from a Class II standpoint, is excellent. He feels they can easily handle a double capacity, using the same facilities.

The dairy is often visited by groups of school children, 4-H and FFA groups, and farm organizations. In the past it has been the object of study for West Virginia University's School of Agriculture students. In 1980 a feed store was built near the dairy by Tablelands which sells packaged feeds and local grains. "This has been a big shot in the arm for the total business," stated Matthews.

But has the dairy been profitable for all concerned? "Maybe the best way to answer that," Matthews said, "is to tell you that on December 13, 1984, one year ahead of schedule, we had a mortgage-burning ceremony. It's true that both Class I and Class II markets are in a period of fluctuating prices now, but my projections are that the milk business will be one of the better businesses to stay in over the years to come."

Preservation Bill Is Introduced By Senator Mathias

Senator Charles McC. Mathias, Jr. (R-Md.) said last week that he has introduced legislation to provide tax benefits for farmers who resist pressures to sell their land to developers.

Mathias said that the farmland preservation bill would augment state and local programs designed to help farmers who refuse to sell land for development purposes.

Explained Mathias, "Although these programs have been effective in helping to keep prime farmland in agricultural production, state and local governments can benefit from federal assistance in making these programs more accessible and attractive.

"Specifically," he continued, "the bill exempts from capital gains taxation the income the farmer gets from the sale of easement rights, provided it is rolled over into the purchase of new farmland or used for capital improvements on the existing farm. It also would grant a one-time capital gains exclusion of $100,000 on the income of the farmer who is over 55."

In addition, the bill allows the difference between the price of the easement sold and the higher market value to be deducted as a gift for tax purposes.

"It is estimated that three million acres of land are lost annually to non-agricultural purposes," emphasized Mathias. "Since I first introduced this bill in 1981, we have lost over 12 million acres of fertile land to developers. In the five minutes it has taken me to explain this bill, 20 acres of prime farmland have been plowed up and replaced by suburban crabgrass."

The bill, S.1213, has been referred to the Senate Committee on Finance.

DEPRECIATION CHANGE

It wasn't too long ago (prior to 1980) that the depreciation schedule on investment property ran all the way up to 40 years. In other words, you could deduct 1/40th of the purchase price per year from other income. Then the ACRS rule lowered that depreciation time to only 15 years. This meant you could receive your depreciation benefit in about half the time . . . a great boost to real estate investors.

Now, the 1984 Tax Reform Act has changed that rule again after a tough battle in congress. The depreciation time has now been increased to 18 years for property placed in service after March 15th, 1984. The major exception is that low income housing is not affected by the new law.

Let's put things into perspective. The difference between 15 years and 18 years for straight line depreciation is not all that much difference when compared to the prior law that required up to a 40 year period. You can still write off property in half the time—even though the market value, almost without exception, will continue to rise.

Extended Coverage

By ROB MICHAEL Agent

Are you a serious auto hobbyist? Certain types of cars – antique or classic cars and modified vehicles such as stock and street rods – call for special insurance.

The term "classic" refers to a special car at least 13 years old. An "antique" auto is at least 25.

These are not ordinary family cars. In order to qualify for this special coverage, the hobby cars must be kept in an enclosed, locked garage and not used for regular family transportation.

There are mileage restrictions, too. Generally, the hobby cars must not be driven more than 2,500 miles per year.

As with other special vehicles – customized vans and the like – the insurance is written for a stated dollar amount. Coverage usually includes liability, towing and labor as well as physical damage to the automobile.

Whether you're insuring a classic buggy or the car that takes the kids to school, you'll get first-class service from the insurance experts at

Soil Moisture Supply Adequate West Of Bay

Soil Moisture on the Eastern Shore is in short supply once again, with only light showers falling this past week. West of the Bay, soil moisture supplies remain adequate. Farmers had an average of just over field work, according to the Maryland Crop Reporting Service. Oakland reported 19.59 inches of rain from March 1 through June 21, which is 3.16 inches more than the average of 16.43 for that period.

Farming activities for the week included planting of soybeans and tobacco and harvesting of small grains and green peas.

Most small grains are in good condition over the state. Oats completed heading during the week and now is five percent harvested. Last year, oats had only completed heading on 80 percent of the acreage by this date and harvest had not yet begun. On the average, oats are 80 percent turned and 10 percent harvested by June 23.

Wheat acreage was 95 percent turned by week's end. This is one week ahead of last year and near the normal rate of 90 percent. Wheat was nearly 30 percent harvested. Last year at this date wheat harvest had just begun, but the average harvest rate for this time of year is nearly 25 percent.

Barley harvest at 90 percent complete is over a week ahead of the normal 70 percent, well ahead of last year's pace of 60 percent.

Rye harvest at 20 percent complete is near the normal average of 25 percent and well ahead of 1984 when rye harvest did not begin until the last week of June.

First cuttings of other hay were completed on 95 percent of the acreage by week's end. This is four to five days ahead of last year when 90 percent had been harvested. The five-year average first cutting is also around 90 percent.

Green pea harvest is winding up for this year nearly two weeks ahead of the normal pace. Early planting and warmer than normal temperatures so far this year enabled peas to develop earlier than normal.

Weather

The week's weather was cool with scattered showers. Temperatures averaged mostly 2-3 degrees below normal. Highs were in the mid to upper 80's. Lows were in the high 40's to mid 50's. Rain fell over the entire state, but in varying amounts. Precipitation averaged 0.51 inch, ranging from 0.10 inch at Washington National Airport to 1.50 inches at Bel Air.

Farming in Maryland

Jeff McClintock Named Region I Star Farmer

State Farmer Degrees were awarded to 10 members of the Northern FFA during the Maryland FFA Convention last week in Hagerstown. Jeff McClintock won the added distinction of being named Star Farmer of FFA Region I in recognition of his establishment in the dairy business on the home farm. Jeff is the son of Jake and Sandy McClintock of the Pigs Ear area.

Others winning the degree were Darin Carey and Daniel Meese of the Avalton area; Gary O. Broadwater from New Germany; Dennis Friend of Blooming Rose; David Lowdermilk, Selbysport; Amy Lowdermilk Hinebaugh, Teets Road; and Robert Fisher, Randall Rodeheaver and Greg Sisler from White Rock.

The State Farmer Degree is limited to three percent of the state FFA membership who have earned and saved, or invested at least $500 from their Vo-Ag projects and demonstrated qualities of leadership, citizenship, community service and scholarship in the FFA club. Only 66 certificates were awarded state wide, although Maryland membership would have allowed 75.

Kim Burew, Kevin Wassell, Amy Hinebaugh and John Miller were official delegates to the convention and accepted a Superior Chapter rating, BOAC Area Award from R.J. Reynolds Industries, and 100 Percent Membership recognition for the Northern FFA Chapter.

Oats, Sorghum, Rye Loan Rates Noted

Maryland loan rates for 1985 oats, sorghum and rye have been announced by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Services. The rates are based on national average loan rates announced in September 1984, according to Olin S. Davis, Jr., chairman of the Maryland State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

The loan rates are: oats, $1.47 per bushel; sorghum $4.34 per hundredweight; and rye, $2.31 per bushel.

"These rates vary from state to state to reflect differences in the value of the crop, production trends and for some commodities, transportation costs to terminal points," said Davis.

National average loan rates are $1.31 per bushel for oats grading No. 3 or better; $4.32 per hundredweight for sorghum grading No. 3 or better; and $2.17 per bushel for rye grading No. 2 or better. Davis said exceptions will be made for test weight or thin rye, and for stained or weathered oats.

To be eligible for price support loans, farmers need to participate in the farm programs. "The loan program provides immediate cash for farmers and allows them time to make marketing decisions or to hold grain for feeding later," said Davis. He said by holding the crop and spreading marketing over a nine-month period, market gluts, extreme price swings and transportation bottlenecks are to a great extent minimized.

Farmers who have questions concerning the 1985 loan and purchase rates should contact their local ASCS Office.

'85 Winter Wheat Forecast Noted

The 1985 winter wheat crop in Maryland is forecast at 5,070,000 bushels. This production, if realized, will be 16 percent less than 1984's production of 6,020,000.

Maryland farmers intend to harvest wheat from 130,000 acres, seven percent less than in 1984. The indicated average yield for 1985 is 39 bushels per acre. This yield, if realized, will be four bushels below the record yielding 1984 crop and the lowest yielding crop since 1981.

Production of winter wheat in the United States as of June 1, 1985 is forecast at 1.89 billion bushels. This is down eight percent from 1984's production of 2.06 billion bushels.

PREVENT SPOILAGE IN BIG BALES

Since big round bales have become popular over the last 8 or 10 years, we have wasted more hay in Maryland than at any other time in history. Most of these bales have gotten stored outdoors on the ground and the spoilage loss plus feeding loss certainly must be about one-third on the average. This is entirely too much. More and more producers are learning how to store big round bales indoors in large pole barns or already existing barns. They are also learning that getting these bales up off the ground will cut storage losses in half or more. For outside stored bales, probably the best single tactic for preventing spoilage is to store bales such that they are not flat on the ground. Of course, they need to be stored in a well-drained area but providing some sort of pallet or some sort of mechanism to get them off the ground will save a world of hay. Individual bale covers appear to be getting a good job done on a lot of producers' farms also. It looks like if you can store these bales inside, you should do so. The next best situation, if they must be stored outside, is to get them up off the ground so they don't soak up ground water which is probably the biggest cause of spoilage.

Oakland FFA Members Attend State Convention In Hagerstown

The Oakland FFA Chapter was well represented at the 57th Maryland State FFA Convention and Leadership Workshop, June 19 and 20, at the Ramada Inn in Hagerstown. Chapter representatives were: Chuck Fitzwater, Charles DeBerry, Marsha Custer, Ken Michaels, Patricia Hamilton, and Criss Kepple. Adults present were Janet Boggess, Oakland FFA Advisor, and Donald Wilt, FFA Alumni member and past state officer.

Wednesday's activities included the Production Agriculture Bowl. Chapter members Chuck Fitzwater, Charles DeBerry, Marsha Custer, and Ken Michaels participated in the Bowl.

Patricia Hamilton participated in the preliminary interviews for the American Royal Contest and introduced herself as an American Royal Candidate.

Criss Kepple participated in the Extemporaneous Public Speaking Contest, placing first in the state, giving her the opportunity to compete at the Tri-State level against the winners from Delaware and New Jersey.

During the Wednesday afternoon session, the Oakland Chapter won the Area Building Our American Communities (BOAC) Award for their Dennett Road Manor beautification project; Safety Award; Superior Chapter Rating; and the 100 Percent Membership Award. The Oakland Chapter was one of two chapters in the state to be presented all the Chapter Awards.

On Thursday the state officers presented certificates of appreciation to their advisors and Honorary State Agriculture Degrees to parents. Karen Hamilton, outgoing state secretary, presented a certificate to her advisor, Janet L. Boggess. Her parents, Brooks Hamilton and Mrs. Judith Hudgins could not attend the breakfast ceremony, but were presented their awards later.

The Alumni and Past State Officers Luncheon, held to honor State Agriculturalist Degree Recipients, was attended by Chuck Fitzwater and his parents, Bill and Patience Fitzwater; Ken Michaels and his parents, John and Kathryn Michaels, and his aunt, Winifred Sisler; Bill Wildeson, past state FFA president, 1934-35; Don Wilt, past state FFA vice president, 1972-73; Criss Kepple; Marsha Custer; Charles DeBerry; Patricia Hamilton; and Janet Boggess.

Chuck Fitzwater, Criss Kepple, and Ken Michaels received their State Agriculture Degrees. Barry Beachy and George Snyder also received degrees, but were not present for the ceremony.

Ken Michaels, Region I FFA Star Agribusinessman, was chosen the State Star Agribusinessman and will represent the State of Maryland at the Eastern States Exposition (Big E) in Springfield, Mass., in September for competition as the Eastern Region winner.

RETIRING STATE FFA SECRETARY, KAREN HAMILTON, gave her farewell address at the Maryland State FFA Convention last week in Hagerstown. Present at the awards banquet to hear her farewell address, were her father, Brooks Hamilton, and grandparents, Wayne and Claudia Hamilton. In the past year, Karen has traveled throughout the state speaking to many FFA chapters and attending special FFA functions, such as the National FFA Convention in Kansas City, Mo., as a part of her duties as state secretary. Part of her farewell address was a tribute to her advisor, Janet L. Boggess, for her support, encouragement, and leadership. Karen was a past president of the Oakland FFA Chapter.

All attended a reception, held at poolside at the Ramada Inn, to meet the State officer candidates.

The awards banquet was held Thursday evening with Karen Hamilton giving her retiring remarks as State FFA Secretary. Brooks Hamilton and Wayne and Claudia Hamilton attended the awards banquet to watch Karen give her retiring address. Mike Barrett, National FFA Vice President from the Central Region, was the keynote speaker. Criss Kepple was recognized as the State FFA Extemporaneous Speech winner.

Leonard Custer, past state officer, served as Courtesy Corps Chairman for the Convention and Leadership Workshop.

Farm Real Estate Value Decreases

Maryland farm real estate values trended down in 1985 after a slight upturn in 1984.

On April 1, 1985, the average value per acre for Maryland farm land and buildings was $2,097 compared with $2,185 a year earlier. The highest average was recorded in 1981 when land values averaged $2,530 an acre.

Cash rent averaged $57.51 an acre in the state in 1985 compared to $57.15 per acre in 1984.

The downward trend in farmland values in the United States that began in 1981 accelerated during the past year. From April 1984 to April 1985, the index of farm real estate values dropped 12 percent.

Catch A Poacher Program To Be Continued By DNR

The statewide, toll-free number originated as the number used to report fish and game violations under the Maryland Department of Natural Resources' "Catch-A-Poacher" program (1-800-492-1138) will continue to be used to report violations to the Natural Resources Police. It will be answered by the staff of Licensing and Consumer Services between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. At all other times, "Catch-A-Poacher" calls will go directly to the Natural Resources Police.

During normal business hours, the toll-free line may also be used by citizens for matters relating to licensing. The Licensing and Consumer Services staff will assist the public with boat titling and registration, all hunting and fishing licenses, as well as the new salt-water fishing licenses. The line is also available to hunting and fishing license distributors and agents and licensed boat dealers.

The "Catch-A-Poacher" calls are forwarded to the Natural Resources Police for action. This program has been successful in recording the illegal catching of Maryland fish and wildlife. When a call reaches the "Catch-A-Poacher" line, it is assigned a case number and the informant remains anonymous. An informant may inquire about the status of their case by referring to the "Catch-A-Poacher" case number.

Excavation, sheeting and shoring, dewatering, backfilling and paving and miscellaneous construction required to complete the sewerage project are also included.

The "Contract Time For Completion" shall be 120 calendar days. The Contractor shall employ the necessary crews and equipment required to meet the "Contract Time For Completion" assigned to the contract.

Drawings, specifications, and other contract documents may be examined at the Garrett County Sanitary Commission, 313 East Alder Street, Old Courthouse, Room 200, Oakland, Maryland 21550, and at the office of Rummel, Klepper & Kahl, 1035 North Calvert Street, Baltimore, Maryland, Monday through Friday, 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Copies may be obtained at the above mentioned addresses upon payment of fifty (50) dollars, which is non-refundable. Bidders shall examine the contract drawings and specifications carefully and shall make a personal examination of the location and nature of the proposed work. In case doubt shall arise as to the meaning or intent of anything in the contract drawings or comprised in the specifications, inquiry shall be made of the Owner in writing before the proposal is submitted. No verbal answers to inquiries will be given. The submission of a proposal shall indicate that the bidder thoroughly understands the contract drawings and the terms of the specifications.

To better insure fair competition and to permit a determination of the lowest bidder, unresponsive bids or bids obviously unbalanced, may be rejected by the Owner.

NON-DISCRIMINATION IN EMPLOYMENT

Bidders on this work will be required to comply with the President's Executive Order Number 11246. The requirements for bidders and contractors under this order are explained in the specifications.

All work on this project shall be performed in accordance with the requirements of the Davis-Bacon Act and Copeland Anti-Kickback Act.

Each proposal shall be accompanied by a certified check or satisfactory bid bond in the amount of five percent (5%) of the amount of the proposal but not less than $1,000, made payable to the Garrett County Sanitary Commission and unless so accompanied will not be considered. Attachment 5 to Federal Requirements, Certification of Non-segregated Facilities.

Proposals once submitted may not be withdrawn for a period of ninety (90) days after the date of opening of bids.

The bonding company shall be licensed to do business in Maryland. The bonds will be subject to the approval of the Owner.

DHMH Issues Usual Warnings About Fireworks

With the 4th of July rapidly approaching, the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene is warning Maryland residents that fireworks are dangerous and illegal in Maryland.

"Fireworks result in unnecessary injuries and even death, as well as costly hospital bills and property damage," a DHMH spokesman said.

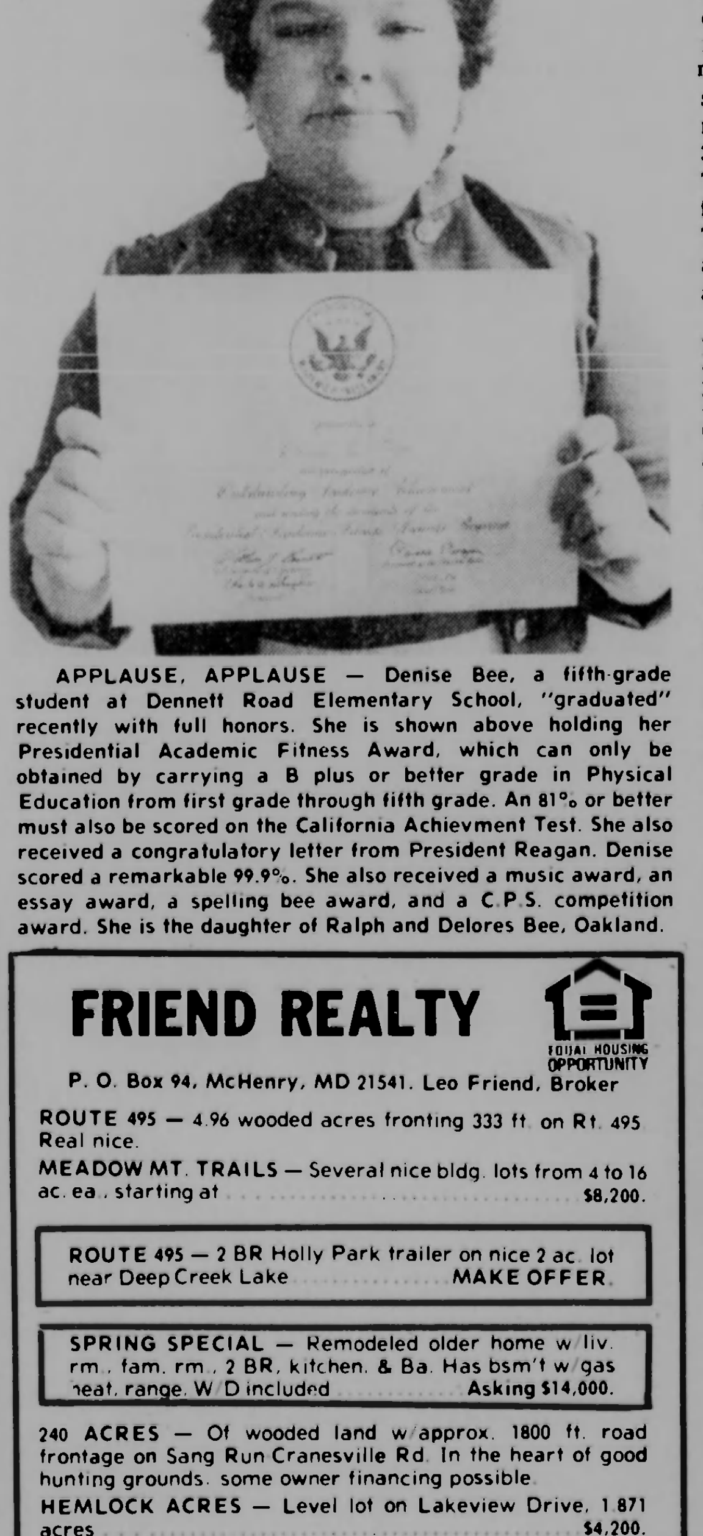
Last year, according to the Consumer Product Safety Commission, the use of all types of fireworks injured more than 9,800 people seriously enough to require a treatment in hospital emergency rooms. Most of the injuries were to children and youth under 20 years old whose hands, faces and eyes were injured.

According to the CPSC statistics, burns account for the majority of fireworks-related injuries (59 percent). Other injuries caused by illegal fireworks include blindness or amputation of fingers or hands.

Firecrackers, bottle rockets and sparklers contribute to the most hospitalizations.

Parents are urged not to allow children to purchase or play with fireworks. The sparkler considered by some to be the ideal, safe fireworks for children, burns at a very high temperature and can easily ignite clothing.

Only sparklers that carry a gold label are legal under Maryland State law, but even those are outlawed in Prince George's and Montgomery counties and Baltimore City.



APPLAUSE, APPLAUSE — Denise Bee, a fifth-grade student at Dennett Road Elementary School, "graduated" recently with full honors. She is shown above holding her Presidential Academic Fitness Award, which can only be obtained by carrying a B plus or better grade in Physical Education from first grade through fifth grade. An 81% or better must also be scored on the California Achievement Test. She also received a congratulatory letter from President Reagan. Denise scored a remarkable 99.9%. She also received a music award, an essay award, a spelling bee award, and a C.P.S. competition award. She is the daughter of Ralph and Delores Bee, Oakland.

Swanton U.M. Charge Notes Summer Schedule

The Swanton Otterbein United Methodist Church announced recently a schedule of events slated for this summer.

Classes for students will be held at the church while the adults will meet at the Swanton Community Center. Workers for the school are still being sought and may contact Linda Fleming at 387-6118 if interested in helping. The Bible lessons are drawn from both the Old and New Testaments. Singing, crafts, and visual demonstrations will also be offered at the school.

Barbara Rexroad and Lisa Fleming will be traveling to Front Royal, Va. to attend Fish Net which is to be held July 3-6. Other interested persons are also invited to attend the event.

Harmon stays healthy by working and hammering

By Renee Ross

Instead of huffing and puffing at his neighborhood health club, Mark Harmon wields a hammer and saw to stay in shape. "I'm a very active carpenter. It burns up a ton of calories," explains Harmon, 33, who plays plastic surgeon Dr. Robert Caldwell on the NBC series "St. Elsewhere."

Mark Harmon

"For years, I've talked about building a place in the Colorado Rockies," says the actor. "Now I'm rebuilding a house in the Santa Monica mountains. The original structure was built in 1923, and all I've kept intact is the exterior walls, the floor in one room and the kitchen counter. The rest is all new. In some ways, renovation has been more difficult than if I'd knocked it all down and started over. It's the closest I've come to actually building a house from scratch," adds Harmon.

It's hard to imagine how the 6-foot, 160-pound Los Angeles native has time to catch his breath. "If I could work 16 hours a day, 7 days a week, I'd be happy," he laughs. The actor comes from an equally motivated family: His father, Tom, is the former Heisman Trophy winner turned sportscaster; his actress-mom, Elyse Knox, has appeared in more than two dozen films.

A former star quarterback for the UCLA football team, the actor hasn't let his athletic ability fade. "I do tai chi (a Chinese exercise and meditational practice), play basketball and take part in a celebrity charity-softball team," says Harmon, who also played Fielding Carlyle in the steamy NBC nighttime soap "Flamingo Road."

In-between his "St. Elsewhere" stint next season, Harmon will also star in a TV movie based on the life of former UCLA volleyball star Kirk Kilgour, who was partially paralyzed in a sporting accident.

"When we start shooting 'Elsewhere' again," the actor says, "I'll be pulling double duty for a while. But it's worth it. I'm not in this business to walk down the street and be asked for my autograph. I want to be here 40 years from now, still working hard.

"And as insane as this business can get," Harmon adds, "I know I can always go look at that house I'm building and tell myself, 'This is what's important.' It's a grounding experience for me."

For Carpenter, it's 'Yesterday Once More'

By Marc Minnelli

For years, Karen Carpenter was on top of the world. The singer — whose voice had once been compared to "liquid velvet" — had it all: adoring fans, 10 gold singles and three gold and five platinum albums, several Grammy Awards, loving parents and a devoted brother and creative counterpart. But Karen Carpenter also had anorexia nervosa. And in February 1982, the deadly disorder killed her. She was 32 years old.

"Karen may have passed on," her brother and pianist-partner, Richard Carpenter, says, his eyes brimming with tears, "but nothing can ever take away her power and charm. Karen had a voice that will live on forever. And it's proven," he adds, "by the number of Carpenters fans, who keep coming out of the closet."

Indeed, Carpenter, 38, is doing everything he can to keep the door ajar. Hoping to offer fans a fuller, lusher Carpenters sound, he remixed several of the songs on "Yesterday Once More," the recently released compilation of 27 of their greatest hits. "I didn't change much," explains Carpenter, who transferred "Superstar," "Goodbye to Love" and "We've Only Just Begun" from 16 tracks to 24 tracks. "I wanted the change to make people more appreciative, not angry."

But Carpenter has only just begun to keep his sister's legend alive.

Richard Carpenter

He's also promoting and/or producing a 15-song video that includes promo clips and Carpenters TV clips, a four-disc, limited-edition boxed set that will be available only in Japan and "An Old-Fashioned Christmas," a reissue of the 1978 Carpenters yuletide album "Christmas Portrait."

But most of Carpenter's creative energies, however, are being focused on a TV movie that will be based on his sister's life. The untitled film, which has not been cast yet, will feature Miss Carpenter's vocals, taken from prerecorded tracks.

"If someone is going to tell her story, it might as well be me," says Carpenter, who will co-produce the small-screen venture. "We took a lot of knocks from critics throughout the years, but I will not allow my sister's memory to fade. Madonna may be forgotten in 20 years, but Karen Carpenter never will be."

ASK ME ABOUT TV

By Val Carew

Joe Penny makes my heart throb! The only reason I watch "Riptide" is because of that hunk. Can you tell me his birthdate so I can send him a present — me! — S.R., Stamford, Conn.

Joe Penny

You really sound like a fan, S.R., but I'm not sure if you'll fit in the mail slot! Penny was born on Sept. 14, and you can address your birthday greetings c/o Stephen J. Cannell Productions, 7083 Hollywood Blvd., Los Angeles, CA 90028. Good luck.

My mother insists that "Cagney & Lacey" star Sharon Gless has appeared on many other TV shows. Can you name some? — D.L., Colorado Springs, Colo.

Miss Gless began her television career after she was signed to a Universal contract. Her first TV appearances were in small roles on various shows. Her series debut was "Faraday & Company" (1973), followed by a co-starring role opposite Robert Wagner and Eddie Albert in "Switch" (1975). The actress also appeared in two other series, "Turnabout" (1979) and "House Calls" (1982).

Miss Gless portrayed legendary actress Carole Lombard in the miniseries "Moviola: The Scarlett O'Hara War." She has also appeared in such TV films as "Centennial," "The Immigrants" and "Legs."

BEHIND THE SCENES

PBS debuts a series geared for Yuppie tastes

By Marta Tarbell

David Byrne, Laurie Anderson, Sam Shepard, Spalding Gray, Sankai Juku, Philip Glass, Nam June Paik. For most of us, these people are not — at least not yet — household names. But as any follower of new trends in music, theater, dance and video can tell you, they and many of the 29 other contributors to the new PBS series "Alive from Off Center" are on their way to becoming major figures in the performing and video arts. "Alive from Off Center" begins its eight-week run Monday, July 1 on PBS. (Check local listings.)

"These artists have grown up in popular culture," says Melinda Ward, the executive producer of the half-hour series. Miss Ward, who is film curator at the prestigious Minneapolis Walker Art Center, was encouraged by PBS executives to develop the video series after she worked on a Laura Dean dance performance, which aired on PBS in 1982.

"When I started talking with PBS, they wanted a series that would be to their 'America Playhouse' series what off-Broadway was to Broadway," recalls the 40-year-old producer. With the exception of Spalding Gray's half-hour monologue, Miss Ward and her staff used their $500,000 budget to select videos that had already been produced.

Although some of the artists who appear on "Center" have already achieved national popularity — such as Byrne, Glass and Shepard — most of them have yet to gain widespread recognition.

Melinda Ward

"These people are crossover artists," explains Miss Ward. "They all want to reach a larger audience by bridging the gap that still exists between popular culture and the arts. For example, Talking Heads' David Byrne or Laurie Anderson are just as comfortable on stage at an opera house as they are performing at a rock 'n' roll club."

Miss Ward claims that PBS is hoping "Center" will appeal to a young audience. "I keep trying to avoid the word 'Yuppie,' but that's who this program is aimed at," she confesses. "They're the audience we want because, like the artists whose work we are presenting, Yuppies grew up with popular culture — rock 'n' roll and television. It's only natural for them to be interested in the work of their peers."

SHOW AND TELL

Miss Pickles spends her TV hiatus on stage

By Gregory Garver

HOLLYWOOD — While "St. Elsewhere" takes its summer vacation, series star Christina Pickles is also taking one — by starring in a play. Working in the theater is something Miss Pickles has done on a regular basis for the past several years, but she reluctantly confesses that appearing on stage is done more out of habit than love.

"Unfortunately, theater is dead — or at least it's dying," says Miss Pickles, who plays Nurse Helen Rosenthal on the NBC series. "It isn't that the actors or playwrights have lost any of their old vitality and enthusiasm, it's simply a case of the audience losing interest. The audience just isn't there any more. They don't come out to see plays."

The actress still can remember the excitement she felt when, years ago, she appeared in the works of Shakespeare in Stratford, Conn. Busloads of children would come see the classics and the cast was always thrilled about the special audience.

"At the time, we all thought that we were witnessing a renaissance," recalls Miss Pickles. "Many of these kids had never seen a play before, and we hoped they would grow up to become dedicated theatergoers. It just didn't happen."

Still, Miss Pickles will star in a play this summer — the drama "Undiscovered Country" at Los Angeles' Mark Taper Forum.

Miss Pickles, a native of Yorkshire, England, comes from a theatrical family. Her uncle was Wilfred Pickles, a great English music-hall comedian.

Christina Pickles

"Because of my uncle," Miss Pickles explains, "I have always had a love of comedy. In fact, I have been thinking that I might enjoy doing a comedy myself. It scares me a little," she adds, "but I think I may try it next hiatus, instead of doing a play."

Miss Pickles arrived in the United States 27 years ago, fell in love with New York and stayed there for 20 years. Seven years ago she moved to California "for a change of pace and scenery," she says.

After being cast as a Nurse Rosenthal on "St. Elsewhere," Miss Pickles did a lot of research into hospital life.

"I found out," she says, "that what goes on in real hospitals is hard to believe. If we put it all in our show, nobody would believe it for a second. Doctors and nurses really do hop into bed. Many of the doctors are really on drugs," she adds, "and quite a few of the nurses, too."

Sexy Damian finally has something for the record

By Kimberly Redmond

I recently read in your column that Michael Damian, the actor who plays Danny Romalotti on "The Young and the Restless," has not released a record album. But my friend saw one in our local music shop. What gives, Kim? — E.W., Saskatchewan, Canada.

Michael Damian

At the time the column originally appeared, Damian had not yet released his album. We're happy to announce that the actor's album, "Love is a Mystery," has just been released on the Columbia label. It's available at local record stores.

Whatever happened to Grant Alexsander who used to portray Phillip Spaulding on "The Guiding Light"? I miss his gorgeous body! — M.H., Ft. Myers, Fla.

Alexsander left the soap and went to Hollywood, seeking (more) fame and (more) fortune. He was recently signed to a role on "Dark Mansions," the latest Aaron Spelling prime time soap. The series, which will star screen legend Joan Fontaine, is slated for a fall debut. John Bolger has taken over the role of Phillip on "GL."

I was a fan of the nighttime soap opera "Berrenger's," and was disappointed when the show was suddenly yanked off the air. Is there any chance it will return? — K.B., Charlotte, N.C.

The show's abrupt exit from the small screen upset many fans, but NBC has no plans to resurrect it.

Grant Alexsander

Alcohol Use By Adolescents Now On The Decline

Extensive prevention programs and public awareness are being credited for the decline in alcohol use by adolescents as witnessed in the 1984 Alcohol Use Survey, whose results were released last week by the State of Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene.

Conducted bi-annually by the Drug Abuse Administration to determine knowledge, usage, and trends of alcohol abuse, the survey reflects the reports of 36,649 young people from 20 subdivisions in Maryland. Participants were divided into three categories depending on age: early adolescence, middle and late adolescence.

The 1984 results indicate a downward trend in the use of any alcohol by all age groups, with the most significant decrease indicated among the young adolescents. Use of alcohol dropped from 67.3% to 54.5% among young adolescents, while middle adolescents showed a drop from 81.4% to 76.2%. The smallest decline appeared among late adolescents, from 87.9% to 85.6%.

Frequency of use also dropped considerably among the respondents according to the survey, with 7.8% of the early adolescents reporting frequent use in 1984, as compared to 13.5% in 1980. For middle adolescents, frequent use was reported by 22% in 1980, and only 14.9% in 1984, and the proportion of older teenagers reporting frequent use fell from 30.3% four years ago to 23.1% last year. Frequent use is defined as use two to three times a week or more.

Additionally, more students are reporting lower consumption patterns since the 1982 study, and there have been fewer young people getting "high" or "bombed" than previously. The figures indicate that, while there is still a large percentage of students consuming heavy amounts of alcohol, there is clear evidence of change for the better in drinking behavior among teenagers.

State Health Department officials are crediting prevention programs and public awareness as the reason for that change.

480 YEARS OF SERVICE RECOGNIZED — Twenty-two former employees of the Garrett County Roads Department were honored for their years of service at a Retirement and Appreciation Breakfast held Tuesday morning at the Friendsville fire hall. Due to financial strains at the time of the past four year's retirees, they were not officially recognized until Tuesday's ceremony. County officials also praised present employees, all of whom were invited to the breakfast, for their dedication to the department. Paul R. Shockey, roads administrator, presented plaques of appreciation to the retirees and outlined the department's plans for the coming year. A moment of silence by those present, remembered two recently deceased Roads workers, Ralph Lapp and William Finch. Pictured above are the retirees who received plaques and county officials. First row, left to right, are Elwood Groves, county commissioner; Leo Rinker, 32 years; Joe VanSickle, 11 years; Luther McClintock, 13 years Ernest Friend, 33 years; Owen Bach, 32; James Frantz, 11 years; Alonzo Broadwater, 23 years; Carl Thrasher, 13 years; and Ernest Gregg, county commissioner. Second row, left to right, are John Braskey, county commissioner; Vic Nazelrod, 34 years; John Guard, 15 years; Paul Thomas Sr., 38 years; Harold Fike Sr., 16 years; David DeWitt, 19 years; Harry Vitez, 30 years; Ray VanSickle, 12 years; and Paul Shockey, administrator. Not pictured, but receiving plaques were John Filsinger Sr., 26 years; James Friend, 33 years; Stanley Lewis, 18 years; Harold Lowdermilk, 16 years; Thomas Savage, 18 years; Clayton Smith, 31 years; and Rodger Evans, 14 years. Those assisting with the breakfast preparations were Terry Spear, Barbara Dintaman, Joyce Skidmore, and Arlene Roth. Shown below are past and present Roads Department employees sharing food and stories about the "good old days" and of good things to come.

"The decline in the number of young people getting into trouble with alcohol, whether in schools, at home, or in the community, is directly linked to the comprehensive prevention efforts which have been accelerated during the past two years," said John Bland, director of the Alcoholism Control Administration (ACA). "These efforts have included parent groups, school based and community based drug and alcohol prevention programs, which have been modestly funded by the combined alcohol and drug prevention programs of the Drug Abuse Administration and the Alcoholism Control Administration."

Bland cited the recent development of residential treatment of adolescents and their families at facilities in Western Maryland and on the Eastern Shore as part of the ACA's commitment to treating youths with alcohol related problems.

"Since the last survey two years ago, there has been a concentrated effort to prevent teenage alcohol abuse in Maryland," explained Darlind Davis, assistant director for Alcohol and Drug Abuse Prevention. "A huge wave of interest and commitment has sprung from the grass roots. We are proud of these many small, but potent, efforts that are beginning to impact this problem."

However, health officials are stressing that there continues to be a problem with alcohol use by the State's young people.

The 1984 survey indicates more than half (54.5%) of all young adolescents reported the use of alcoholic products, and one out of seven used them frequently. Among late adolescents, 85.6% report use of alcohol in the past year, with one quarter using it frequently.

Students are reporting alcohol use related problems as well. The self-reported rate of problems, such as absence from school, legal situations, and health problems, was 9.9% for the youngest group, 20.1% for the middle category, and 28.8% for the older teens.

For the first time, the 1984 survey investigated the concurrent use of alcohol and marijuana. For frequent users of alcohol, the proportion of youngsters who also used marijuana ranged from 52.4% of young adolescents to 71.2% of late adolescents. "The problem of dual addiction and poly-abuse of marijuana and alcohol is one that we have seen with increasing frequency in recent years, particularly among the adolescent and young adult admissions to our treatment programs," remarked Howard Silverman, acting director of DAA.

Most respondents who said they used both did not do so at the same time, and explained their choice was based on availability, planned activities, and desired feelings.

In alcohol usage alone, Maryland adolescents report a higher use than their national counterparts, although the trend across the country is also on the decline.

NMS Students Receive Awards

Forty-three Northern Middle School students received achievement and service awards during an awards assembly at the school June 6, Thomas Fowler, school principal, has announced.

The awards are sponsored as a public service by the publishers of Who's Who Among American High School Students to recognize outstanding students for their achievements and to motivate all students to strive for excellence, Fowler noted.

The students who qualified for the awards achieved a minimum grade point average of "B" or better and demonstrated leadership or involvement in school or community programs. Fowler noted that only 15 percent of the seventh and eighth grade students could be selected for the honorary award.

Fowler said the school will display a master certificate listing all award winners in the display case in the school's main lobby. Each student received a certificate from the principal during the assembly.

Recipients were: Seventh Grade — David Lewis, Robert Merkel, Jay Ross, Stacy Bray, Pam Brenneman, Tamara Brenneman, Kristin Edwards, Diane Fike, Amy Foley, Carla Graham, Kim Mansfield, Heather Martin, Kathy McKenzie, Lori Minick, Angie Resh and Tarin Towers.

Eighth Grade — Deborah Baker, Sheila Beitzel, Roxanne Bender, Cyntnia Bosley, Charlotte Bowman, Gloria Broadwater, Kristin Crone, Tiffany Dunithan, Laura Edgar, Marla Handwerk, Lea Hetz, Kim Hinebaugh, Lisa Miller, Elizabeth Otto, Kina Perry, Carol Resh, Debra Rounds, Julie Swauger, Lisa Swauger, Amy Thomas, Tammy Weimer, Tony Bittinger, Rodney Frazee, David Miller, Jason Rush, Craig Umbel and Darren Wilburn.

Three License Transfers Granted By Liquor Board

Joseph M. Wolf, administrative officer of the Board of License Commissioners of Garrett County (Liquor Control Board), announced this week that three license transfers were approved during the June 14 meeting of the board.

The transfers were issued to Robert Welch of The Board Room, North Third Street in Oakland; Glen Beherns of the Avilton Inn, Avilton; and Paul Spear of The Third-Base Lounge, Friendsville.

Eight applications will be considered by the board at their June 28 meeting.

May Sales Tax Revenue Higher

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein reported that retail sales and use tax revenue for May, 1985, totaled $91,510,885, up 11.1% from the $82,383,368 collected during the same month a year ago.

"May revenue, which is based on retail activity during April, showed continued Easter holiday purchases, especially in the apparel category, which posted an 11.2% growth," Goldstein said.

The comptroller noted that construction related categories of sales tax collections also continued strong. "These categories have shown double-digit growth for about 18 months," Goldstein noted.

For the first ten months of Fiscal Year 1985, sales tax revenue totaled $899,346,100, a growth of 11.3% over the $808,330,428 collected during the identical period of Fiscal Year 1984.

"For the first ten months of the current fiscal year, the largest amount of revenue came from the general merchandise category, which includes sales in department stores, discount and variety stores," Goldstein stated. "The $180.9 million collected from that category is slighty more than the $180.5 million collected on the sales of taxable food and beverages in restaurants and other establishments."

The comptroller also noted that, for the first ten months of Fiscal Year 1985, the building and contractors category of collections produced $131.6 million, while the closely related furniture, fixtures and appliances and hardware, machinery and equipment categories yielded $100.4 million and $32.9 million, respectively.
